requested to accept a quota of two hundred dollars as its part of the relief fund needed. The Red Cross is the official organization through which this program of rehabilitation is carried on in and disaster stricken area. Chartered by the U. S. government, it is charged with the task of raising funds and carrying on the work. The local chapter of the Red Cross has carried on a very extensive program of relief during the past year, distributing food, flour and clothing to more than seven hundred Union county families, totaling about 3500 persons. This work is all done by volunteer service, not a cent being paid any of the workers. Mr. Mortimore points out that in view of the great amount of assistance which La Grande has received, the call for $200 for a needy city close to home is "a call that we cannot refuse." He urges that every citizen who has work make an immediate contribution to this relief fund. No large amounts are asked for, but he urges that everyone give something, and at once. "The need must be met without delay, and the health and even lives of these Washington neighbors, depend upon our response to the call," he said. Contributions may be left at the office of the La Grande Investment company on Adams ave.
