More Heat Hits The Northwest; 100 Here

Washington county, but prospects were they would resume their destructive march through valuable timber as humidity dropped. Other fires were burning in Curry county.

Heat in some of the grain areas forced suspension of harvesting during the worst part of the day.

Apples and pears in the Hood River valley were said to have been badly sunburned in some districts by the high temperatures.

Forestry officials feared more serious outbreak of fires. Officers in charge of civilian conservation corps camps had instructions to be prepared to throw their personnel at fire lines on short notice.

More than 350 men were engaged in a desperate fight with the Washington-Tillamook county fire. Shifting winds and tinder-like forests made the task a precarious one and the men proceeded with utmost caution.

A light rain was reported from Five Points this morning and Baker believed its heat wave near a break with a cloudy sky and indications of rain. More clouds were appearing hourly in La Grande.

SUICIDE IS ADVANCED AS DEATH CAUSE

and death apparently was instantaneous, officers said.

No motive can be assigned to the shooting by her husband, except perhaps that she was a little despondent. They had had no trouble, he told officers, and always had lived peacefully together.

Her husband saw her leave the family home about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, presumably to go to a neighbor's place about a mile away. It is believed she stopped at the cabin, sat down and shot herself.

Coroner C. L. Booth and Sheriff A. B. Miller, of Enterprise, were notified and drove to the scene late in the night, bringing the body to Enterprise.

She was about 47 years of age, industrious and usually cheerful. She leaves no children. Survivors include her widowed husband, a sister, Mrs. Charles McAnulty, of Enterprise, and her mother, Mrs. Robert Deckin, of Pendleton. The body will be taken to Pilot Rock tomorrow for burial.

The Harveys came to Wallowa county about two years ago from near Pilot Rock where they had been in the sheep business and bought the Charles Horner ranch near Powwatka. L. S. Harvey and his wife made their home with his brother on the lonely ranch, a bit off the beaten track.

AIRPORT NOW LIGHTED FROM 11:30 TO DAWN

Several La Grande people have been wondering why the beacon lights at the La Grande airport, east of this city on the Old Oregon Trail highway, have been dark the last several nights—early in the evening.

It was learned today that the lights are now turned on at 11:30 p. m. and continued on until daybreak. No airplanes are scheduled to come through here until midnight, so the new schedule has been put into effect as concerns the lighting.

WOMAN NEEDS NEW GLASSES

Anyone having a pair of spectacles that no longer are of use to them may have just the glasses to fit the eyes of a local woman who is badly in need of them but who has no finances. Incidentally, the woman is caring for an 84-year-old man. The information was given the Observer by the caretaker of Triangle city park, who has taken an interest in the family.

AT THE LIBERTY

A new high record for the number of deaths occurring in one film is set in "Terror Aboard," picture which opens tomorrow at the Liberty theatre. More than two dozen persons die, in diverse and varied manners, during the action.

John Halliday, Charlie Ruggles, Neil Hamilton, Shirley Grey, Verree Teasdale and Jack LaRue play the leading roles in the picture.

Action takes place in the Pacific ocean. A freighter steaming slowly eastward, sights a luxurious private yacht sailing an erratic course, motors wide open and apparently deserted. The freighter sends a boarding party to the ship, and the mate climbs aboard. He never returns; when the rest of the party reach the deck, they find him dead in his own blood. They also find other corpses strewed throughout the vessel — a woman frozen to death ,though the climate is tropical; a man hanging in a closet.

Then the camera flashes back several days to show the audience what happened aboard the yacht.
