Hutton To Sue For a Divorce From Evangelist

LOS ANGELES, July 17 (AP) — The marriage of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, blonde evangelist of Angelus Temple, and David Hutton, portly singer, moved into the divorce courts today in a suit in which Hutton alleged he had heard that she wished to sever marital ties with him.

Hutton's complaint, filed after 22 months of wedded life, the last of which were rife with rumors that all was not well between the couple, charged that before the evangelist went abroad last January she let it be known she wished to "eliminate" him from the temple.

For some time after Mrs. McPherson-Hutton sailed to Europe, Hutton was regarded publicly as the business manager of the religious edifice in which the evangelist had preached her way to prominence.

The complaint alleged that the plaintiff had been "fired" from the temple under orders from the defendant while she was in Europe.

GUARDSMEN TO DRILL TONIGHT

The weekly drill period of Company E, 186th Infantry will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the armory, with several more enlistments to be made, according to Capt. Walter A. Bean, commanding the company.

Seven recruits were signed up a week ago, and more changes were to be made in the unit.

TAMPA JUNIORS KEEP GOLF TITLES AWAY FROM ELDERS

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The juniors have it on Tampa's golf courses.

Amateur titles here seldom get out of junior hands, because Harry Root Jr., Maynard Ramsey Jr., and Jack Taylor Jr., are about the best golfers in these parts. Root is present city champion.

The three juniors, along with Jim Warren and George Edmondson, carried Tampa's colors in the southern amateur championship at Atlanta. Root, who is 18, recently won the city championship for the second time. Taylor, 21, holds the Palma Ceia club championship, having defeated Ramsey, who is but 16, in the 36-hole title playoff.

Queen Presents Prize

Queen Ruth of the Mid-Columbia regatta, held July 3-4 at Vancouver, Wash., congratulates Kenneth Hayslip, winner of the 25-mile General Four-Star event for class C boats with his hydroplane, Whoozitt, powered by a 20 h. p. outboard motor, as her majesty presents him with his certificate for first prize. Leonard Davis and Sig Unander finished second and third, respectively. All three winners were from Vancouver. The event, one of the exciting races on the opening program, was sponsored by General Petroleum corporation, which furnished all the prizes. First prize was 100 gallons of the new General Four-Star gasoline and five gallons of Socony motor oil; second prize was 75 gallons of the company's new motor fuel, and third prize was a $10 scrip book, good in trade at any General station. An exciting moment in the race also is shown in the above picture, with three racing boats grouped as they round a buoy on the course, with the Interstate bridge spanning the Columbia in the background. The regatta, conducted by the Vancouver junior chamber of commerce, was colorful and replete with many thrilling races and aquatic stunts.
