WILSON SEEKS WATER PERMIT

LUMBER CODE IS CALLED WORKABLE BY COL. GREELEY

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Characterized by Colonel W. B. Greeley as a "good and workable code" the national recovery program bearing the imprint of the lumber code authority, has been sent to members of the industry by the West Coast Lumbermen's association.

Its most important provisions, in the view of the W. C. L. A., were those governing hours of labor and minimum wages.

With certain exemptions, it forbids employees working for two or more employers "for a longer period in any week than specified herein for a single employer" and set the maximum hours of employment at 40 hours per week.

The wage provisions set forth that minimum compensation for workers employed on piece work or a contract basis shall not be less than the minimum wage regularly set for the number of hours employed; the existing amounts by which minimum wages in the higher paid classes, up to workers receiving $30 per week exceed minimum wages in the lowest paid classes shall be maintained; charges to employes for rent, board and medical attention shall be "fair."

The minimum wage stated in the general provisions is not less than 40 cents an hour, unless in any subdivision of the lumber industry and the prevailing hourly rate for the same class of workers in 1929 was less than 40 cents an hour, "in which case the rate shall not be less than said prevailing hourly rate, plus 15 per cent and said hour rate was less than 30 cents per hour."

An exception to this was that for wages between 20 and 29 cents as stated in the general provisions is on the 1929 basis, with wages less than 20 cents being counted as 20 cents. "The percentage of increase shall diminish one and one half per cent for each cent that wages per hour exceeded 20 cents."

For example, if the wage on July 15, 1929, was 20 cents, the increase under the new schedule would be 15 per cent, making the new wage 23 cents. If it was 21 cents, the increase would be 13 1/2 per cent, making it 24 cents, and graduated accordingly.

The code continues that no minimum rate of wages for any subdivision of the lumber industry shall be less than that proposed by the "applicant industries" in the code as filed July 10, 1933.

Minimum wage rates for the west coast under the foregoing provision is as follows: Logging, 42.5 cents an hour; lumber manufacture 42.5; factories, 40; fir door, 40; fir plywood, 40. The rates for the western pine sub-division are virtually similar. In the wooden package division of the industry, the rate for the Pacific veneer container sub-division is 40 cents an hour.

STOCKS STUMBLE AS GRAIN DROPS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Stocks stumbled today as grain prices dipped and the dollar gyrated erratically in foreign exchange dealings. Mining issues and the rails, however, led a last-minute rally which pared or eliminated early losses of 1 to around 5 points. The close was irregular. Trading volume expanded to approximately 3,200,000 shares.

Closing figures included: Air Reduc. 102, Al. Chem. and Dye 140 1/2, American Can 93 1/2, Bethlehem Steel 41, J. I. Case 77 1/2, Col. SALEM, Aug. 29 (AP)—Milk prices will rise here Sept. 1 as a result of adoption here last night of a milk men's code under the agricultural adjustment act.

H. T. Hacker Tells Of Shell's Extra Mileage Gasoline

An extra mileage gasoline, developed in western laboratories, tested in the east by millions of motorists who previously paid a premium of 3 cents a gallon for it and now offered to the west at the price of regular gasoline, is Shell Oil company's answer to demands of the present market, says H. T. Hacker, Shell Oil representative in La Grande district.

Company technicians explain that "Super Shell", the new fuel, is made by an exclusive "re-forming" process designed to keep only the parts of petroleum that the motor can use completely and discard the half-efficient parts which are wasted in many ordinary gasolines.

"We formerly marketed Super Shell as a premium priced gasoline and motorists were glad to pay the extra price for the premium performance," says Mr. Hacker. "Now Super Shell is being offered without that 3 cents premium. It has a higher anti-knock rating, plus a lightning get-away, quick starting, flashing pick-up, and surging power needed to give satisfaction under all driving conditions."

O. K. Given Auto Code; No Action By Ford As Yet

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Despite the promulgation last night by President Roosevelt on an NRA code for the automobile industry, Henry Ford today still had not indicated his attitude.
