

LOCAL BRIEFS

Marriage License—Fred Wilson and Miss Dorothy Crogham, both of Elgin, received a marriage license yesterday afternoon at the office of County Clerk C. K. McCormick in the court house.

Assault and Battery—Marvin Clark and Harry Mason were each fined $25 this morning by Judge L. DeGraham in the court of the justice of the peace after pleading guilty to a charge of assault and battery filed against them by Mrs. Viola Stiles. Clark pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery on the person of C. H. Harrison, and Mason confessed to the same charge against Mrs. Harrison.

Return Home—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Locken and son have returned to their home at Haines after several days spent in La Grande at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Silk.

Return Home—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Locken and son have returned to their home at Haines after several days spent in La Grande at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Silk.

Return Home—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Locken and son have returned to their home at Haines after several days spent in La Grande at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Silk.

To Meet—The De Molays will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Masonic hall. The De Molays are a Junior Masonic organization.

ENQUIST CO. BIDS $2622 ON BUILDING
(Continued from Page One)

right to terminate any contract not completed by June 30 of next year. The federal funds must be used by that time, and any work not completed by that time, would if continued, fall upon the state, he said.

The possibility of the commission establishing 100-foot right of way for all new primary roads was indicated by the authorization of that width for the right of way on the Wolf Creek route, and the purchase of additional rights of way on the Pacific highway to that width.

No H. F. C. Loans Likely
The Reconstruction Finance corporation cannot loan money for the construction of public highway bridges unless they are also to be used by railroads, the commission was informed by J. M. Devers.

The commission today signed the contract as one of four parties for the construction of the Fourth street project in Portland. Mayor George Baker and members of the city council appeared with the contract at the meeting and it was formally signed. The agreement between the commission, the city, the county and the Portland civic emergency committee clears the way for the raising of this money to be raised by the parties and work for about 1000 men provided on the project.

Low bids on the highway jobs and two building projects included:
The Enquist Construction company of Troutdale estimated low on the highway shops building at La Grande at $2622. Cobbs, Mitchell company of Salem would bid for roofing the highway shops at Salem.

Grading of 2 1/2 miles of Redmond-Bend section of the Dalles-California highway in Deschutes county, highest construction company of Portland low at $19,385. Nine bids were entered.

E. C. Peck & Co., of Aberdeen, Wash., was low on the B. I. T. grading on the Flowers-Guy-Long Creek section of the Pendleton-John Day highway in Grant county at $98,000. J. A. Tourteling and Sons of Spokane bid $104,110.

The Newport Construction company had little competition for low place over eight other bidders on the 10.71 miles of surfacing on the Umatilla-Washington state line section of the Columbia River highway. His bid of $149,475 was more than $10,000 under the next closest bidder by the Northwest Roads company of Portland.

LADD CANYON PERSONALS

By Mrs. Charles Grandy (Observer Correspondent)
LADD CANYON (Special)—The teacher Mrs. Joe Diehl, and the pupils of Ladd Canyon school had a get-together party at the school house Friday afternoon to which they invited their parents and friends. They gave a very good program which was followed by the serving of refreshments consisting of home-baked cakes and cider.

Claude Beale has been home just one week from the hospital at Hot Lake where he was obliged to spend three weeks following a sudden heart attack. Although weakened he is doing nicely. He is able to be around but unable to work.

Roy Munchel is in Portland where he went to attend the funeral of a sister.

Ladd canyon was well represented

Bank On It
Our Cleaning and Laundry service is Sure to Please.
Main 77
MODERN LAUNDRY

Let us put your Radio in shape for the coming events of national interest. All work fully guaranteed.

McDONALD ELECTRIC CO.
Phone Main 753 1428 Adams

Books Opened or Closed
Financial Statements and tax returns compiled.
FRANK L. BLACK
1701 - 5th St.

County Court—The November session of the county court opened this morning in the office of County Judge U. G. Couch at the court house. The morning session, which began at 9:30 o'clock, was spent allowing county bills. The afternoon session convened at 1:30.

Return—Mr. and Mrs. George T. Cochran have returned to their home here after a weekend spent in The Dalles with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts Jr. During his stay, Mr. Cochran enjoyed wild game hunting and returned to La Grande with a limit bag.

Wedding—A marriage of interest to La Grander is that of Albert Saller and Vesta Hand, both of North Powder, who received a marriage license yesterday in Baker.

Dies—Ward of the death of Mrs. Emily Dwight, 90, at Tacoma, Wash., has been received here. She formerly lived here and in Baker for 30 years. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Felsch, of Tacoma, and two sons, Frank, of Puyallup, and Clarence, of Alberta, Canada.

From Haines—Mrs. Arch Long of Haines, accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Fred Bowry, to La Grande where she will remain for some time. Mrs. Long has been ill at her home and has had her daughter, Mrs. Bowry, as her guest.

Speaks Over Radio—Hugh E. Brady, independent candidate for congress from La Grande, is in Klamath Falls today on a campaign tour, and will speak over radio KPUI at 8:40 tonight, 1010 kilocycles.

at the auction sale at Mrs. Julietta Fisher's in Portland.
Thieves have been quite active in Ladd Canyon for some time. The latest reports come from the Henry Ewin farm when the best set of work harness, which was nearly new, and two horse collars were stolen from the barn.

Miss Winnie Kinney was here from Boise from Friday evening until Sunday morning at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Coulson, and in La Grande at the home of her cousin, Ray Coulson. She is attending Link's Business college in Boise and drove down with a carload of friends. They went on to La Grande where they remained.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Ewin and grandsons, Billy Ewin, who is the little son of Sherman Ewin, all of Portland, drove here recently for a few days' visit at their son, Henry Ewin's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sullivan and children drove down from their home at Baker and spent Sunday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grandy.

The Get-together club was very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Young in La Grande last Thursday. Mrs. Ada Clark and Mrs. Henry Coulson had charge of the entertainment for the afternoon. Decorations were in keeping with Halloween. Mrs. Alta Winburn, sister of the hostess was the only guest of the club. Mrs. Young served tasty refreshments near the close of the pleasant afternoon.

Cornish Mines Long Known
It is believed that Cornwall was the source of supply of the tin that was used in making the bronze of the British Age of Bronze. Ancient Greek historians spoke of the "far islands" of Britain, whence came tin and copper, centuries before the Christian era, and almost 500 years before Caesar visited the British Isles the Carthaginians went to Cornwall for tin.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt
America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

Off Gridiron

Orville Mohler, sensational University of Southern California quarterback, who has been barred from further play by a neck injury. He will assist with the team's strategy from the bench.

He's Her Hero

Eddie Pene, star guard of the Ohio Wesleyan football team that scored a surprise victory over Syracuse recently, will succumb to no-coed charms as long as little Miss Deborah Thomson, age 4, is around. Eddie is "Deddie's" hero. Last year he tended the Thomson furnace in return for his room, made friends with the lassie, and now the tot sticks to him like a burr. When the team leaves town, she violates all child training rules to stay up and kiss him goodby.

Machine Gun Ends Lion Hunt

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

America's first sporting lion hunt is over. Hesse and Nellie, circus lionesses, had a short taste of freedom and have died, not in the name of big game hunting but in the name of the law. Denton M. Wright, below right, and O. W. Brinkmeyer, below left, would-be big game hunters of St. Louis, bought the lions, fed them for four weeks while they sought in vain a safe place to turn the lions loose and track them down. Finally they chose Commerce Island in the Mississippi river and the lions were turned loose. But Deputy Sheriff Tom Hetchkis also went to the island. While Wright and his party were lunching before starting the hunt, the deputy came on the lions, machine-gunned them to death.

NORRIS SAYS HOOVER NOT MAN FOR JOB

(Continued From Page Three)

Norris said of the president, "and he drew the conclusion that there must be some understanding between the progressive and the Hooverite, and that if Roosevelt were elected he would be required to carry out some of the crazy notions of the progressive party."

No Sinister Alignments
"No, Mr. Hoover," he continued. "Our only one interest is the welfare and happiness of the American people. We are supporting Roosevelt because we believe he comes nearer to representing the ideal citizenship of America, rather than the monopoly of wealth."

He added: "And Mr. Hoover, some of these progressives were fighting years ago for the preservation of the rights of the people at the time when you were living in luxury in the great city of London on the return of bonds that had been sold to an unsuspecting public, in which water and hot air were the fundamental assets."

"We know, Mr. Hoover," he concluded, "more about human liberty than you could possibly have found out in the life you led prior to coming to America."

Republicans Attacked
Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

He declared that as a temporary measure "to meet the emergency situation of the currency," although he conceded, "I realize this is a dangerous road upon which to travel."

Norris said an inheritance tax on large fortunes should be enacted, adding "this is not talking revolution; this is cautioning my people to take steps to prevent a revolution."

Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

He declared that as a temporary measure "to meet the emergency situation of the currency," although he conceded, "I realize this is a dangerous road upon which to travel."

Norris said an inheritance tax on large fortunes should be enacted, adding "this is not talking revolution; this is cautioning my people to take steps to prevent a revolution."

Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

He declared that as a temporary measure "to meet the emergency situation of the currency," although he conceded, "I realize this is a dangerous road upon which to travel."

Norris said an inheritance tax on large fortunes should be enacted, adding "this is not talking revolution; this is cautioning my people to take steps to prevent a revolution."

Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

He declared that as a temporary measure "to meet the emergency situation of the currency," although he conceded, "I realize this is a dangerous road upon which to travel."

Norris said an inheritance tax on large fortunes should be enacted, adding "this is not talking revolution; this is cautioning my people to take steps to prevent a revolution."

Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

He declared that as a temporary measure "to meet the emergency situation of the currency," although he conceded, "I realize this is a dangerous road upon which to travel."

Norris said an inheritance tax on large fortunes should be enacted, adding "this is not talking revolution; this is cautioning my people to take steps to prevent a revolution."

Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

He declared that as a temporary measure "to meet the emergency situation of the currency," although he conceded, "I realize this is a dangerous road upon which to travel."

Norris said an inheritance tax on large fortunes should be enacted, adding "this is not talking revolution; this is cautioning my people to take steps to prevent a revolution."

Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

He declared that as a temporary measure "to meet the emergency situation of the currency," although he conceded, "I realize this is a dangerous road upon which to travel."

Norris said an inheritance tax on large fortunes should be enacted, adding "this is not talking revolution; this is cautioning my people to take steps to prevent a revolution."

Senator Norris attacked the Republican administration as short-sighted and indecisive in dealing with the depression. He declared that many other progressives who attempted to bring about a farm relief program during the Harding administration, were blocked by Hoover, who he described as "the miracle man of the Harding administration."

Awarded Medal

Daniel G. Jackling, president of Utah Copper, awarded the John Fritz Medal for his successful inauguration of large scale operation in ore containing less than 1 per cent copper.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS SPEECH BY MR. ECKLEY

The principal feature of the program at the regular meeting of the Rotary club this noon was a talk by Victor Eckley, who took up in order each of the city's population and the fact that this year, for the first time in the history of Greater New York, a mayoralty election is combined with the presidential and gubernatorial balloting.

George Walker, past president of the club, gave an interesting vocational talk, recounting the history of the club since its early Egyptian times and explaining the ideals and services of the modern fraternal director.

Four football players from the High school showed only a 20,000 gain for the year in the city's population and the fact that this year, for the first time in the history of Greater New York, a mayoralty election is combined with the presidential and gubernatorial balloting.

George Walker, past president of the club, gave an interesting vocational talk, recounting the history of the club since its early Egyptian times and explaining the ideals and services of the modern fraternal director.

Four football players from the High school showed only a 20,000 gain for the year in the city's population and the fact that this year, for the first time in the history of Greater New York, a mayoralty election is combined with the presidential and gubernatorial balloting.

George Walker, past president of the club, gave an interesting vocational talk, recounting the history of the club since its early Egyptian times and explaining the ideals and services of the modern fraternal director.

Four football players from the High school showed only a 20,000 gain for the year in the city's population and the fact that this year, for the first time in the history of Greater New York, a mayoralty election is combined with the presidential and gubernatorial balloting.

George Walker, past president of the club, gave an interesting vocational talk, recounting the history of the club since its early Egyptian times and explaining the ideals and services of the modern fraternal director.

Four football players from the High school showed only a 20,000 gain for the year in the city's population and the fact that this year, for the first time in the history of Greater New York, a mayoralty election is combined with the presidential and gubernatorial balloting.

George Walker, past president of the club, gave an interesting vocational talk, recounting the history of the club since its early Egyptian times and explaining the ideals and services of the modern fraternal director.

Four football players from the High school showed only a 20,000 gain for the year in the city's population and the fact that this year, for the first time in the history of Greater New York, a mayoralty election is combined with the presidential and gubernatorial balloting.

George Walker, past president of the club, gave an interesting vocational talk, recounting the history of the club since its early Egyptian times and explaining the ideals and services of the modern fraternal director.

Four football players from the High school showed only a 20,000 gain for the year in the city's population and the fact that this year, for the first time in the history of Greater New York, a mayoralty election is combined with the presidential and gubernatorial balloting.