Church Services Sunday Include Much of Interest

Humphreys to Speak at Presbyterian Service — Rev. Godwin to Review Dr. Butler's Statement.

Although services in some of the La Grande churches are either curtailed or are in complete vacation during this month, several very interesting programs are scheduled for Sunday.

At the Presbyterian church C. M. Humphreys will tell of the recent General Assembly of the church, which he attended.

At the Baptist church Rev. B. M. Godwin will discuss the statement of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who said he was in favor of repeal of the 18th amendment. In the evening he will speak at Summerville at 8 o'clock on the importance of getting out the dry vote in the coming election.

The Lutheran church will enjoy its annual services at the pavilion at Riverside park.

Programs for Sunday include the following:

Presbyterian Church (Sixth and Washington)
The morning service hour, 11:00 o'clock, Sunday, will be devoted to a report of the work of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A., by C. M. Humphreys, who attended as elder-commissioner representing the Presbytery of Grande Ronde. This will be most informative to all Presbyterians, and of much interest to all who would know of the work of this large denomination. Miss Gladys Miller will preside at the organ console. Special music will be a feature of the service.

Another session of the Bible school Sunday morning, 9:45 o'clock.

Christian Endeavor at 6:30.
Baptist Church (Sixth and Spring)
Sunday morning at the Baptist church, the pastor will depart from his custom and will review the statement of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's statement of why he is in favor of repeal of the 18th amendment. Special music will be furnished by the choir.

The Baptist young people will have charge of the evening service beginning at 7:00. The pastor will be absent as he is scheduled to speak at Summerville at 8:00 on the importance of getting out the dry vote in the coming election. The subject for the young people's meeting will be "Our Need of Friends." Miss Mertie Whitmer will be the leader. There will be music by the orchestra. All are cordially invited to attend.

Hours of services are: Bible school, 9:45; morning worship, 11:00; B. Y. P. U., 7:00; Thursday evening prayer meeting, 8:00.

Zion English Lutheran Church (M Avenue near Fourth)
Instead of the regular Sunday morning service at the church worship will be held at 11:00 o'clock in the pavilion at Riverside park. The service will include hymns, prayers, responsive readings and a sermon by the pastor, Rev. Edwin W. Bracher. Following the worship service there will be a picnic dinner, for which each family is asked to bring a basket dinner. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this picnic service.

Since there will be no regular session of the Sunday school the children and their parents are especially invited to attend the service at the park at 11:00 and stay for the dinner.

There are no devotional meetings of the Luther League during the month of July.

First Church of Christ, Scientist (First and Washington)
Services Sunday are at 11 a. m., following Sunday school at 9:45 o'clock. Wednesday evening services begin at 8 p. m. The reading room in the West Jacobson building is open from 1 to 4:30 p. m. daily. The subject for Sunday's service is "Life."

The golden text is, "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent" (John 17:3).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson is the following from the Bible: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honor" (Prov. 3:13, 16).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "When understanding changes the standpoint of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of life, the control of soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle. This must be the climax before harmonious and immortal man is obtained and his capabilities revealed" (p. 322).

Church of the Nazarene (On X at Birch)
Following Sunday school at 9:45 a. m., the morning service will begin at 11 o'clock. Rev. Daniel L. Swartz, pastor, will speak on the subject "Confidence in The Midst of Trials."

The young people will meet at 8:45 p. m. and at 7:30 o'clock evening services of an evangelistic nature will be held.

A mid-week meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Church of God (Spruce and X)
Rev. S. W. Woods, of Clarkston, Wash., and Rev. E. E. McKenney, of Freewater, Ore., are expected at the Church of God on Monday night, July 17. Services will be held each night beginning at 8 p. m. to continue ten nights. The public is invited.

Sunday services include Sunday school at 9:45 and morning worship at 11 a. m. The subject of Rev. H. S. Fulton's sermon will be "Things We Believe."

The young people will meet at 7 p. m. for a study of the Isaia family with Mrs. Fulton in charge.

"Behold the Man" will be the subject of the sermon at 8 p. m.

Sermonette

Edited by Harriet R. MacDonald

What does the Lord require of thee, oh man, but to do justly and love mercy and walk humbly with thy God.—Micah 6:8.

The whole aim of the Bible as a book of instruction is to lead us to this state that we may become useful and worthy citizens not only in heaven but in the kingdom of God among men on this earth. As means of spiritual instruction, the story of the resurrection presents a two-fold aspect. First, the theme of immortality, of continued existence beyond the extinction of the natural body we term "death." What becomes of us after we die may seem of little importance as we live from day to day. Yet when we consider that the grave is not the end of all human endeavor, we must pause to consider what kind of lives we desire to live after this natural body has ceased to function. It is indeed an appalling thought that we shall never die, that we shall go on being ourselves. This life is only one of preparation, it is true, but that fact makes it doubly important to us.

To have spiritual life is to live according to the precepts of the Divine—to love one's neighbor as oneself. About this, there is nothing mysterious. There is no sleight of hand in salvation or regeneration. There are no elect and there is no magic formula which will save us. There is nothing complicated about Christianity. It is as clear, as simple and as unclouded as the sunshine of noonday.

Registration decreases in connection with the election, today is the last day to turn in absent voter ballots to the county clerk.

Final state registration figures were announced yesterday and Oregon's eligible voters for the election July 21 total 434,791, representing a decrease of 51,355 from the last general election.

Union county's registration fell off 643 for an eight per cent decrease.

"SPEC" KEENE VISITOR HERE
Roy S. "Spec" Keene, director of athletics at Willamette university, left this morning for Salem, after a short stay in La Grande where he discussed American Legion junior baseball of which he is the state manager. He also visited Charles H. Reynolds.

In other words, Baxter and Godwin are running as "dry" delegates and Bull and McLaughlin as "wets."

ESKIMO STUDENT AT EAST NORMAL IS INTERVIEWED

"Almost half the graduation class in Anchorage, Alaska, go outside after finishing high school," said Romaka Kamkoff, an Eskimo student at the Eastern Oregon Normal school, to the complete bewilderment of the reporter who was discussing Alaska with her. Noticing the puzzled expression of her interlocutors, Miss Kamkoff hastened to explain the "outside," as used in Alaska, means leaving Alaska to go to the United States.

Miss Kamkoff, who will be graduated from the Eastern Oregon Normal school in July, has had a rich background of experience which will be helpful to her when she returns to her home to teach. Her grandfather was one of the Russians who came over to develop the mining and fur industries in Alaska. His full name was Kolmakoff, which Romaka has shortened for convenience. He settled at Kotlik lake, which he named. There he developed extensive mining enterprises. On the campus of the school of mines at the College of Alaska in Fairbanks, which ranks among the finest schools of mines in the United States, is the log cabin which Mr. Kolmakoff erected when he settled in Alaska. This cabin was found by a research party of the College of Alaska and moved to Fairbanks. It now stands on the campus of that institution as a memorial of old mining days.

"I hope that I will be able to teach in one of the missions in Northern Alaska," said Miss Kamkoff when questioned as to the type of teaching she wished to do. "There are, you know, two types of schools in Alaska, the government and the territorial. The government schools include the missions; the schools for the Alaskan Indians, who are in the southern part of Alaska; and the Eskimos, who are in the northern. The territorial schools are for the white children."

All children, whether native or white, attend the same high schools. After graduation, about half the class come to the States to secure more education or go to the College of Alaska. "There is very little teacher training offered in Alaska," said Miss Kamkoff, "so most of us come to Washington or Oregon to equip ourselves for teaching. We are hoping that a strong department will be developed in the College of Alaska, which is the only college in Alaska. The Alaskan bureau of education at Juneau supervises education and maintains high standards."

"Probably the most difficult teaching position in Alaska is that of teacher in the village schools of that territory. There a teacher must not only be a good teacher, but a nurse, doctor, and sometimes policeman. She usually has charge of all the health work in the village. Since there are so many responsibilities connected with the position, only the most experienced teachers are secured for them."

Miss Kamkoff was born near the mouth of the Yukon where her family operated a mine. From there, they moved to Anchorage so that the children could attend school. Miss Kamkoff spent several years traveling with her mother, and received most of her elementary school education in a boarding school in Seattle. She returned to Anchorage, though, to attend high school. After graduation, which she achieved, by the way, in three years, she came to La Grande to equip herself for teaching in the mission schools of Alaska. — News of the Normals.

Baumgart Writes For "Oregon Democrat"

Mr. Baumgart as the slogan adopted by the local organization.

"Conflicting thoughts of right and wrong are now being expounded, and where the new Democratic policies of advancement are thoroughly explained, the result is a new general feeling of faith, in restoration and progress," he writes. "It is only natural that the Democratic party could enter fertile field; natural, because it is characteristic of a Democrat to be of service and lend a helping hand to the misinformed."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON IN RHYME
By Carlos A. Plummer

"DEBORAH"
Judges 4:4-10, 13-15; 5:1-3. When Israel was sore oppressed By Jabin's cruelty, Came Deborah to give them rest And from their foes to free.

She was a famous prophetess With whom the Lord abode; Also a gifted poetess, And wrote her famous ode.

A Judge of Israel was she, Whose judgment they could trust, With wisdom rare the right to see, And differences adjust.

She dwelt beneath her palm-tree fair Of coccoanut or date, And many came for judgment there In matters small and great.

She went with Barak and his host To Tabor's mountain height; She saw their foes in Kishon lost When they were put to flight.

Then Deborah and Barak sang Their song of victory, Until their joyful praises rang Their foes' defeat to see.
