

C. W. HUNGERFORD DIES TODAY AT DEPOT ST. HOME

Charles W. Hungerford, age 68, passed away at his home at 2201 Depot street early this morning. He was born in Cold Water, Mich., and has made his home in La Grande for the past 10 years where he has been a barber most of that time.

FILLMORE RITES HERE ON FRIDAY

Funeral services for Luman Lawrence Fillmore, of 808 Jefferson avenue, who died near Pendleton yesterday while working as an extra in a film being made by a motion picture company on location in Umatilla county, will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Snodgrass and Zimmerman mortuary.

Mr. Fillmore was born in Minnesota July 9, 1876 and was 57 years and 8 days of age at the time of death. He went to Pendleton about a week ago. Death was caused by acute indigestion. Physicians said he had eaten heavily and, in spite of hot weather, he had been required to dress in winter clothing as the company was filming a winter scene.

Pierce Explains His Views on 2 Measures

With the development of the Umatilla project, which Mr. Pierce has great hopes will be selected as the site for the power project and which he understands that President Roosevelt is seriously considering, cheap electrical power will be furnished to consumers. However, if La Grande were afforded the opportunity to obtain the cheaper power, the representative believes that private interests would be able to get a sufficiently large vote to kill the necessary bond issue if a two-thirds majority vote were necessary.

FROG HEAVEN C. C. CAMP TO BE OPENED

(Continued From Page One) and bath houses have been finished and almost all of the tents have been erected. A few army officers and 200 enlisted workers, all but 21 of whom are Oregon boys, are now in the camp.

Streets have been marked off by stone pilings and stone walks. Water facilities consist of hydrants at convenient places. There is a first aid tent to care for minor injuries and ailments; a commissary where candy and tobacco might be obtained on credit; a refrigerator made from wood and gunny sacks at the top of which runs cold water in a trough. The water dripping through the sacks keeps the materials in the refrigerator cool.

The water system is one of the finest to be had in a C. C. camp. It flows some 9000 gallons a day with a 3000 gallon reserve at the reservoir. It is cold at all times and, as proclaimed by the users, excellent. The mess hall, a wooden structure, is a long narrow building that seats over 200 in comfort and at one end a kitchen is being constructed. Dances will be held here at intervals. The bath house contains about six shower baths as well as a room for laundry.

Good Meals Served The camp is self-sustaining in that the occupants serve themselves, do their own washing and mending. The meals are cooked by experienced cooks and contain frequent servings of meat, fish and vegetables. Recreations are many, including baseball, boxing, reading, radio and volleyball. The recreation tent, a large 20x50 foot canvas, is piled high with papers and magazines and outside a volleyball net is much in evidence.

Until now most of the work in the camp has consisted of building, but restoration work, road and trail building will commence immediately. The forestry officials will begin fire prevention education work shortly. Sundays are days of rest and the C. C. enlisted men can either choose Pendleton or La Grande for the weekend or may stay in the camp if they desire. Transportation is furnished as there are about 10 trucks at their disposal.

However, meals will be cooked as usual and they may stay at Frog Heaven and read, mend, wash, eat, sleep or do as they wish. Work hours are from 8 to 12 in the morning and 1 to 4 in the afternoon and meals are ready at 6:30, 12 and 5:30. The bath house is not the only opportunity to enjoy water as two miles west of the camp is a natural hot water swimming tank in which the boys may swim for the sum of $1 a month.
