Blend Logans and Cherries
Have you ever found loganberries to be slightly sour, and canned cherries slightly sweet or bland to suit your taste? If so, Miss Lucy Cuse, extension specialist in nutrition, so well known in this valley, suggests that you combine the two in canning, and thus get a blended fruit, pleasing in flavor. The loganberries are added to the pitted sweet cherries in equal or portions as desired, and canned by whatever method one prefers.

From Tacoma
In mentioning a visitor at the John Bowers home, at Island City, Mrs. Bowers's sister, Mrs. Jean Morris, of Tacoma, we missed one of the important members of the family—Jaak Morris, the baby son, who is quite the center of attraction.

Countrywoman's Club
Because it was impossible for many of the members to attend the picnic held the fourth of July at the mountain ranch of Mrs. Sara Anson, it was decided and plans were made for another picnic to be held the last Sunday in July at Pine Cone, when the Countrywoman's club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carrie Hamann in La Grande. The affair is to be for the families and friends of the club members and each family is asked to take a watermelon along with the lunch basket. Following the business session, Mrs. O. C. Fishman had charge of the entertainment which consisted of a short program made up of readings given by Mrs. Fred Huffman and two of her pupils in dramatic art. The numbers follow:

WORLD WHIRLING
PASADENA, Cal.—According to Prof. Alfred Wilson, astronomer at the Mount Wilson observatory, the earth is whirling about the center of the galaxy, its star system, at the rate of 9,000 miles a minute. It is also revolving about the sun at 1,110 miles a minute, besides turning about on its axis once a day.

INTRODUCED TO PARENTS
NEW YORK—Marecham Kornahrens, 9-1/2 year old girl, had to be introduced to her own father and mother when she arrived in this country from Germany. She was born after her father came from Germany and her mother came to America a year later, leaving the babe with her grandmother.

Poultrymen Will Meet At O. S. C. 27, 28

The tenth annual Oregon Poultry convention is announced for July 27 and 28 at Oregon State college, where it will be held in the usual place in special quarters near the poultry and veterinary plants on the west campus.

This convention is open to every poultryman in the state without charge, although combined on the educational program will be the annual meeting of the Oregon Poultrymen's association, headed by P. H. Cockell, of Milwaukie. This association has long served as the official "mouthpiece" of the Oregon poultry industry and is constantly looking after its interests, say those familiar with its work.

Featuring the educational program this year will be methods to use in lowering the cost of production, announces A. G. Lunn, head of the poultry department. Included will be reports from experiment station workers on the chief developments in this field during the past year.

Of special interest in the disease control field will be a report by Dr. W. T. Johnson, poultry pathologist, on the latest developments in occidiosis control. Dr. Johnson is recognized as probably the outstanding authority in this country in the study of this trouble.

Peavines Should Be Destroyed

Every patch of garden peas left to ripen and shatter its seed after the peas are no longer suitable for table use will become a veritable hatching for next year's supply of pea weevils, warns A. O. Larsen, federal entomologist at Oregon State college experiment station.

As nearly every gardener knows, the weevils have been exceptionally abundant in gardens this year, possibly because there were fewer field peas for them to infest. The result has been that late season peas have been so badly infested as to affect their market value.

In many patches practically every pea has been infested, which means even a short row left to ripen may liberate a thousand or more adult weevils later. Pulling the vines and feeding them to ones, or plowing them under or even burning them will destroy all the larvae. One can save enough for seed if this seed is fumigated as soon as harvested—otherwise it will be worthless anyway.

So far science has found no way to combat this pest except by getting rid of the adults by preventing their development. Community cooperation on cleanup of pea vines is the only method yet found worthy of recommendation.

Chester Morris plays the part of the "city dude" and Genevieve Tobin of the farmer's daughter who goes to the city. Tex Rankin also was there yesterday and Wednesday in a new low wing monoplane in which Morris and Tobin are supposed to fly from the city to the farm.

In explaining the technique of making talking pictures, Mr. Wright says that first the principals rehearse their lines after which the director blows a whistle, the spectators become "deadly silent" and then the camera begins grinding. The microphone for the sound is placed with the camera set on a dolly which moves with the actors.

Directors are the hard boiled men of legend, but are patient and helpful to the actors who at best have a tedious time of taking and retaking scenes.

GRAIN MARKETS ARE AGAIN IDLE

By The Associated Press
For the second successive day today futures trading in grains at the Chicago and Kansas City boards was barred. The suspension action followed a spectacular decline of stock prices on the New York exchange in a 0.592,670 share day that brought back memories of 1929.

The decision to suspend trading for another day was reached by directors of the Chicago board after a five-hour conference. Peter B. Carey, president, said it was requested by other exchanges to give clerical staffs opportunity to catch up with the huge volume of earlier in the week business.

Kansas City soon followed with similar action and announcements of other suspension were expected before the opening hour today.

Two-hour trading in cotton and securities was permitted in Chicago today and both there and Kansas City 15-minute periods were set aside for the holders of weekly privileges.

Chicago Tough In Police Net

Arrest of James (Fur) Sammons, one of Chicago's most notorious plug-uglies, in Kansas City, was a byproduct of the search for machine-gun gangsters who murdered four peace officers before the Kansas City union station. Sammons was exonerated of any part in the massacre, but a 30-year criminal record gave police several unsatisfied charges on which to hold him.

Weaker Tone In Oregon Market; Butterfat Firm

PORTLAND, July 22 (AP)—While there was no session of the produce exchange on account of the election, the general undertone of the trade appeared weaker with a tendency to shade values both there and on the open market.

This was not due to any increase in the churning, for the reverse was true in practically all centers along the Pacific slope. The weakness was chiefly the result of accumulations forced by creamery interests at out-state points who held their supplies previous to the advance in price and then forced a great bulk of stuff on the market. This appeared more than the trade could readily take care of and shaded values here.

However with the decreased make, there continued a firm market for butterfat.

There was no change in the general egg market situation for the weekend. Demand for quality stuff was fully up to current supply. The only drawback was in hot weather offerings as well as poor storage goods.

State to Check On Chauffeurs Not Licensed

Formal notice to state police and city enforcement authorities concerning the failure of some 4,000 chauffeurs to obtain their new badges, will be made this week, according to word just received from Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state. Of the 13,628 registered chauffeurs in Oregon on July 30, only 3,133 had applied for licenses for the current period as compared with 7,313 issued at this same time a year ago, it was said.

To avoid action from enforcement officials, all persons driving motor vehicles for compensation should attend to the renewing of chauffeur's registration at once, Hoss suggested. Such registrations can be completed in a minimum of time under present arrangements which provide for a waiver of all examinations for chauffeurs registered during the period ending June 30, 1933. Newly licensed chauffeurs will be required to submit to a test.

Application blanks for commercial operators can be secured from state examiners or by writing directly to Hal E. Hoss at Salem.

A similar drive against delinquent private operators will be instituted by police after September 1, at which time all operators cards issued before July 1, 1931, will become void.

REV. AND MRS. WALZ RETURN FROM ALBANY

Rev. and Mrs. J. George Walz returned Thursday evening from their trip to Albany, where Mr. Walz attended the annual meeting of the Synod of Oregon of the Presbyterian church, a commissioner from the Presbytery of Grande Ronde. They spent part of two days in Portland meeting former La Grande folks. Mrs. Gustav Wisler and daughter, Katherine; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Macpherson, son John and daughter Helen. They drove to Salem on Saturday by way of Amity calling upon Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Mossman. Mrs. Mossman, who has been ill for several months, is not improving as rapidly as was hoped for. At Salem they met Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Smith, and at Albany Mrs. McDowell. All expressed themselves as having happy memories of their sojourn in La Grande. On the return trip the Walzes called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Longfellow and daughter Patricia. Mr. Longfellow is very busy in arranging the program for the school year. Mr. Walz will be in his pulpit on Sunday morning, and will be happy to meet all his parishioners.

PORTLAND NOSES OUT MISSIONS IN FRIDAY GAME 1-0

By The Associated Press
Portland and the Missions held the Coast league spotlight today despite the fact that Joe De Maggio, of San Francisco and Jim Ogleby, of Los Angeles had run their consecutive hitting marks to 57 and 43, respectively.

The 1932 champions and the Reds played one of the greatest games of the year last night at San Francisco with the Beavers winning 1-0 on an unearned rally. The two teams collected only three hits, the Portlanders getting one and the Missions two.

Johnny Babich turned in one of his finest pitching performances, holding the Beavers hitless until Earl Sheely singled in the ninth. The young Mission right-hander literally threw the game away in the second when he walked Johnny Monroe and then threw wide to second. Monroe went to third and scored on Palmisano's long fly. Orv Mohler's triple and Louie Almada's single were the only hits off Sam Gibson.

De Maggio made it 57 straight with an infield single as Sacramento nosed out San Francisco, 7-6.

Ogleby banged out a double and single and scored three runs as Los Angeles captured a slugfest at Oakland, 11-10.

Hollywood lost ground in the pennant race, dividing a double-header with Seattle. Vance Page's 5-hit tossing gave the Stars the opener, 4-2. Although out-hit 10-4 in the 7-inning nightcap, the Indians came back to win 5-4.

In order to stimulate travel by train, 3500 employees of a New England railroad system have been selling railroad tickets to consumers in their homes.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, Au-teuil, France, July 22 (AP)—The American doubles team of George Martin Lot Jr., and John Van Ryn today put the United States back into the inter-zone Davis cup tennis battle with England by defeating Fred Perry and George Patrick Hughes, 7-6, 6-4, 6-1.

It was the first victory for the Americans, who dropped both singles matches yesterday, leaving England with a 2-1 advantage.

SAVING OF STRAW RECOMMENDED
DALLAS — In addition to carrying on a program of emergency forage crop recommendations to replace the hay and pastures frozen out last winter, the county agent's office here is also urging the conservation of straw to be fed with molasses and protein concentrates this winter, thus lessening the shortage of winter feed. J. R. Beck, county agent, has been gathering prices on cotton seed meal by the ton and on molasses by the barrel and by tank cars.
