

Ashland and East Oregon Normal Schools Clash Here On Saturday

CONTEST TO BE BIGGEST GAME OF YEAR FOR E. O. N.

Mountaineers Hope to Upset Dope and Defeat Sons; Hines and Lancaster Will Play.

The big game of the season for the Eastern Oregon Normal school—the home-coming contest with the Southern Oregon Normal school of Ashland—will be played on the L. H. S. field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and from present indications, it will be one of the hardest fought grid contests played here in many a moon.

Ashland's team ranks much stronger this year than ordinarily, but so does the Mountaineer outfit, and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to watch the two teams play. The game will have bearing on the state normal school championship. A win for La Grande would at least assure the Mountaineers of a tie, as Monmouth is not on the schedule.

So far Ashland has played some wonderful ball. Saturday the Sons defeated Humboldt college of California 26 to 0, and they also won from Pacific 20 to 0, showing surprising strength in both contests.

Incidentally, Tebo Hines, a five-year letterman in football at Ashland (or he will be a five-year man after this season, so it is reported), will be on the Son eleven, anxious to get another crack at a La Grande squad. He used to make life miserable for the Tigers when he was a Baker Bulldog player, and he has been helping Ashland to gain an edge over La Grande the past few years in normal school competition.

Lancaster to Play

Another Ashland star well known locally is Lancaster, one of the best backfield men in the northwest outside of coast conference circles. It is his remarkable running that won for Ashland the last time the Sons played here, and is out to repeat as the strongest he has developed since 1929, and this year he has plenty of reserve strength in addition to his first team lineup.

The Mountaineers, although realizing they will go into the game the underdog, are hopeful of winning, their faith on a hard-charging, fairly heavy line and a versatile, speedy backfield, with Roe, Lassen, Burdett and Hanks all capable ball carriers, and with other good backs ready to relieve them at any moment.

Line Shows Improvement

The line showed much improvement Saturday over previous games, especially from tackle to tackle. And at the ends Halverson and Carden played splendid ball, particularly the latter, whose pass-catching ability against Albin helped materially in the defeat of the Idaho outfit.

Barring injuries, the Mountaineers should enter the game in mid-season condition, and incidentally, the E. O. N. players have been pointing to the Ashland game for some time.

Following the Ashland game the Normal school will play Lewiston Normal here Nov. 11 and wind up the season in Spokane against the Spokane university eleven.

New Rules Make Football Game Safer, Report

By Herbert W. Barker
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—So far as the colleges are concerned, the new football code apparently has accomplished its primary purpose of making the game safer for the players, but high school and sandlot football seems just about as hazardous as before.

Of the 11 fatalities so far reported attributable directly or indirectly to football, only one has occurred in college ranks where the new rules of sandlot games where proper supervision and training is much more difficult and, in the case of sandlot contests at least, virtually impossible.

The 50 fatalities charged to football last year led to a series of drastic changes in the rules during the winter, eliminating the "flying wedge" on kickoffs, flying blocks and tackles, "rabbit punches" on the necks of linemen and an overhauling of the specifications for equipment to make it safer.

With the season now at the halfway mark, these rules seem to have eliminated many of the hazards of the game as it is played in the colleges under strict supervision.

The only fatality in college ranks was that of High Martin Williams, 16, a freshman at Loyola of the south, who died of internal injuries after being kicked in the abdomen during a practice drill against the varsity.

Five high school players, two sandlot competitors, two lads competing in neighborhood games, and an academy player in Honolulu also have been fatally injured since the season opened. Head injuries caused most of these deaths, while several others were caused by the failure of the injured player to receive treatment after minor hurts.

Bulldog Eleven Expects to Eliminate La Grande From Title Race Friday

Baker's defeat of the Pendleton Buckaroos at Pendleton Saturday afternoon, 8 to 0, did two things. First, it eliminated the Round-Up City team from consideration for the Eastern Oregon championship. Secondly, it demonstrated that the Baker eleven, after four long weeks of setbacks, at last had found itself.

From now on that Baker Bulldog is likely to be a tough, dangerous opponent, and it looks as if La Grande's Tigers will have their hands full and then some at Baker Friday afternoon, when the two teams meet.

In addition to the fact that Baker would like nothing better than to put La Grande out of the title race along with Pendleton, is the rivalry that exists between Coach George Scott and Coach Ira Woodie. Both started coaching in Eastern Oregon the same year and although Scott has the upper hand in the basketball realm, Woodie has not yet seen an eleven coached by him defeated by a Baker team. However, last year he saw his Tigers held to a scoreless tie by the Bulldogs, but that didn't give Scott a win. The year before the Tigers won 24 to 6 and no game was played in 1929, the first year for the two coaches in Eastern Oregon.

Scott, of course, teaches his players more of the Schlesler style of football, while Woodie uses a system that is similar in many respects to the type of football he learned when at Oregon.

"Little Classic"

The Baker-La Grande game rapidly is becoming the "little classic" in Eastern Oregon, and indications are that the Tigers will be hard-pressed to enter the game favored to win, following Baker's decisive victory over Pendleton. The Bulldogs have advanced a long way since losing to Enterprise 7 to 0 in their first game of the season, and scouts who saw the game in Pendleton Saturday, aren't so sure that the Baker team won't be the toughest on the blue and white schedule.

It's sure to be a battle royal, and with Baker on the up-and-up now, the Tigers are getting down to practice in earnest this week.

La Grande's 70 to 0 victory over Wallawa didn't mean a thing as far as Baker is concerned. Baker undoubtedly could have done as well, because the Bulldogs are nearly as big, just as fast and have just as many reserves as La Grande, according to reports. It is the first easy game the Tigers have had, but so far Baker has not met a weak eleven.

Scores during the last 10 years of play between the two schools give La Grande the edge, with six victories, two losses and a tie.

The record follows:

1931: La Grande 0, Baker 0, tie.
1930: La Grande 24, Baker 6.
1929: No game.
1928: La Grande 14, Baker 0.
1927: La Grande 6, Baker 35.
1926: La Grande 21, Baker 13.
1925: La Grande 0, Baker 40.
1924: La Grande 20, Baker 0.
1923: La Grande 53, Baker 0.
1922: La Grande 72, Baker 0.

Waldo Fisher, who starred at end for Northwestern in the seasons of 1925, '26 and '27, is end coach of the Wildcats now and this season will tutor, among others, his brother Lyle.

Opposing Guards In Big Game Both After Team Berth

This is the eleventh of a series of articles in which O. W. "Red" Severance, noted official, relates the humorous and "inside" stories he has run across in a long association with leading football coaches.

By O. W. "Red" Severance
(Written For The Associated Press)

Coach Ray Morrison's Southern Methodists were leading 40 to 7 in the annual game with Arkansas in 1931 and almost all of the Texas players were having a Roman holiday piling up the score on their weaker opponents.

Almost all—for "Red" Jackson, big Irish tackle, was having a great deal of difficulty with the Arkansas guard playing against him.

Scraping for every inch, the guard was giving "Red" the fight of his life.

Finally, as the teams lined up for another play, "Red" asked, in a difficult tone, "Boy, what's the idea of playing so hard? We already have you beaten so bad you haven't got a chance to win."

"I know it," the guard replied. "But I'm trying to make the Arkansas first team."

"Well, Buddy," was "Red's" comeback. "I'm trying to make the S. M. U. first team, too, so ease up a bit and maybe both of us can make the grade."

Eligibility Rules Causing Trouble In Dixie Circuit

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25 (AP)—Rumors of technical violation of eligibility rules by various Southern conference athletes, following the disqualification of Julian Foster, Vanderbilt end, for playing summer baseball, brought a telegram from Head Coach Dan McGugin, of Vanderbilt, to Dr. C. P. Miles, conference president, suggesting that "rules relative to summer baseball have been long rather loosely administered."

"As faculty representatives have in many cases failed to furnish lists of prohibitive teams as provided by the constitution," the telegram said, "I wonder whether you should take counsel of executive committee whether students should be disqualified where the regular schedule has not been more than three games a week, where they have not received money as players and have not played on teams of recognized baseball."

The coach said he felt that "if many are declared ineligible it may bring much criticism on Vanderbilt and also on the conference."

Dr. Miles at Zacksburg last night said he had not been asked to call a meeting of the executive committee, and knew of no reason why one should be called.

A play by play description of a practice session was broadcast over Southern California's station to satisfy fans who were not permitted to be present.

Sharkey May Not Meet Challenger For Long Period

BOSTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Champion Jack Sharkey threatens to give Max Schmeling his outstanding challenger, a taste of his own medicine and make him wait two years for a return bout.

Johnny Buckley, the titleholder's manager, indicated as much yesterday when he warned President William F. Carey, of Madison Square Garden, that Sharkey was determined to defend his championship only in a Boston ring.

Carey, who came here to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Boston garden, said:

"It looks to me as if Sharkey doesn't intend to meet Schmeling next summer."

Hornsby Signed By Cardinals As Second Sacker

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, who was deposited last summer as manager of the Chicago Cubs, will take the "comeback trail" with the St. Louis Cardinals next year.

Announcement was made today that the "firebrand" of major baseball had signed a one-year contract as a player with the club which he plotted to play major league baseball and that he would be of material help to the St. Louis club in the 1933 pennant campaign.

It was Bredon who, when Hornsby was at the height of his fame, traded him to the New York Giants for Frank Frisch and Pitcher Jimmy Ring, although, as manager, Hornsby had plotted the Cardinals to the world championship in 1926. And now Bredon thinks "the rajah" deserves a chance to rehabilitate himself in the major league baseball world.

Salary terms of the contract were not announced. It was made known, however, that under its terms Hornsby will receive his unconditional release at the end of the 1933 season, subject to the rules and regulations of the National League. Under these rules the Cardinals can't give Hornsby his release if some other club in the league claims his services. But under the terms of his contract, if some club claims him, Hornsby will be able to sell his services to the highest bidder, with the Cardinals to receive no profit.

Hornsby signed the contract with the understanding he was not considered a possible future manager of the Cardinals. He said he would subordinate himself to Manager Charles P. Street, and that he expected to be released if Street decided he was unable to help the club as a player.

Chicago Freshmen Football Players Support A. Stagg

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Virtually every member of the freshman football squad, who entered the University of Chicago "to play football under the 'Old Man'" today had signed the petition asking that A. A. Stagg be retained as head football coach.

Along with the 39 signers who signed, 31 members of the varsity squad, 128 members of eleven fraternities and 70 from other groups had added their names to the request.

The petition will be presented to President Robert Maynard Hutchins, of the board of trustees, Thomas N. Metcalf, who will succeed Mr. Stagg as director of athletics when the latter is retired because of the 70 year age limit, next June, and the order of the "C," late this week.

The TINYMITES

THE sun kept sending down its heat and to the Tinymites 'twas no treat. The big umbrella sheltered them till day turned into night.

Into the open they all ran and Scout shouted, "Now we can put Indian clubs and dumbbells in the box. We'll be all right."

They all dashed out and went to work. 'Twas getting dark. They couldn't shirk, if they intended to get through while all of them could see.

The rushing made it lots of fun and Duncy soon cried, "It's all done! Now I am rather tired and some sleep appears to me."

"A GOOD idea," Windy cried. "Come on, we'll flop down, side by side. Here is a handy pile of leaves. They'll be just like a bed."

They turned light in and squirmed around and soon they all were sleeping sound. At dawn the knowledge bug came near. "Get up!" it loudly said.

"Another day is here and you can make another wish come true, if you will use your magic oil." "Hurrah," was Duncy cried.

"I really think your hunch is great and, frankly, I can hardly wait until I oil up something that will give us all a ride."

"I'll pour some on the box and when we may call on our way again," The Tinymites watched. To their surprise, the box began to change.

It shortly was a flying horse which frightened everyone, of course. The dumbbells and the Indian clubs had disappeared. How strange!

The knowledge bug yelled, "We'll hop in! You'll fly to where you've never been. The horse's body's still a box and you will fit in there."

"Will we be safe?" scared Windy cried. "Will that old horse mind, if we ride?" The knowledge bug replied, "Oh, there is naught to bring a scare."

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 25 (AP)—Betty Robinson, women's Olympic 100-meter champion in 1928, who nearly lost her life in an airplane accident 16 months ago, planned to start her second comeback attempt today.

After lying for months in a hospital following the air crash, Betty recovered enough to return to classes in the school of physical education at Northwestern university. Her first comeback try, an attempt to make the 1932 Olympic team, failed because of stiffness in her left arm and leg.

She spent the summer swimming and taking special exercises, and today was ready to go back to work on the track under the direction of Coach Frank Hill.

PORTLAND G. E. COMPANY EYED BY COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The power commission announced today it intended to regulate the issues of securities by the Portland, Oregon, General Electric company.

This action was requested by Charles M. Thomas, Oregon commissioner of public utilities. He also asked the commission to regulate the securities of the Pacific Northwest Public Service company and the Portland Traction company. The commission, however, held it had no control over these two companies since they are not licensees of the commission.

The resolution directed that the Portland General Electric company not issue securities until they have been approved by the commission. The company also was directed to file with the commission a complete statement of its authorized outstanding or contemplated securities.
