

LOCAL BRIEFS

Injures Hand—
Eugene Millering, 1904 Adams Ave., employed at the highway department shops, was operating a gas pump Wednesday morning when the handle slipped and struck the back of his hand such a blow that one of the bones was broken. The injury was extremely painful, and requires highly intricate splints and braces to hold the broken member in place until it heals.

Ash to Leave—
Julian F. Ash plans to leave this evening for Eugene where he has been named as the manager of a clothing store. Mr. Ash has been a member of Falk's staff for the past two years.

On Business Here—
Miss M. Daisel, a state employee, was in La Grande last night transacting business for her department. Miss Waldel makes her headquarters in Portland.

From Eugene—
Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, of Eugene, have been transacting business for the past two days in La Grande. Mr. Baker is interested in the newspaper business there.

Attend Convention—
Harvey Carter and Woodrow Dime-rel plan to leave tomorrow for Hicks Lake, near Olympia, Wash., where they will attend the First Aid and Life Saving convention from June 18 to 30. They plan to return to La Grande via Portland and the seacoast cities.

To Portland—
H. E. Coolidge and Tom Bruce left this afternoon for Portland where they will transact business for a few days. Both are local insurance dealers.

Odd Fellows Meet—
The Odd Fellows will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock for a regular business session at the Odd Fellows hall.

Returns Home—
Charles Wilson, who underwent a major operation at the Grande Ronde hospital late last week, was able to return to his home today.

Visitors Leave—
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Roberts Jr., and son, Bill Tom, left this noon by automobile to spend the weekend visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Roberts Sr., at Spokane. They came to La Grande from Rufus a few days ago for a short visit at the home of Mrs. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Cochran.

Receiving Treatment—
Mrs. Dot Payne, of Elgin, is receiving medical treatment at the Grande Ronde hospital. She entered today.

At Hospital—
Jesse Comstock entered the Grande Ronde hospital on Wednesday for medical treatment and his condition is reported as satisfactory.

Fatland Here—
E. R. Fatland, who operates the Condon branch of the Fatland-Sims Co., is visiting in La Grande for a few days, transacting business. He is accompanied by his family.

while others were patrolling the edges of the district, upwards of 40 city blocks in extent.
Another force of 500 men were armed with shovels, building small dikes throughout the area.
Shortly after midnight, the waters were within two blocks of the main business district, and store owners had their clerks at work clearing the basements and first floors. Water splashed over the Pacific highway to a depth of a foot or more, but traffic was detoured.

PORTLAND MEN ARE WELCOMED IN CITY TODAY

Charles Reynolds, president of the La Grande Chamber of Commerce, was in charge of the luncheon meeting at the hotel, turning it over in major part to the Portland guests, who in auto caravan are en route to the pioneer "Whisky Gulch" celebration tomorrow at Canyon City.
Charles D. Porter, prominent in the Portland Chamber of Commerce, acted as toastmaster and introduced the Portland men in the party, which included: Dr. Clark Black, A. H. Devers, Henry J. Frank, R. H. Kipp, R. L. Krohn, Dr. W. L. Metschan, Frank Metschan, E. L. Metschan, W. A. Heyburn, D. A. Shindler, C. L. Shorno, Amedeo M. Smith, E. R. Wiggins, Shelby Wiggins and E. N. Weinbaum.

David L. Stoddard extended the welcome to the Portlanders on behalf of La Grande citizens and business people, expressing pleasure at having them here and the general feeling of good will that exists from this community toward the larger metropolis.

Mr. Porter, in replying, expressed the desire of Portland interests to assist and aid in development and progress of this section. In part he struck an important note when he urged upon local people to take full advantage of the wonderful natural asset which we have here as "gateway" to the scenic Willowa mountains.

"Very few, even in Oregon and Portland, know of these beauties and vacation advantages," said Mr. Porter, "and you have the opportunity here of developing this country into a great recreation center and vacation playground for many multitudes. You should seek in some manner to have tourist travel from east or west over the Oregon Trail, stop for at least a day or two in La Grande for a side trip into the Willowa country."

The Blue Mountain Wranglers provided excellent music and singing previous to the speaking portion of the luncheon meeting.

business as well as in flour milling and the lumber industry in this section.
Yesterday the three visitors went to the lake where they collected material for two issues of a series of 15 articles which will be written by Mr. Miller for his paper. Willows and Union county will furnish two of the articles in which the writer will stress not only the beauties of the scenery but also the route for an ideal and inexpensive vacation in the mountains.

They left this noon for Baker and Homesburg, spending tonight at the latter town, and will take the North and South road to Lewiston, Ida., tomorrow, from where they will drive back to Portland, their home city.

DEATH BREAKS DUET

Alys Jeannette Cooper (right) who died after a long illness Wednesday night, with her sister, Maelzabeth, were well known in La Grande and Eastern Oregon, especially among music lovers. This photo shows the two girls as they were when they gave their last violin recital in November of 1929.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR MISS COOPER AT 10 SATURDAY

interment will be made at the Catholic cemetery. The body may be viewed by friends at Snodgrass and Zimmerman's now.

Miss Cooper contracted tuberculosis while a sophomore in La Grande High and during the last year of the disease made rapid progress through her whole body. She spent six months in bed at The Dalles sanitarium and, growing worse, she returned to her home in La Grande and was confined to her bed three months until her death. During the past month she also suffered from droupy.

She was a talented musician of exceptional ability, having taken her first violin lessons at Whitman college in Walla Walla when eight years of age. Her younger sister, Maelzabeth, is also talented in violin, and the two were much in demand in musical circles and social functions. While little tots of seven and eight years living in Walla Walla they took first prize of $15 at an amateur violin contest conducted at Legion theatre. Two years ago they placed first in the North Western Music tournament at Portland and in the same spring Alys Jeannette took first place as violin soloist at the Eastern Oregon Music tournament which was conducted here at the Normal school. Since unable to play her violin, she has written verses, poems and short stories.

Miss Cooper, according to reports, realized since Monday that she was dying and was happy in the thought that her suffering would soon be ended. She remained conscious until the time of her death, naming her own pall bearers. Her last words were "O, God take me" and "Mother, it's all over" before she died in her mother's arms.

She is survived by her parents; two sisters, Miss Maelzabeth Cooper and Mrs. Louisa Presto, of Cove; and two brothers, Leonard, 15, and Buddy, 9.

Central Airport One of The Best Of Air Pictures

A Review
A pretty parachute jumper, intrepid aviators, breath taking rescues from wrecked airplanes, all with a spirit of authenticity, make "Central Airport", which opened yesterday at the Liberty theatre for a three day run, one of the best airplane pictures ever shown on a local screen. Stunting in a circus furnishes some daring pictures of planes darting about the clouds like birds.

One of the best bits in the picture is the portrayal of a plane battling its way through a storm to rescue the passengers of a commercial ship which has been forced down by the rain. The photography is superb and the Liberty theatre manager, C. M. Wright, defies anyone to sit through the scene without an audible gasp.

The love scene between the two brothers, Richard Barthelmess and Tom Brown, and pretty parachute jumper Sally Eilers is purely incidental but still is not inconspicuously "stuck on" just to please those who must have a love element in their movies.

PICNIC FOR FARMERS IS BIG EVENT

northwest organization explained to the farmers of this section the new farm set-up, going into details regarding the various plans and programs—adopted, and under consideration—with the object of bringing practical relief to the farming industry. Ideas and plans, heretofore more or less vague, were being discussed with the result that the group today had a better understanding of the proposals and the new arrangement, it is asserted.

Charles N. Cook, of Pendleton, who is president of the Eastern Oregon group, confined his remarks more to problems of this particular section, plans and activities of the eastern grain growers. F. L. Ballard, well known here as state leader of county agents, was to be the last speaker with a talk on his particular line. The program of the afternoon was varied with musical numbers as interludes by the Blue Mt. Wranglers.

Tom Bruce and Kermit Bagin. The program followed, the great basket dinner served at mid-day, the throng of Union county folk filling the long tables spread in the pavilion while other, smaller groups were scattered about the park. The Grande Ronde Co-operative Creamery association supplemented the dinner otherwise provided with great quantities of ice cream.

E. H. DeLong, president of the Co-operative, was in general charge of the affairs of the day.

Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich.
June 13, 1933
A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD
This week Friday the Ford Motor Company completes 30 years of automobile making.
It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.
Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.
Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.
Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.
But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.
Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.
That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

Henry Ford
