OUT OUR WAY

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

the invaluable services that only a bank can offer. The representatives of the comptroller of the currency are now, and for the past week have been engaged in examining and classifying the paper of the First National bank, and report of the results will soon be made. It then will be possible to determine what steps should be taken to restore La Grande's banking facilities.

The Boise Bank threw out all its frozen assets, secured the assistance of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, sold additional stock, persuaded the large depositors to sign agreements by which 25 per cent of their deposits would be available upon re-opening, and 25 per cent available at subsequent intervals of approximately six months. Depositors were allowed to trade their deposits for stock in the re-opened bank, and the new group of stockholders elected their officers.

The same thing can be done in La Grande with very little trouble, through the co-operation of depositors, officers, citizens, and the officials of our federal government and the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The next few days will tell the story. We predict that La Grande will have a bank soon.

THE OPEN COURT

CORRESPONDENTS MUST SUBMIT THEIR NAMES TO THE EDITOR IF THEY DESIRE LETTERS PRINTED.

La Grande, Ore., Oct. 27, 1934
To The Editor of the Observer:
I have just read Mr. Palmer's article in the open court concerning the First National bank.

I heartily agree with Mr. Palmer as to the reason for the failure of the bank and as to the remedy. My solution is to have the bank re-opened on a basis of 25 per cent of the deposits of the bank to be made in cash and 75 per cent to be made in stock of the bank.

There is the major formula. All of it is the production of mortgage loans. It is a good so far as it goes but it is no remedy. The debt will still have to be paid. A moratorium on the entire sum due might be declared, but it would not be a remedy.

Mr. Roosevelt proposes to make the bank a temporary institution. It would be a bank of deposit only. It would be a bank of deposit only. It would be a bank of deposit only.

As a state policy Mr. Roosevelt would reduce the tax burden on the farmer. This is absolutely sound and practicable. Anything that can be done to reduce the tax burden on the farmer is a good thing.

I will not say that Mr. Palmer's article is a masterpiece. It is a good article. It is a good article. It is a good article.

Everyone agrees that the re-opening of the First National bank on the organization of a new bank, depends entirely upon the local co-operation and support of all the people of the community. For a bank is built upon confidence and character.

La Grande does want a bank. It MUST have a bank. It CAN have a bank. In the advertising columns of this paper today is a large announcement of the re-opening of the First National Bank of Union, at Boise. And eight other banks in Idaho and southeastern Oregon are also re-opening after having been closed for several weeks.

What has been done in other communities can be done in La Grande. If the closed First National bank is refused the support of the people, and allowed to go into the hands of receivers, the depositors may not get anything out for many months, even years. But if some co-operative effort to re-open the First National, or organize a new bank to take over its deposits and paper, could be successfully completed in Boise, then the money in all the small accounts could be made immediately available, the money in large accounts would draw interest continuously, and we again would have

Thomas Expects Farmer Vote To Cause Trouble

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 21 (AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, left his campaign in Connecticut to his lieutenant today after making a personal bus for voters with three speeches in his second tour of the state this fall. In Bridgeport last night he told his audience: "It looks as if it's the Democrats' hand-wagon in which capitalism is going to ride for the next four years. You can interpret that statement any way you want."

BOSTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, who came here Saturday to deliver a number of addresses in Boston and vicinity, told newspaper men the farmer was "more likely to raise his voice in the coming election than the city man."

Taking cognizance of the advice given by many political speakers that a vote for the Socialist ticket would be futile, Thomas said: "The only persons who throw away their votes are those who vote for what they don't want and get it. Look at what they have voted for in the past. Take Wilson and the peace. They got Wilson. They voted for Harding and normalcy, they got Harding."

They voted to keep cool with Coolidge and they had the hottest season of gambling in history. Under Coolidge, strip poker was a pious Sunday school game for children compared to the Wall street speculation.

"Then there was Hoover and prosperity. I have to draw the veil over that."

BORAH "LIKES" AL SMITH
WILDER, Ida., Oct. 21 (AP)—Senator William E. Borah turned aside from a discussion of economic problems in an address here to state he "likes" Al Smith.

The senator, continuing what he has described as a campaign for "Republicanism," asserted Smith is "helping out the Republican party."

Borah said Smith referred to him in his recent Boston speech as an "idealist" who "spelled President Hoover a gold brick in the special session."

During his address, the Idaho senator asserted that "if you tear down the tariff walls before you settle these international problems, American labor will be forced into intolerable conditions." He predicted the statement by saying: "Our present tariff is a barrier to our own export and tariff walls."

HOOPER'S BIG CHANCE
The presidential campaign, taxing though it is, has been found the finest opportunity Herbert Hoover has yet had to prove his worth as a leader to the American people. Every address he makes is a chance to be delivered to date has paved the way for the public to be acquainted directly with what is going on in the federal government. Every Roosevelt address has demonstrated how little the New York governor knows about affairs at Washington and has made it possible for Mr. Hoover to come out and lay the facts open before the people, showing them the real facts.

The president has 25 reasons, no one could have the opportunity to go before the people with the facts prior to the presidential campaign. He was busy, busy, busy, working on the problems of government. He was interested in attaining the results which now are being seen and felt. He had no time to be running down roads and spilling opposition propaganda.

But now things in the national picture are easier. The "big game" of the presidential campaign is over. He is at Detroit Saturday night, and there goes about the country a candidate for the presidency who by his address, is giving the public an accurate picture of the chief executive and his administration. National affairs are being explained to the people and the associates Mr. Hoover must now win and present his version of the facts. And here he is, in a quiet back to Mr. Hoover as his sponsor, conducting talks to counter the tactics of his opponent.

The Detroit address by the president once more settled the cause of Mr. Hoover. No one who reads or hears that talk could help but be confident in the man who analyzed things so far as to present to his opponents and shows the absurdity of the charges made in regard to the president. He would cut federal outlays by a billion dollars.

Mr. Roosevelt could do this by the sweep of one hand, and keep his promises, actual and intended, with the other. It is one of the many great injustices in this campaign. The president's quietness from a letter purporting to have been written by Mr. Roosevelt in which the strong inference is left that if he becomes president jobs may be given to the government to some 100,000 unemployed in this country.

The New York job has been taken with promises, promises with charges and in nearly every instance President Hoover by presenting from the record has made out his opponent as a poor fellow, indeed to send to the highest office in the land.

In many respects the New York speech is a splendid follow-up. A good citizen and a better than average leader. But he has failed utterly to reach citizens with Mr. Hoover and the campaign which Mr. Roosevelt has chosen to conduct has presented the president the finest chance ever to straighten himself with the people who have come to increasingly large numbers to wonder just what the New Yorker has to mind, anyway—wails Wally Bullard.

Enterprise To Stage Meeting Of Candidates

By W. L. Flower
ENTERPRISE, Ore. (Special)—The Enterprise chapter of community service, sponsoring a dinner for Tuesday evening, November 1, at which all candidates, regardless of party affiliation, are invited to attend and express their views before the voters will be given at the I. O. O. F. hall by the Presbyterian women and will start at 6:30 p. m.

The Enterprise High school football team will stage a special game at the Enterprise High school gymnasium on Friday afternoon and were lucky to get away with a 9 to 0 tie. The victory, however, was overshadowed by a number of fair moving plays that were very well carried out.

Occasionally at the annual school events was the work of John Walker, son of J. L. Walker, county engineer of Walla Walla county and graduate of the Enterprise High school last spring. John was considered a big hit for the team, and his work was very well carried out.

Mr. Richard Randall went to Boise, Idaho, Friday to visit with his daughter and son-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. John Lowry, Mrs. Randall is in the Enterprise business in Walla Walla. As a partner of members of the American Legion, Walter was in the court house at Enterprise, Henry L. Shaw, Enterprise, speaking the words of a man from Union, and Walla Walla, speaking a few words of appreciation. He also spoke briefly on several matters that concerned the enterprise in business circles.

Mr. S. L. Richardson, of La Grande, spoke briefly to the legion and welcome present assembly that it would be necessary to be quiet for the legion to enter the hall.

Each Ready independent candidates for congress, was scheduled to speak but was unable to attend because of illness. Mrs. C. J. Johnson entertained her Sunday school class from the Methodist church, Friday evening at a banquet on party. The guests were in attendance for the first time and participating games were played. Devotional refreshments were served at the close of the evening's program.
