

Revised Banking Laws May Bring Drastic Changes

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Radical revision of the country's banking methods after years of agitation to correct conditions leading to bank failures and contributing to financial booms and crashes, will begin to take shape immediately.

Senator Carter Glass' bank reform act, possibly the greatest piece of permanent legislation enacted by any recent congress is today becoming law. President Roosevelt's signature had been promised, and he had called it "the best piece of banking legislation since the reserve board act."

In the flurry of getting the act through congress, its main provisions have been obscured by the one insuring people's checking and savings deposits, but its far-reaching arms may alter the course of American finance.

Under it, private banks such as the recently investigated J. P. Morgan and Company will have to quit taking deposits or stop floating securities.

All national banks must separate themselves completely within one year from their securities corporations. Among the best known are such as the National City bank of New York and its National City company, which figured extensively in senate investigation, but hundreds of banks all over the country have such affiliates.

The federal reserve system, greatest single channel for raising credit, is now given the power to shut off this stream of money from members lending it to assist market speculation. This will keep the public's billions from being lent to brokers for financing margin operations in a booming market.

TUNA FISH SPAGHETTI
Cook one half pound of spaghetti in plenty of boiling salted water. Cook until tender... about fifteen minutes. While spaghetti is cooking, prepare a sauce by chopping 1 clove of garlic very fine together with several sprigs of parsley. Put 4 table-spoonful of oil in a saucepan. When oil is hot, add garlic and parsley and a little salt and pepper. To this add 3 cups of White Star tuna, flaked. Cook 3 minutes, add 3 table-spoons tomato sauce or catsup and one-quarter cup of water. Cook five minutes, remove from fire. Drain spaghetti and heap on a hot platter. Pour over the tuna mixture, mix well and serve.
