

Portland Golf Team Second In Cup Competition

By Frank G. Gorrle

EASTMORELAND MUNICIPAL COURSE, Portland, Ore., Aug. 3 (AP)—They played two days from early to dark and traveled more than 100 miles over this twisting lake-bound course, but they were far from settling the qualifying issue in the national public links golf tournament for the start of match play competition today.

Medallist honors were up in the air pending a play-off Sunday by Leslie Leal, Birmingham, Wash., mill worker, and Tab Boyer, of Portland.

RESPONSE TO N. R. A. PLAN IS SPREADING

tinued to come from Washington. The administration ruled today it could not attempt to abrogate contracts existing as a result of collective bargaining between capital and labor.

Also, it was announced that executives whose salaries exceed $35 a week, registered pharmacists, or other professional persons employed in their profession, together with outside salesmen, are specifically excluded from the provisions of the temporary code of wages and hours approved by the administration for retailers. Since the code does not apply to them they do not have to be paid overtime when they work more than a 40-hour week, and there is no limit upon their hours.

Contract Decision Important

The decision on contracts cleared the way for big employers of labor under contract to join the N. R. A. without altering existing wages and hour terms. The employer affected, to obtain his Blue Eagle insignia, must conform in other ways to the wage and employment increasing move, however.

In driving forward the mobilization for a national campaign to place public opinion actively behind the re-employment drive, the administration announced more than 200 speakers, including governors, congressmen and even cabinet members, drafted to stump the country.

STATUS OF CODES WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The status of codes of fair practice presented by major industries and trades and pending before the recovery administration:

Steel — Hearing held, labor terms, production and price control features being ironed out in private conferences.

Coal — Hearings moved up to Aug. 9 to hurry solution of labor troubles.

Automobiles — On file for hearing probably around August 15.

Retail trade (except food and drugs) — Set for hearing August 14, with labor terms temporarily in effect on voluntary basis.

Banking — Temporarily in effect, hearing date to be set.

Food dealers — Temporarily in effect on voluntary basis, hearing date pending.

Lumber — Hearings over, revision nearly completed.

A collection of codes for textile lines and branches of the clothing industry also are in various stages of development, with a miscellany of agreement ranging from a theater code to one for wallpaper manufacturers.

TO ADHERE TO CODE
LAWRENCE, Mass., Aug. 3 (AP)—The worsted divisions of three large textile mills employing 25,000 operatives today announced, effective next Monday, adherence to the woolen code; 40-hours work with 48 hours pay, and, in addition, a flat 10 per cent wage increase.

The mills were the American Woolen company, the Arlington Mills and the Pacific Mills.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE FLOOD IN BIG CITY

in sweeping the Champa street bridge away.

Use Candle Light
Employees in business firms were working by candle light.

Public service company officials said they were making every effort to restore the power and light service by putting emergency equipment into use.

It was unofficially estimated #000 persons were driven from homes in the city along Cherry creek and the South Platte river.

Damage to fashionable homes in the Denver country club and Cherry Hills districts was not expected to be large as the flood waters started to recede after filling streets in those areas.

Two steel and concrete bridges and one of concrete which carry traffic on the busy streets of Logan, Curtis and Colorado boulevard were so torn and battered by the waters and their heavy load of timbers, trees and other wreckage, that they collapsed early today.

Police Warn Sleepers
Police, forewarned of the water menace, raced through city districts along the creek and routed out sleeping residents. In the agricultural area between Denver and Castlewood dam, 40 miles away, telephone operators and volunteers warned farmers and their families who were in danger.

No loss of life had been reported early today, but it was feared some persons along the route of the flood might have been caught and drowned in their homes or where highways cross the water course. Mrs. Claude Hill, 50, was drowned Wednesday near Colorado Springs when caught by a similar cloudburst.

Where the creek poured from its banks in downtown Denver, near its junction with the South Platte river, water was running into the fire and police building and was approaching the city auditorium.

Officials at the Denver Union station said there was six inches of water covering the floor of the main building. Market street, center of the city's wholesale produce houses, was under three feet of water and part of the Market street bridge over the creek had been carried away.

All activity in the Denver yards of the Moffatt railroad was at a standstill after the waters had washed out the railroad's trestle over the South Platte.

RAILROAD TRACKS WASHED OUT STRASBURG, Colo., Aug. 3 (AP)—Torrential rains beat down in this region today washed out a hundred feet of Union Pacific railroad track and swept away several highway bridges. Strasburg is 30 miles east of Denver.

At Byers the Union Pacific reported a quarter of a mile of track washed out. Water was creeping into the main streets and homes were flooded.
