were did not come to light until well along in the winter, when the public's nerves, frayed by years of disasters and privation, were down to tattered and critical "runs" developed on banks.

A panicky populace demanded repayment of its deposits, and the first of the "bank holidays" was announced.

President Roosevelt closed all the banks and summoned a special session of the Congress to deal with the situation. A series of measures, the country's response was immediate, and in a few days solvent banks reopened, to find that fear had subsided.

permanent basis of stabilization than appears attainable now.

Third, temporary stabilization of currencies in international exchange and creation of funds to support the program is not regarded by him as on the agenda of the economic conference.

Fourth, the American theory for the use of gold as collateral for currency is in contrast to the ideas of the Europeans for its use as a medium of international exchange. He wants to keep the American gold supply in America to back up American currency.

AT THE LIBERTY

"The Woman Accused," the Paramount-Liberty magazine all-star story, written by ten nationally-famous authors, has been booked for the Liberty theatre, where it will open Thursday.

Nancy Carroll, Gary Grant and John Halliday head the cast which enacts the story. The action of the film centers around Miss Carroll. On the eve of her wedding to Grant, just as they are about to sail on a week-end "cruise to nowhere" and be married at sea by the captain of the vessel, a former lover returns to her and demands that she come back to him. She refuses flatly, and he, infuriated, phones a gangster acquaintance, with the object of having Grant "bumped off." But before he can give the order, Miss Carroll hits him over the head with the nearest object at hand—a bronze figurine. She is horrified to discover that she has killed him.

Halliday follows when she sees aboard the boat with Grant, and spends the voyage trying to dig up evidence incriminating her. He is almost successful until Grant steps in. In a dramatic climax, he clears Nancy of all guilt, and carries her off to freedom and safety.

JULY FOURTH A QUIET DAY IN LA GRANDE

Baker courted for the event. Several La Granderers played a prominent part in the sixth annual meeting of the Baker county Pioneer association yesterday in Baker. Representative Walter M. Pierce, of La Grande, from the second congressional district, was the principal speaker at the meeting, on the theme, "Pioneer Day," in which he reviewed the history of the early pioneer's very ably.

Hugh E. Brady, also of this city, spoke of "Patriotism." Mrs. Jessie Hoskins, well-known here, of Baker, directed an old-fashioned singing school. The following comes from the Baker Democrat-Herald of Monday, July 3:

A melodeon that came around Cape Horn in the first shipment of musical instruments to Oregon, about 1860, and an artist more charming than any modern-day performer, will appear before the pioneers at their sixth annual meeting at the park tomorrow. The number has not been previously announced because of Mrs. Harriet R. McDonald, the artist from La Grande, the certainty of being able to make the trip, but her number has been definitely added to the several other musical attractions.

"We're an ancient trio; the melodeon, old dress and I," Mrs. McDonald remarks. "It's a question to which of us will give out first."

The gown she will wear was a pretty dress made for her when she was 16. Mrs. McDonald was born in 1857. Her mother and father crossed the plains by ox-wagon in the early days, coming to La Grande from Western Oregon in 1872. Her father, Stukely Ellsworth, was a pioneer lawyer of Oregon, well known throughout the northwest in the early 60's and 70's.

Mrs. McDonald received her education at St. Helena hall, Portland, and St. Paul's school, Walla Walla. At the latter place she was the first and only boarder when the school was founded in 1872. In 1881 she was married to D. J. McDonald, now deceased. Their daughter is Mrs. George Birge, of La Grande.

CAR LEAVES HIGHWAY AND OVERTURNS

home by District Attorney Carl G. Helm.

Bramwell was driving the car and the other two young men were asleep in the rumble seat. The driver apparently went to sleep, officers report, and drove for about 80 feet with the wheels on one side of the car just barely on the pavement and the others on the shoulder of the highway. The front wheels struck the bank of a side road which runs at right angles with the highway and the car is believed to have turned over once or twice before it struck a fence 52 feet away. Knapp was thrown 50 feet from the car, and was killed instantly. Roe was thrown about 25 feet, and received bruises about the face in addition to a fractured skull.

Leonard King Roe was the son of Mr. and Mrs. King Roe, 315 B avenue. He was a graduate of the La Grande High school and attended the Eastern Oregon Normal school, while during the coming winter he planned to attend San Francisco university, a Catholic school, where he was granted a basketball scholarship. He was prominent in athletic both in high school and Normal school, and while playing for the La Grande High school in 1930 he was awarded a trophy for his outstanding showing at the Eastern Oregon tournament at Union. He also was a member of the Normal school team and his record there brought him his university scholarship. He was 22 years of age at the time of his death and is survived by a brother, Melvin Roe, besides his parents.

Edgar Ellsworth Knapp was the son of Horace Knapp and Mrs. Fred G. Smith who survive him as well as a number of other relatives. He graduated from La Grande High school in 1932 where he was an all-around athlete, taking part in football and track.

Richard Bramwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bramwell.

Funeral services for Mr. Knapp will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Walker chapel. Rev. J. George Walk in charge. Burial will take place in the family plot at the Odd Fellows cemetery.

Funeral services for Mr. Roe will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the Walker Funeral Home, with burial in the Masonic cemetery, Grant Beach, bishop of the L. D. S. church, will be in charge.
