Airy Tulle And Sheer Organdy Are Popular

By Rita Ferris (Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS (AP) — Butterfly gowns of airy tulle and sheer organdy are being worn by smartest Parisians as a new note in summer evening elegance. Designed with ruffled shoulder lines and skirts trimmed with ruffles, they recall the frivolous frocks of grandmother's day. The bodices of the gowns are generally cut with round décolletés finished with double ruffles of fabric or feathers at the shoulder line. Skirts fit closely about the hips.

White A Favorite While it is among the favorites for the new frocks, The Comtesse Herve Chandon de Brillantes wears a white tulle gown having a skirt trimmed with narrow tulle frills and a bodice finished with a shoulder ruche of the same fabric. Princess Amedee de Broglie wears a frock of fine white organdy embellished in a floral design of black threads, the décolleté of which is outlined with frills of the fabric, while Lady Detering has chosen a white tulle frock worn with a little cape of the same material.

Black Also Popular Black is another popular hue. The Comtesse Elie de Ganay attended a recent gala fete wearing a black tulle gown having a flounced shoulder line and a skirt trimmed with ruffles below the knee.

Since the frocks are too frail to support the weight of the regulation evening wrap, most smart Parisians wear with them little capes or scarfs of the same material. Few jewels accompany the costumes, their wearers depending on the elaborate butterfly effect of the frocks for their distinction.

Brazil Checks Wild-Cat Trips To Wilderness

By Paul Sanders RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Expeditions into the Brazilian hinterland will be confined hereafter to legitimate scientists accompanied by government officials, under a decree designed to prevent further exploitation of missing men mysteries.

Brazilian authorities also newspapers have been irked by adverse publicity arising from small and ill-equipped expeditions which, with negative results, have sought Colonel H. P. Fawcett, English scientist, missing more than eight years in Mato Grosso.

Redfern Case Cited Arrest of Tom Roche, gold hunter and ex-savior, who claimed knowledge of the whereabouts of Paul Redfern, American aviator missing since 1927, and the subsequent suicide of Richard Redfern, Paul's uncle, gave the government further reason for clamping down on expeditions. No substantiation of the Redfern-in-Brazil theory was found.

Neither has word been received from a small expedition which set out in April, 1932, to look for "Lost City," a gold mine which was supposed to have been found by Robert in an isolated region.

Government Takes Control Greater expeditions, after proving that they have adequate financial resources and genuine scientific or humanitarian aims, must receive special permission from the foreign ministry before entering Brazil.

Once here, they must report to the ministry and agriculture, which will assign an inspector to the expedition. Embargo On Specimens The decree further requires donation of new animal, plant, or mineral specimens to Brazilian museums. Only duplicate specimens may be exported.

The government feels it has a lengthy indictment against "treasure" parties. Adventurers not infrequently have obtained money abroad under false pretenses, have antagonized Indian tribes, and have led to fantastic tales.

Encourage Tidiness Habit With Nursery Waste Basket

It helps children to acquire the habit of picking scraps and refuse off the floor after playing if they have a convenient waste basket at hand. The playroom basket should be capacious, light so that the child can lift it easily, and broad, so that it will not tip.

Tom L. Johnson's Auto Will Chug and Rums

CLEVELAND (AP) — An ancient automobile built in 1900, once given to leading parades and taking part in important affairs of a glorious past, will manage to chug, puff and run.

It is the famous automobile of Tom L. Johnson, famous mayor of Cleveland and the inspiration of liberals in this country in his time.

Johnson used the automobile to dash from one political meeting to another, and to make fast trips from one conference to another. It is owned by Ira Heilman, who received it in a roundabout way from Johnson's brother.

FARMER'S COSTS GO DOWN PRICE OF PRODUCTS UP

By Frank L. Weiler (Associated Press Farm Editor) WASHINGTON (AP) — Doubled-barreled action in the price field moved farm products toward parity with non-agricultural commodities during the second quarter of 1933.

Charts prepared by the department of agriculture show: 1. The general average of prices paid by farmers moved down to the pre-war level. 2. Prices received by farmers advanced, whereas a normal trend would have been toward a seasonal decline.

The farmer is getting more for his crops and paying out relatively less for the things he buys, although this has not reached the high proportion in favor of the farmer which has been set by the administration.

The Goal May Shift This party would be ready to accept if the prices farmers pay should go below the pre-war level. Should they bounce up, pre-war prices received by farmers no longer would represent pre-war purchasing power, and farm prices might have to be advanced further.

The gain in farm buying power is shown by the following index table in which 100 represents the 1910-14 average. Feb. 33 May '33 All farm prices 49 62 Grain 34 62 Dairy products 53 65 Dairy products 62 63 Prices farmers paid 44 100 Farm buying power 47 62 All wholesale prices 65 93

The May index figure for all farm prices represents a 26 per cent increase over that of February and theoretically adds $1,382,000,000 to the purchasing power of the 1932 total gross farm income of about $5,200,000,000.

Assuming farmers to have had 200,000,000 bushels of wheat on hand on March 1, the advance of 26 cents a bushel between March and May enhanced its value $49,000,000. An advance of $12.50 a bale in the farm price of cotton on March 1 is estimated to have added $145,000,000 to private and public stocks, aggregating about 11,667,000 bales on that date.

Average Values Far Below 1929 The per acre value of farm land in 1933 was 73 per cent of pre-war for the entire country. The index stood at 170 in 1929, when farm real estate values were at the peak.

The total farm property value of the United States declined from $58,000,000,000 to $43,000,000,000 during the same period. The general level of farm wage rate is 72 per cent of the pre-war average on April 1, the lowest point during the last 33 years. Advances during the first quarter appeared only in Washington, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The supply of farm labor was 125.8 per cent of normal on April 1, whereas demand was only 88.9 per cent of normal.
