

TRAINING SCHOOL KIDDIES PUBLISH THEIR 'CHIEFTAIN'

Just off the press, another Normal Chieftain chronicles the news events from the J. H. Ackerman Training school. The paper, which is in magazine form, has on the cover page a drawing by Reva Pulp, of the first B grade, in which she represents a circus with a clown and balloons.

Some of the latest news flashes are: In Alaska the people live in tents in summer and in winter in igloos. I am making an igloo." Jean McCoskrie, 3A.

"On Thursday morning Miss Johnson's group went on a hike. We went up Deal's canyon. We saw a big pine tree. It gave lots of shade so we ate our lunch there. Some didn't have lunches so we shared with the ones who did. We had a lovely time."

"We had three frogs in our room, and we studied them. They were green but they could change color. The frogs croaked. They eat insects," signed by Gordon Barwell, Jeanne Ispell, Donald Hertzog, Betty Green, Hillegard Rettig, Reva Pulp and Nancy Fitzgerald, all of the 1B grade.

"What Butterflies Can Do" is the title of another of the news notes by Peter Russell, Patsy Gilbert, Jean Brady, Patricia Elder, Raymond Collins and Betty Jean Wallace, 1B. It is: "Butterflies can sing songs. We can read the first grade news. We can write our names. We can color pictures. We can make animals out of clay."

Members of the fairy reading group, Barbara Jean Melancon, Patricia Lee Tuckey, Billy Badle, Bobby Hyde, Carol Larson, Jimmy McPherson and Dick Bean, 1B, write, "We are the fairy reading group. We read about 'Little Black Sambo' and we are going to play it. We all have a part in the play. We will give it Thursday morning. We hope many will be there. This is the end of our story."

A startling exposé of lions, illustrated by Barbara Jane Webb, says, "Lions like water. Lions growl. Lions live in the circus. Lions roar. Lions have long fur around their heads." Other circus animals are described by the 1B with illustrations.

In the literary section, Wilma Birch, 7A, has written an excellent poem, "The Little Roly Poly Man."

"The little Roly Poly man came to our house a bumen' one day, He said that he was hungry, so I gave him some bread. He ate it so very fast, I surely thought that he would choke. I gave him an egg that Polly laid. It was so round and roly. When he got ready to leave he said as politely as can be, 'Thank you, little miss, thank you very much.' I did not want him to leave, I pulled his coat tail, and I pulled his hand. But he shook me off. Down the street he fled, just as fast as he could go."

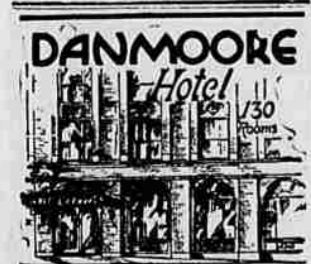

And I did not see the 'Roly Poly' man, anymore, as long as I lived." Yvau French, 3A, has written a clever little poem, entitled "Forty Miles an Hour": "Forty miles an hour as it goes riding back. The train comes up the track! Forty miles an hour as it goes riding back. Forty miles an hour as it drives in the station. I wonder if the engineer ever gets a vacation."

Some homely philosophy is found in "Fishin'," by Loren Long, fifth grade: "Goin' fishin' lots of fun. When yer sittin' in the sun, When yer catchin' fish so fast, That you wish it would always last. Don't you think it's really fun, Goin' fishin' in the sun?"

"The Bumble Bee in Spring" is also well done by Donald Peterson, fifth grade. "As I was lying in my bed, I saw a bee right by my head. I swat at him with my handkerchief. Only to find out that he was the chief. I saw him coming for my head, I ducked way down in my bed. The bee kept coming, A loud song humming, But one thing I could see Was his stinger gone, when he left me. But now I know where it is— It's mine; all mine; not his."

To sign the agreement, prepare codes and in all ways co-operate with Mr. Roosevelt. The general merchandise committee, consisting of Harry McCarthy, Harry McKinlay, Homer Leffel, Jack Ferris, Chase Bohnenkamp and J. L. Hedden, met today and started preliminary steps toward general adherence to the program. A meeting of the grocers' committee is scheduled for Saturday, and a meeting of the druggists' committee probably will be held tomorrow.

POSTMAN ADMINISTRATION COURIER

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The postman became the administration courier through the land today in delivery of the pledges for higher wages and more employment, to be signed forthwith by employers in agreement with President Roosevelt. Awaiting an even more active response than the Roosevelt letter, the postman's committee is scheduled for Saturday, and a meeting of the druggists' committee probably will be held tomorrow.

This is represented by an intention upon interpretations of the general wage and work code, to which all employers are being asked to subscribe, of a nature to win voluntary cooperation everywhere.

Queries by the hundreds have rained upon Washington since first the blanket proposition was advanced textually; and now Hugh S. Johnson and his fellow administrators are getting around to answering.

Local committees, were being shipped orders extending the scope of the cotton textile industrial code to include manufacturers of cordage and twine, hosiery, garments and pajamas.

The recovery unit reported that distribution of the forms intended to bring shorter work hours for millions and new jobs for additional millions, was proceeding without hitch in all areas.

Bales of additional material, posters and stickers bearing the characteristic blue eagle of the campaign, together with detailed instructions to local committees, were being shipped everywhere.

More than 17,000,000 pieces were being distributed.

World Meeting Takes Recess; F. R. Sends Word

the world congress as a failure. President Roosevelt's cheering words to Mr. MacDonald came after John Maiky, Russian ambassador at London and head of the U. S. S. R. delegation, had launched the most bitter broadside of criticism of the entire session.

"The practical results of the first session of the world economic conference have been zero," declared the round-faced Soviet diplomat.

"A comparatively small shock may be sufficient to let loose the terrible disaster of war," he exclaimed after outlining his views that the conference had failed.

President Roosevelt's message, in closing, said: "You recognize with me that new adjustments are necessary to meet world and national conditions which have never existed before in history. You can count on our continued efforts toward world rehabilitation because we are convinced that continuation of the world economic conference will result in practical good in many fields of joint endeavor."

M'GEE MUST PAY PENALTY JURY RULES

bring the death sentence where the victim of the kidnapping was unharmed. The jury deliberated three and three-quarters hours last night and reached the verdict soon after he-suming deliberations this morning.

Brandishing weapons, two kidnapers, alleged by the state to have been McCree and Clarence Stevens, forced their way into the McElroy home May 27 as Miss McElroy was taking a bath.

Dressed, Miss McElroy was hurried to a motor car outside. She was forced to sit on the floor, a lagrobe over her head. The kidnapers took her to a cottage near Shawnee, Kan., and chained her to the wall of a squalid basement room which she shared with some chickens.

Then negotiations were opened with her father, H. F. McElroy. He arranged for her release thirty hours later. Then an intensive police search got under way. A tip brought McCree under suspicion, interception of a telegram at Leavenworth, Kan., which dealt with plans to trade a motor car, resulted in McCree's arrest at Amarillo, Texas, June 1.

The same day Clarence Clegg was arrested in Kansas City, Kan. McCree's brother, George, later was arrested at Rossmore, Va. Both face kidnaping charges, and the trial of George McCree was under way today as the jury gave its verdict against his brother.

More than half the ransom was recovered from the three men arrested.

CUMMINGS PLEADED WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The conviction of Walter McCree for the kidnaping of Mary McElroy brought an immediate expression of satisfaction today from Attorney General Cummings.

BUCKSKIN SHOES FOR FALL

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Four years after their introduction by the Prince of Wales, brown and gray buckskin shoes for men show signs of becoming popular in America this fall.

They are the result, says A. G. Mudge, stylist for a large shoe company here, of the efforts of manufacturers to make a shoe for fall to take the place of sport shoes for summer.

Shorter vamps, narrow lasts and not a few "boot" heels will be seen this autumn, Mudge predicts. Plain and more tailored effects, with fewer wing-tipped brogues, are forecast. Many of the browns and gray buckskins are being shown trimmed with calf.

SEERS SHORT APPRENTICE TERM FOR SOUTHERN PROS DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Larry Nabholz, Dallas golf pro, is a leader in a movement to have the Professional Golfers' association approve a shorter apprentice term of youngsters learning their "trade" in southern states.

The present five-year requirement, Nabholz contends, is unfair to embryonic pros in the south, where golf is played the year around and professional work 12 months. In the north and east the season is scarcely more than six months, so apprentices there put in only about half as much labor.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of saline, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only make the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remem-ber, substitute, 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.
