Vacation Period Comes to End In Local Churches

Fall Activities Are Being Resumed—Services Begin at St. Peter's Church Sunday.

The arrival of September marked the end to practically all of the vacation periods in local churches, and from now on the churches and their organizations will begin the usual fall activity.

St. Peter's Church (Episcopal) (Fourth and O)

During the month of August no services were held at this church, the month being observed as vacation.

Services will resume Sunday with holy communion at 9 o'clock in the morning, followed by morning prayer with sermon and holy communion at 11 a. m.

First Methodist Episcopal Church (Spring and Fourth)

The regular Sunday school session is at 9:45 o'clock under the superintendency of M. L. Whitney, with interesting classes for all.

Rev. H. I. Hansen will have charge of the 11 o'clock worship service in the absence of Rev. W. H. Henson, pastor, who is at the annual conference. Mr. Hansen's topic will be "Conscience," as a guide in life.

There will be special music.

Island City Community Church

Rev. H. I. Hansen will be in charge of the preaching service at 9:45 a. m. His topic will be "Christ and the Samaritan Woman."

The Sunday school will meet as usual at 10:45 o'clock in the morning.

Zion English Lutheran Church (M Avenue near Fourth)

At the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning the pastor will speak on the subject, "What is the Place of Money in the Church?" Everyone is urged to hear this sermon, which will be enlightening. There will be no appeal for money. Helen Jensen will play the service.

Charles Ward will lead the Luther League meeting at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, which will center about the discussion of the topic, "Dangerous Trends Today: Carelessness of Obligations." All young people will find this meeting interesting and helpful.

The Luther Leaguers are making plans to attend the convention of the Columbia District, L. L. next weekend, Sept. 8, 9, 10, at Trinity Lutheran church, Longview, Wash. A number will make the trip by car and train.

Sunday school meets at 9:45 a. m. for worship and study of the Christian life course of Bible-centered lessons.

Mrs. L. J. Ebert's class of juniors will present a dramatization of the parable of the Good Samaritan during the opening period. Parents are urged to bring their children to this school in religion.

Presbyterian Church (Sixth and Washington)

"Some people say chance rules everything," says Rev. J. George Wain, in announcing his church's program for Sunday. "Nothing in the world or in the universe is dependable, they assert. Christians know a better way. It is the way of hopeful and confident trust that everything eventually will be made right." Because of this faith Mr. Wain invites all who will to consider with him the second sermon on "Making a Living or Making a Life" Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Harvey Carter will sing a solo and Miss Gladys Miller will be at the organ to play the service.

The after-vacation season has arrived and the increase in attendance at the Sunday Bible school is indicating that interest has not been lost. Bible school begins at 9:45 a. m. with efficient teachers, and a warm welcome. The same invitation holds for the Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 p. m.

Church of the Nazarene (Birch and Y)

Orville Webber is superintendent of the Sunday school, which convenes at 9:45 a. m.

The pastor, Rev. Daniel L. Swartz, will speak on the subject "The World's Greatest Hiker" during the 11 o'clock hour. Mrs. Swartz will provide special music for this service.

The young people will meet at 6:45 p. m. with Lulu Moore as leader for a report of the camp meeting.

In the evening, at 7:30, the sermon will be "Our Code and the NRA." A mid-week business meeting of the church board is scheduled for Wednesday.

First Church of Christ, Scientist (First and Washington)

Services are held as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. and morning meeting at 11 o'clock. Wednesday evening meetings begin at 8 o'clock. The reading room in the West Jacobson building is open daily from 1 to 4:30 p. m.

The subject of the Sunday service will be "Man."

The golden text is, "He hath showed thee O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

(Micah 6: 8).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion" (Gen. 1: 26).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God fashions all things, after His own likeness. Life is reflected in existence. Truth is truthfulness. God in goodness, which impart their own peace and permanence. . . Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth." (p. 516).

Baptist Church (Spring and Sixth)

At the Baptist church Sunday morning the pastor will reverse the proverb "Man's Necessity is God's Opportunity" and speak on the theme "God's Necessity is Man's Opportunity." Miss Isabelle Williams will play a violin solo. Following the sermon, the Lord's Supper will be observed. The morning worship service begins at 11 o'clock. His evening theme the pastor will take the subject "A Balanced Nation." A song service will precede the sermon. The service begins at 8:00.

The young people will meet at 7:00. The Sunday school at 9:45. Thursday evening prayer meeting meets at 8:00. All are cordially invited to these services.

Central Church of Christ (Pennsylvania Avenue)

"Jesus, the Friend of Labor" will be the subject of the sermon at the Central Church of Christ Sunday evening at 7:30. The big evening service will be given over to this thought for Labor day and the pastor will direct the service. The orchestra prelude will feature several popular numbers, and congregational singing will be enjoyed by all.

Bible school meets at 9:45 a. m. with Miss Dorothy Smith, superintendent, in charge. There are classes for all ages.

Christian Endeavorers will have an interesting session at 8:30 p. m. The hour is moved up to the regular winter schedule, and will permit an earlier dismissal.

The communion will be the center of the morning service, with an address by the choir, and Rev. Paul De F. Mortimore, pastor, preaching the morning sermon. This service begins at 11 a. m. The public is cordially invited to all services of this church.

M. E. Church South (Corner U and JFr)

Regular services will be held Sunday, beginning with Sunday school at 9:45. Interest in the school has been growing steadily.

Preaching is at 11 o'clock with Rev. A. J. Starmer in the pulpit and again at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Sermonette Edited by Harriet R. MacDonald

For now we see through a glass, darkly, but then, face to face; now I know in part, but then shall I know even as also I am known. I Cor. 13-12.

How real are things in Heaven? They are vastly more real, we are taught, than things here. Our keener appreciation of them, by the very exquisite spiritual senses we have here, compared with those we have here, in itself makes all things and people, ourselves included, most livingly real to us. For our idea of a person, for example, we have at first to depend on the most outward things, features, clothes, manners. But even here, as we go to know a friend better, these externals fade from our remembrance. We are often put to it to recall whether he is of light or dark complexion, his features regular or not. Yet we know him in the moment we see him again. It is our idea of his personality we recognize.

What a joy, then, it will be in the hereafter, when we can commune with each other, directly, heart to heart and mind to mind, with all outward things corresponding, helping and revealing, instead of hiding. Can we not make them do so here more nearly if we try? Can we not bring into all our relations with our fellows, here and now, while yet on earth?

DAVID I Sam. 16:1-13; Psa. 78: 70-72. By Carlos A. Plummer

The greatest king of Israel Was David, Jesse's son; At Bethlehem he used to dwell Ere youthful days were done.

He was a "goodly" lad to see, With face exceeding fair, A graceful form, agile and free, And locks of auburn hair.

A faithful shepherd, then was he, With strength and courage rare To make the wolf in terror flee, And slay the prowling bear.

When he was sent to camp one day, Goliath there he spied, Heard what the giant had to say, And saw God's hosts defied.

The giant then he went to fight; No doubt or fear he knew, But trusting in Jehovah's might, The boasting giant slew.

A hero great he then became Throughout all Israel; The women sang his matchless fame And went his deeds to tell.

He was a poet-psalmist too, And harpist long renowned; And his sweet psalms, so grand and true, Are in the Bible found.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—After weeks of steady decline, an upswing in the wholesale prices on farm and food products for the week ended August 26, paved the way for an increase in the general wholesale price level for the week.

The figures are based on average prices for the year 1926 as 100.

Ore. Pears Are Rich In Food Elements

Any time Oregon pear growers decide to tell the world about the advantages of eating frequently a rich, ripe, Bosc, Anjou or Winter Nellis, they will be able to get plenty of health arguments from a new Oregon State college experiment station bulletin entitled, "Biochemical Investigations of Certain Winter Pears."

Behind this formidable sounding title, James C. Moore, assistant horticulturist of the station, reveals the results of research into just what winter pears are made of and what place they might be reasonably expected to fill in the diet.

The report he just makes shows that in the matter of alkalinity, winter pears are about of some famous fruits widely advertised for this property. In what is termed "buffer value," used in measuring the probable effect of foods in certain conditions such as malnutrition, these pears show up exceptionally favorably. In copper content, considered somewhat related to prevention or treatment of anemia, winter pears are three to four times better than other fruits.

The research was carried on at the college in cooperation with the northwest pear bureau. Similar studies have shown these pears to be high in vitamin content and to contain large amounts of levulose sugar at some stages of development. Pear production is now the major fruit industry of the state.
