AT THE LIBERTY

Will the movies start a new rage for transparent feminine costumes. These chorines, from Paramount's new laugh-and-music festival, "International House," coming today to the Liberty Theatre, cavort gracefully in cellophane—and like it.

More than 30,000 yards of cellophane went into the costumes worn by the Girls in Cellophane, the fast-stepping chorus of "International House." Paramount's screen musical comedy which comes to the Liberty theatre today.

The chorus appears in support of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudy Vallee, Stuart Erwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Sari Maritza, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Callaway and his Orchestra, Baby Rose Marie, and other stage, screen and radio favorites in the cast of the picture.

The more than 18 miles of cellophane in which the chorines were draped would have been enough to wrap a season's product of cigarettes. The reason for use of such a large quantity was that every girl had to have a completely new costume every day, because of the fact that a single day's wear was enough to destroy each cellophane gown.

Why—

You're always saying Chesterfields taste better

— I wish you'd tell me why

Well, I've worked in tobacco; I've manufactured cigarettes . . . and I'll tell you why Chesterfields taste better.

For a cigarette to have a good taste, it must have first the right kind of Domestic tobacco. This means ripe, mellow, sweet tobacco, filled with Southern sunshine. Then, blended and cross-blended with this tobacco there must be the right quantity of the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco . . . tobacco that has a pleasing flavor and aroma.

Aroma, as you know, adds to the taste. It's just like the pleasing aroma from certain foods. It makes the food taste better. It makes the cigarette taste better.

Then again, for a cigarette to have a good taste, it must be made right. The size, the cigarette paper, everything about it must be right.

Just try Chesterfields.
