Miss Anne Stange Inspiration For Charming Breakfast At the H. N. Ashby Home

Miss Anne Stange, bride elect of George William Decker, of Los Angeles, was the inspiration for a charming breakfast for which Mrs. H. N. Ashby and her daughters, Mrs. Bud Haxer and Miss Gilda Ashby, entertained yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at their home. Breakfast was served at small tables decorated with summer cut flowers in small bud vases.

The marriage of Miss Stange, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August John Stange, will be solemnized Thursday evening, Aug. 24, at 8 o'clock at the Presbyterian church and will be followed by a reception at the Stange home.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY EARLY C. E. SERVICE

The young people of the Central Church of Christ held a sunrise Christian Endeavor service on the mountain near Deal's canyon Sunday morning at five o'clock.

"Worshipping God in Nature" was the topic of the meeting which was led by Bud Price. Rev. Paul De F. Mortimore led the music during the service. Several nature readings were given. The scripture lesson was Psalms 8th chapter.

About 20 young people participated in the program after which a breakfast was prepared over the campfire.

Later the group returned for Bible school and church service.

PIONEERS AND FAMILIES IN PARK PICNIC

A large group of pioneers and their families from Baker, Union and La Grande enjoyed the picnic sponsored by the Francis Brown auxiliary to the Sons and Daughters of Union County Pioneers yesterday at Pioneer park on Catherine creek. Lunch was served at noon and the remainder of the day was spent informally.

SHOES IRK 'ALFALFA BILL', WHO RECEIVES IN SOCKS

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, after two and one-half years in office, still believes there's nothing like comfort.

He came back to his office recently, tired from a 10-hour motor trip, and a few minutes later was informed that a delegation of rural friends was calling.

The governor left his desk and walked, shoeless, into the waiting room to shake hands. Four toes of one foot were exposed as he exchanged greetings.

Long-Shouldered Yoke Latest Frock Feature

BY CLAUDETTE

Here is a dainty model . . . a gay little wisp of something soft and sheer. You will appreciate it on a warm day.

To appear comfortable, one must feel comfortable, so just slip on this little frock with its short, generously puffled sleeves and long-shoulder yoke, and you will be prepared for whatever activity the day has in store.

The frock would be perfectly adorable made of a soft, clinging, sheer print, utilizing crisp organdie in white, or other contrasting shade, for the yoke, bow, sleeve bands and sash.

Four yards of material will make the dress, while one yard is required for trimming. Patterns can be obtained in standard sizes from 14 to 42.

To obtain a pattern of this frock, with instructions for making, send 20 cents, coin if possible, to Claudette, 100 North Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal. Don't fail to state your size.

Are They Polite? These Boys Are After Pal's Luck

By Hugh A. Fogarty

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A new high in boyish politeness is being recorded at Father Flanagan's boys' home here.

Where deportment formerly was good among 200 otherwise homeless lads, it now reaches "double A" rating.

And it's all the result of the happy experience of Peter Christopolus, a ward taken from the home and adopted by a wealthy family of Paterson, N. J. Peter's rise has inspired other boys at the home.

Peter a Year In Home

Peter, at 14, never had known any home but an orphange, when a year ago he became a ward of the boys home where homeless youths are schooled in books and trades.

Because of his good record, Peter's picture was published in the home's monthly magazine. In far away New Jersey the picture was seen by Jean Strengs, a wealthy silk dyer.

In Peter he saw a resemblance to his son who had drowned only a year before — so that after the necessary formalities, the youngster was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Strengs.

Immediately the rest of the boys at the home sensed opportunity. Exceptional politeness has become the rule.

Now Everybody's Polite

"And it's all because of what happened to Peter," explains Mrs. W. L. Maus, an official at the home. "The boys were polite and manly before—now it is merely a case of more so.

"There is an immediate incentive for their readiness with the toothbrush, then hair-slicking, and the 'pleases' and 'thank yous' which punctuate their conversations.

Merit System Used

"We use a merit system in publishing pictures of the boys in our magazine. And now, after Peter's good fortune, all the boys are eager to have their pictures used."

Among the lads using combs, brushes and toothbrushes most industriously is William Dobbs, 13, one of Peter's best pals. William's chum now is Boyd Canterbury, 10.

But the boys are not yearning to be adopted into wealthy homes — they figure that is too much to expect.

All they ask is a permanent home with a fair chance to face the world and its problems on an equal footing with other boys.

GRAYS RETURN TO LA GRANDE

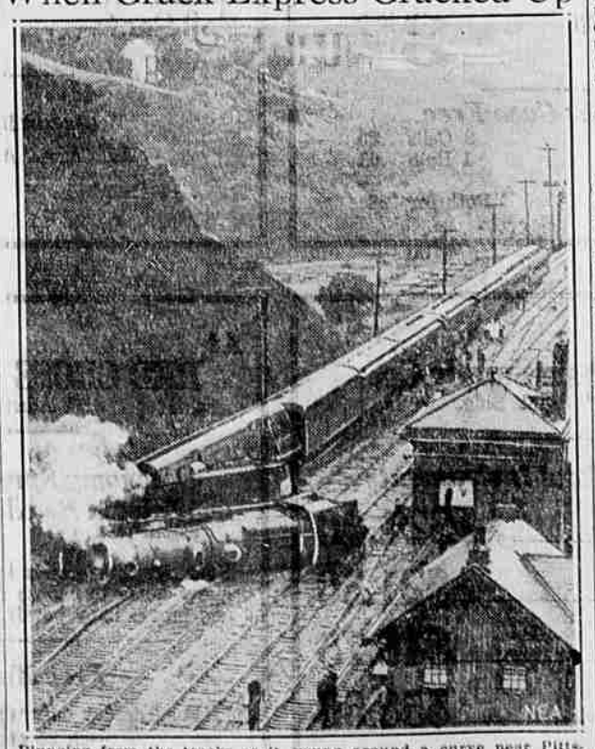
Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gray have returned to La Grande. They were married here in July and after the close of the summer term at the Normal school where Mrs. Gray was a member of the faculty, she left for a visit in Nebraska. She was met in Chicago by Mr. Gray and they drove back to La Grande. She was formerly Miss Freeda Kennedy.

OGILVIE TO SHOW CATTLE

Leonard Cooper Jr., has been working in the hayfield on the C. N. Ogilvie ranch at Cove for the past week. After the haying is done he expects to drive some of Mr. Ogilvie's prize cattle to Union to display them at the stock show.

For hot or cold dumplings, cobblers, or baked puddings, serve plain or whipped cream, lemon or vanilla sauce.

When Crack Express Cracked Up



Plunging from the tracks as it swung around a curve near Pittsburgh, Pa., the locomotive of the Duquesne Express of the Pennsylvania railroad overturned, dragging the tender and two cars from the rails. This photo was taken a few minutes after the wreck. The engine crew was injured and 300 passengers were shaken up.

JOB PRINTERS OF EASTERN OREGON WORKING ON CODE

After five hours of discussion and adjustments, commercial job printers of Union, Wallowa and Baker counties adjourned here Saturday to meet again in La Grande in two weeks. In the meantime it is expected that a permanent code for the graphic arts will have been adopted at Washington and local printers will have a more definite understanding of what the new conditions are going to be.

After a full discussion of individual problems and comparison of costs and selling prices, it was found that in a majority of shops, staples in printing have been sold in the district for much less than cost even under the former price scales of stock. With paper prices fluctuating so fast that most paper and envelope prices have been withdrawn by wholesalers the printers found themselves at sea and hope to see a stabilized market in two weeks when they meet again.

Horace Ryder, of Baker, was elected permanent chairman of the Eastern Oregon Printers association which is a skeleton organization of graphic arts trades in this section of the state. Temporary price scales covering staples were adopted for the area subject to revision when commodities and conditions entering into the costs are determined. Shops represented were the Joseph Herald, the Enterprise Chieftain, Wallowa Sun, Ryder Brothers and Hudson Printing company of Baker, L. A. Anderson, of Cove, Nelson Printing company, La Grande Printing company and the Eastern Oregon Review of La Grande.

THIS is a charmingly feminine frock for dinner or dancing which can be easily and inexpensively made even by beginners. It is softly draped at the neck and caught to form a short cape on the shoulders. Panels that curve into short hip yoke sections are lengthened on the sides of the skirt with slightly flared sections, and the waist describes a deep V in the back.

Designed in 5 sizes—34, 36, 38, 40 and 42—size 38 requires 5⅛ yards of 35-inch material plus 1-6 of a yard, 39 inches wide, for the belt. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 2¾ yards.

To secure a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, cut out this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, with Fifteen Cents in coin. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, Your Name, Address, Your Size, the number of this pattern (No. 3097x), and the name of this newspaper.

Health

Convalescent Serum

The younger the child is, the greater the hazard when it develops any of the so-called childhood diseases. Measles, for example, which is usually a mild condition in the older child, is likely to become a serious disease in the infant.

Because many of the childhood diseases are most contagious before they become apparent in the sufferer, it is usually rather difficult to protect children against becoming exposed to them.

Science therefore has sought for a method to combat the extra hazard of childhood diseases in young children and infants. Such an effective weapon has, in a measure, been found in the use of convalescent serum, or, when this is not available, the whole blood of the parents or of other adults.

One such serum is made by taking a small quantity of the blood of a patient recovering from measles and clearing it of the red blood cells and other cellular elements.

Injecting such a serum in proper quantities into infants and young children known to have been exposed to measles has proved effective in preventing the development of the disease or in rendering the attack more mild.

Convalescent serum has been used in a like manner in connection with other diseases, notably in chickenpox, in mumps, and in whooping cough. In most of the cases so treated, the convalescent serum proved of substantial value.

Whole blood taken from adults has also been employed in the treatment of measles, chickenpox, mumps and whooping-cough. While less effective than convalescent serum, whole blood also proved of value in the first three diseases.

In whooping-cough the results were not as prominent. However, both convalescent serum and adult blood modifies, that is, renders less servere the course of the whooping-cough in an appreciable number of cases.

TREE SLOWLY FILLS OUT SMITHY'S 100-YEAR HOOP

CHAGRIN FALLS, O. (AP) — Year by year a tree in the village park of Chagrin Falls is vindicating the judgment of Henry Church, blacksmith-sculptor, whose carved stone animal figures stood in front of his shop for many years.

Around the tree is an iron ring, placed there by Church in 1873, bearing the inscription "Please let me be, upon this tree, until a century I shall see."

Church estimated the size the tree would be in 100 years, and made the ring to fit. The hoop is being filled out gradually.

DUTCH CHECK GAMBLING AT OCEANSIDE CASINOS

THE HAGUE (AP) — Gambling casinos at Dutch seaside resorts are increasing to such an extent that the government has taken steps to check them.

A new form of roulette, which had been introduced to evade the law, has been banned and the home minister has warned local burgomasters not to grant licenses for any more casinos.

Recently 200 croupiers who had lost their jobs in Monte Carlo and Belgium found work at Scheveningen, Zandvoort and Noordwyk where the casinos have been crowded every day.

Eight new players have been signed by the Portsmouth, O., Spartans, professional football club.

MRS. FLORA LAST DIES SATURDAY; FUNERAL TUESDAY

Mrs. Flora Augusta Last, a resident of La Grande for the last 19 years, died at her home at 1802 Washington avenue Saturday night after five weeks illness of carcinoma.

Funeral services will be held at the Snodgrass and Zimmerman mortuary Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. J. George Walz, of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will take place in Walla Walla Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Neighbors of Woodcraft of Walla Walla in charge of services at the grave.

Mrs. Last was born in Wisconsin April 4, 1864 and was 69 years, four months and 15 days of age. She leaves her widowed husband, Fred M. Last and the following children, Rey, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Dora Rush, of La Grande; Mrs. Carrie Trollinger, of La Grande; Mrs. Hazel Parker, of Portland; Harry, of La Grande, besides other relatives.

GANDHI GROWING WEAKER IN FAST

POONA, India, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Mahatma Gandhi grew weaker today during the sixth day of his fast in protest against the government's refusal to grant him privileges to carry on his campaign for the untouchable class.

He was taken from Yeroda jail to the Civil hospital, still in custody because of his one-year jail sentence for civil disobedience. It was believed an acute attack of kidney trouble brought about the removal.

"Reunion In Vienna" Pleases Local Audiences

A Review

For those who like their motion pictures witty, sophisticated and well filmed "Reunion in Vienna", which opened for a 2-day run yesterday at the Liberty theatre, is heartily recommended. John Barrymore is cast in the role of the exiled and demoded Archduke of the Hapsburg, Diana Wynyard is the woman in the film, also a former noblewoman, while Frank Morgan is her husband, a famous psychiatrist.

The play is a brilliant vehicle for three of the screen's most illustrious stars and each stands out in the picture as a finished artist, playing their separate roles convincingly and unrestrainedly.

"Reunion in Vienna" is practically identical with the stage play, written by Robert Sherwood, which ran for a record length of time on Broadway.

COCHRAN AT WALLA WALLA ON BUSINESS

George T. Cochran, attorney for Oregon in the case of the state of Washington vs. the state of Oregon involving the water rights of the Walla Walla river, left this morning for several days of conferences to be held there with attorneys and others interested in the case.

Mrs. Cochran accompanied Mr. Cochran to the Washington city.

On Camping Expedition—

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Miller, of Union, and their daughters, Elida and Bethene with a group of friends of the latter made up a camping party that left Union Wednesday for an outing at the lakes in the Minam country. The friends of Miss Bethene Miller, who recently returned from a year of study in England together with travel in France and Norway, are three friends who came with her from England and two from Seattle.

—o—

At The Lake—

Miss Jean Thompson, of Des Moines, Iowa, who is making an extended visit at the E. A. Austin home west of Summerville, was honored at a picnic party held Sunday at Wallowa lake, the other members of the crowd being Mrs. Austin and the Misses Mabel Doty, Amanda Zabel, Mae Stearns and Mabel Morton of La Grande.

—o—

At DeHaas'—

Miss Olive Gorham, of North Powder, with a pair of twin babies, children of her late mother, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeHaas at the Cove. Mrs. DeHaas and her mother, Mrs. Frank Brothers, visited last week in North Powder and their visitors accompanied them home. The babies are two and a half months old and have the names, Marlin and Marline.

Visits Former Teacher—

Mrs. C. B. Spencer derived a great deal of pleasure last Monday from a visit by Mrs. W. H. Edwards, who was a pupil of Mrs. Spencer when she, as Miss Carrie Huff, taught school in La Grande more than 25 years ago—from 1902 to 1907, inclusive. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Eula Ruckman. She has been visiting at the home of her father, O. J. Ruckman and wife, of La Grande and with other relatives in the valley since July 15. She came all the way from her home city, Los Angeles, Cal., to Portland by boat. Her father met her in the Oregon metropolis and the trip to La Grande was made in his car. Mrs. Edwards left La Grande in December, 1900, with her parents, who located in Los Angeles. The mother died there several years ago and last year the father returned to La Grande and awhile after he married again. This is the first time Mrs. Edwards has been back since her departure 27 years ago. She has looked up old friends and schoolmates and what a wonderful time they have had reminiscing. She has had a splendid visit among the Ruckmans, the families of Don, Will and Sam, relatives living on the Sandridge and of Charles in May Park. She also visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jones, other relatives at Baker. Mrs. Edwards' 12-year-old daughter, Virginia, is with her and is enjoying her first visit with her northern cousins. The Californians plan to leave for home next Monday. Mrs. Edwards' parents will take them as far as Redding, Cal., in their car and from there the Edwards will go on to San Jose, where they will visit an aunt, Mrs. Clara Vandermullen, a former Grande Ronde valley resident, for a few days before they go on to Los Angeles. They plan to get home in time for Virginia to enter school when it opens.

—o—

On Camping Trip—

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cock and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barnard, of Union, made up a weekend camping and fishing party to the Lostine river

—o—

Lovely Garden—

Mrs. Ona Rhodes, who lives in the Dry Creek neighborhood, each year has lovely flowers and this year has been no exception notwithstanding the extreme heat and the dry weather. Right now her flower garden is a riot of color and worth going out of one's way to see.

—o—

Returns From Portland—

Mrs. Ida Kendricks has returned from Portland to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Standley in the Iowa district where she is visiting. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Aug Erickson, of La Grande, to the Rose City when they went to visit their son, Charles, who is employed there.

Dairymen To Champoeg Sunday The 27th

Representatives of all branches of the state's dairy industry and their families and friends will hold their third annual picnic at Champoeg park on the Willamette river on Sunday, August 27th. Champoeg park, famous in Oregon history as the site of the establishment of the first American form of government in the Pacific northwest country, is located a few miles east of Newberg and about 10 miles west of Aurora on the Willamette river. The state, and more recently the federal government, has taken an historical interest in the building of a public park to the memory of the pioneers of early days. Picnic facilities are available for a large crowd and the open-air auditorium affords seating capacity for the throngs of dairy people who will be interested in the afternoon speaking and entertainment program.

The plans call for a program of sports and races in the forenoon, basket lunch at noon with free dairy products for all, an hour of visiting among friends and a short program with a prominent speaker in the afternoon. Nearly 2000 dairymen attended the picnic last year and with the improvement of all roads leading to the park, a larger crowd is expected this year. Among those in charge of various phases of the program are George H. Fullenwider, president, Oregon Dairymen's association; Roger Morse, extension dairyman, Oregon State college; J. D. Mickle, chief, dairy division, state department of agriculture; Mrs. Anna I. Hughes, Guernsey breeder; Frank W. Durbin, president, Oregon Holstein association, and Paul C. Adams, secretary, Oregon Dairy council.

A cordial invitation has been extended to creamery managers, milk plant operators and all producing dairymen to attend the entire day's program.

COLLINS QUITS RANGERS, PITCHES BASEBALL AGAIN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — "Rip" Collins, former major league hurler more recently a member of the Texas Rangers, is back in baseball again. Manager Jake Atz of the Fort Worth Cats, in need of a relief pitcher with enough speed to baffle Texas league hitters, signed the former moundsman.

Collins' career in the big time extended over a period of about 10 years, and at one time he was known as a pitcher with plenty of stuff. He had been a Ranger for a year or more.

NINE BROTHERS ON BALL NINE; TENTH ACTS AS MANAGER

DENVER (AP) — A ball club that was different took part in a semi-pro tournament in Denver recently—the Albin, Wyo., nine made up of the nine Brothers Marlatt.

As reinforcements they had the two sons of Fred Marlatt, 50-year-old manager of the outfit. And their chief cheer leader was Henry Marlatt, 73, father of the nine Marlatt boys who mix the national pastime with their life work of farming.

Ernest, Glen, Ed, Lloyd, Bryan, Jack, Floyd, Ray and Bill are the nine who take the field to make the lineup a one-family affair. They range in age from 25 to 50. Erv, 21, and Fay, 19, are the two nephews.

A posse of 12 officers were called out at Olathe, Kas., to round up two suspected chicken thieves.
