HOBBIES AS NECESSITIES

By Brooke Peters Church

Probably the most contented and happiest families are those with hobbies. It makes little difference what the hobbies are, whether they are foolish or serious—the one essential is that they be whole-souled and absorbing. They are bound to vary according to individual tastes, and even more according to age and development.

The parents' hobbies in all probability will remain the same from year to year; the older children's will tend to become permanent; and the smaller fry will change from day to day or from week to week, the periods becoming longer as the hobby-riders grow older.

The chief thing is to have the ideal of a special interest set before them in earliest infancy, so that the need for acquiring a real hobby is firmly ingrained in their minds, and they have the same ambition to attain it that they have about going to college or learning a trade.

Our vacations we must have if we are to keep our bodies alive. Bread and butter and a roof to shelter us are to be gotten only by hard work at a trade or profession and holding down a job. But an avocation, a sideline, a hobby, is necessary if we are to keep our spirits and souls alive.

The man who has no thought in his mind beyond the daily routine of eating, sleeping and working becomes in time a very dull man indeed, and is likely to lose touch with friends and family because he has no vital interest outside of his merely physical and personal life.

And it becomes increasingly hard to cultivate a hobby with years. Unless the ambition is early implanted and carefully cultivated it is not apt to become an integral part of the individual.

THREE FULL GRID TEAMS PLANNED BY NAVY COACH

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Rip Miller plans to have three full eleven for navy this year. The head football coach of the Naval Academy will discourage the term "varsity" respecting any of these teams and will not always start the same combination.

Last season 17 players carried the brunt of the work for the Midshipmen, and Miller realized that he needed more reserve power. This season he hopes to have three good men for each position. He is finding his roughest going now at the ends in realizing this goal.

PACIFIC COAST RACE TIGHTENS; PORTLAND WINS

By The Associated Press

Propelled to a doubtful victory by Oakland misplays and Ray Jacobs' 36th home run of the season, Hollywood was back in the Coast league pennant battle today, trailing Los Angeles by a single game.

Three Oak hurlers, Mike Sallisen, Clarence Pieber and Glenn Gabler, held the Stars to only seven hits in the opener last night, but four Oakland errors gave Hollywood an equal number of unearned runs and the game, 7-5. Connecting for one of the four Stars hits off Lou McEvoy with the bases loaded in the fifth inning to give Hollywood a 3-1 win.

Shoving over three runs in the eighth inning, Seattle came from behind to beat Los Angeles, 6-4 and even the series.

Portland doubled Bruce Cunningham and Ken Douglas of San Francisco for 12 hits and a 9-4 victory to square the series. A brace of timely singles by George Blackerby drove in three Beaver scores. Joe Bowman was hit freely by the Beas but did not let them bunch their blows.

Outhit 13-9 by the Missions, Sacramento made the most of its safeties to outscore the Reds, 6-3.

Health

FIRST AID IN HEART ATTACKS

What can be done, in the nature of first aid, for the heart attack sufferer?

While awaiting the arrival of the doctor, who should be summoned immediately, the sufferer should be kept as quiet as possible. All excited people should be excluded from his presence.

The term heart attack may be used to describe the condition of emotional or physical shock in which the nervous system, primarily, and the circulatory system only secondarily, are affected.

Or again, by heart attack we may mean heart failure. Heart failure always shows itself by difficulty in breathing, severe pain in the chest, and blueness of the lips.

In heart failure, there is an interference with the circulation of the blood through the lungs, through the heart muscle, and through the body as a whole.

When the heart attack sufferer is blue in the face and struggling for breath, he should be kept in a sitting position, and be supplied with as much fresh air as possible.

The person in shock usually is pale and collapsed, with a very feeble circulation. He may be unconscious; his skin is usually clammy and moist, but he is not blue. Such a person should be laid perfectly flat, as an aid to the circulation of the blood through the brain and vital organs.

To summarize it, therefore, the "blue" person should be "sat up" and the "white" one "laid down."

The patient with heart failure usually will find it more comfortable if he can lean his elbows on a table or the back of a chair, bracing his shoulders and aiding in his efforts to breathe.

Except for aromatic spirits of ammonia, and a small quantity of whiskey, which might be given to the sufferer from a heart attack, he should not be medicated unless he has been previously instructed by his physician.

TIGER BASEBALL NINE READY FOR C. C. C. INVADERS

Completing a week of conditioning the La Grande Tigers baseball nine is "all set" for the game with the Crane Plats C. C. C. baseball aggregation to be played at the High school field starting at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Workouts this week impressed upon observers the fact the Crane Plats buyers are going to need plenty of "stuff" on the ball to stop the local hitters. Also, that the La Grande team as a defensive unit works very smoothly. With Evans on third, Dub Wilson at short, Chuck Wilson at second and Nelson at first, the infield presents a fast and strong defensive combination.

La Grande's line-up tomorrow will be: Don Wilson, c; Jackson, p; Nelson, 1st; Wilson, 2nd; Dub Wilson, ss; Evans, 3rd; Oliver, lf; Cochran, cf; and Hall, rf; with Woods and Hyde on the bench available for relief duties.

The morale of the squad is excellent, not only regarding the outcome of tomorrow's game, but the boys show complete confidence in their ability to make a good showing, and perhaps squeeze across the winning run in Tuesday afternoon's game with the Detroit Colored Giants.

URBANA, Ill. MARKETS IMPROVE DURING WEEK AS NRA DRIVE GAINS

By John L. Cooley

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Financial markets improved this week as the government pushed the NRA drive and the federal reserve system pumped fresh funds into the credit reservoir.

Plans for stimulating consumer buying, especially from Blue Eagle firms, went forward. Meanwhile, some lines of business are further evidence of seasonal contraction, although the let-down continued leisurely.

The sudden revival of open market operations by the central banks, expressed in a $35,000,000 purchase of government securities, found Wall Street trying to read between the lines for glimpse of Washington's purposes. Whether it meant that actual currency inflation was to be held on its sidetrack, or whether it was an answer to those who said commercial bank credit was inadequate were points open to conjecture.

Credit expansion through federal reserve channels has already created heavy excess reserves for member banks, the difficulty has been in finding work for these resources. In some quarters it is being said that current needs are for intermediate and long term rather than short term credit, and that the capital market, rather than the banks, is the logical source of such accommodations.

New bond issues have been very scarce, due partly to the public's speculative mood and partly, no doubt, to confusion resulting from the securities act.

The undertone of sentiment in Wall Street remains against the possibilities of inflation. There have been reports that Washington would adopt more aggressive policies in this connection as a means of bolstering prices against seasonal slumps that it would use its powers to further the NRA's purposes. The stock market, particularly, seems impressed with the possibilities of the situation, though so far there has been no departure from orthodox methods of obtaining the end sought.

During the shortened week the Standard Statistics-Associated Press 99-stock composite rose 4.4 points to 99.6 compared with the July peak of 96.9. In Friday's lively rise several leaders reached new highs for the year.

Low Liquor Prices Favored By Board

Individual who was a habitual drinker could move for revocation of his liquor permit.

Dr. Knies suggested further that permits be given persons between the ages of 18 and 21 upon written request of both parents. "I will explain why I believe in giving permits to those of this age," he said. "One of the saddest things about prohibition was the drinking of liquor by high school youths who thought it smart to get something against the law. We don't want that to happen again."

Beckman proposed that the net profit from state liquor sales be turned over to the state treasurer. It would be divided equally between the state and the district where the sale was made.
