He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? — Micah 6: 8.

OUT OF THE ABNORMAL

The business recovery, which began in March, has resulted in a gain of almost forty per cent by the middle of June. According to the weekly business index, kept by the New York Times the first week of June showed close to an 84 point rise over the low level established for computation purposes.

Gains were recorded in freight car loadings, steel mill activity, electrical power output, lumber production and cotton forwardings. While automobile production showed a slight decline, this was somewhat offset by official reports of increased retail sales.

While some optimism is natural, in view of the remarkable recovery indicated, one should not lose sight of the fact that business volume is still only equal to the 1921 low. In other words, an abnormal depression has passed into a normal depression.

If the present recovery can maintain its advance during the next three months then we can say that business is back to a normal basis. And there does seem every assurance that we are on the way.

ALL ACCIDENTS IMPORTANT

"Automobile accidents kill three times as many persons as crime."—Earl J. Reeder, Traffic Engineer, National Safety Council.

However, the average community overlooks all accidents that do not result in death or serious injury.

If a careless driver runs into another vehicle, and pays for the damage inflicted, we pass it up as no concern of the public.

This attitude is wrong. Every accident is a potential fatality. The prompt investigation of all collisions should be followed by putting the blame on the careless driver.

Those who drive carelessly should be forced to let others drive automobiles.

PROTECTING INVESTORS

The Federal Government, under the guidance of President Roosevelt, has passed a law seeking to prevent those interested in issuing securities from unloading upon an unsuspecting public investments of a doubtful character. The Federal Trade Commission estimates that $25,000,000,000 worth of worthless securities were unloaded on the public during the last ten years through representations that amounted to misrepresentation and fraud.

While the new law cannot actually supervise every proposed transaction for an individual, it will require those who offer securities to the public to place, in the words of a statement issued by the Federal Trade Commission, "adequate and true information before investors, and to protect honest enterprise seeking capital by honest representations against the capital afforded by securities offered through crooked promotion and crooked misrepresentation."

The commission, however, warns the public that the fact that this information has been filed with it does not mean that the commission endorses or approves the security or the company.

The president also issued a statement concerning the purposes of the legislation. "If the country is to flourish," said Mr. Roosevelt, "capital must be invested in enterprise. But those who seek to draw upon other people's money must be wholly candid regarding the facts on which the investor's judgment is asked."

"To that end this bill requires the publicity necessary for sound investment it is, of course, no insurance against errors of judgment. That is the function of no government. It does give assurance, however, that within the limit of its powers, the federal government will insist upon knowledge of the facts on which alone judgment can be based."

"The new law will safeguard against the abuses of high pressure salesmanship in security flotations. It will require full disclosure of all the private interests on the part of those who seek to sell securities to the public."

"The law requires that both domestic and foreign issues be registered with the federal trade commission for 20 days before they are advertised or sold. The commission can issue a stop order against any security if it finds fraud or misrepresentation was involved."

MILTON MILLER HERE LAST NIGHT

When he heard Bryan expound his theory of money, which Mr. Miller believes is coming true, he stated, "You can quote me as being a firm believer in the national government issuing all the gold, silver and greenbacks, and the banks not issuing a dollar, doing legitimate banking business and nothing else. If more silver were used it would be great of course, I'm in favor of it to one."

Here is the verdict of the Supreme Court of Motordom, the American Automobile Association Contest Board

Here is the AAA Report. Read it: "This is to certify that we, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, have conducted a series of tests on Standard Gasoline, manufactured by Standard Oil Company of California, for comparative acceleration efficiency under actual road conditions, in comparison with six other gasolines considered to be of leading brands. On the basis of these tests, we find Standard Gasoline is unsurpassed in ACCELERATION."

which he believes has increased its business 500 or 600 per cent. While in Washington he looked in on the Morgan inquiry. He especially noticed Morgan during the proceedings and was struck by the indifference which marked the capitalist's attitude, the nonchalance with which he accepted the uncovering of vast "shady" financial deals. He also stopped in Chicago and attended the Worlds fair.
