CONSTRUCTIVE LEADERSHIP

The junior United States senator from Oregon, Frederick Steiwer, gave a talk yesterday in this city that was of magnitude in its wisdom and progressiveness such as would bear its repeating in every city and hamlet the country over were such a feat possible.

Though generally united in effort against the forces of depression that so nearly overwhelmed us, there are still plenty of individuals here and elsewhere, who could well stand to have their opinions and actions remoulded through the loyal and patriotic spirit of Senator Steiwer.

"America is not whipped," said the senator. "We have not abandoned our form of government nor are we going to... we have not turned our back on American industry... we are not going to have a revolution."

There are still too many, some with good, loud though rather raucous voices who would and do clamor over the country in talk and spirit contrary to that voiced by our senator here yesterday. The same unbelievers who never can or will look upon the bright side. The parties who, out of step, are still the more noticeable and sometimes attract the more attention because of the fact.

Correctiveness for habit that has grown in one is not immediately effective. Programs for relief of depression and hardship cannot be completely successful overnight, in a few days or months. Our national funster, Will Rogers, in one of his serious moments, likened the situation to grains of wheat. The ripened crop is not harvested the day after planting.

It was inevitable as Senator Steiwer said, in the short time of preparation of an immediate program to combat the forces tearing at our country's vitals, that some of that program would be imperfect. The main thing was and is — we are started on a plan of action and progress against what was hurting us. We have quit standing still. Some of our plan of attack may be wrong. Those imperfections can be weeded out as we progress and changed to meet the needs of perfect advance. Is it not enough today that we are gaining?

"Requirement of good, patriotic citizenship today is not to look about for faults but to look for the good and support those good features wholeheartedly," said Senator Steiwer.

This country still has much need of leaders in public life of the type of the junior senator from Oregon — the type of leader who in these times particularly can give constructive utterances such as were heard from him yesterday in La Grande. The type of confidence that says as did he:

"We are not going to be quitters. Before a great while there is coming an improvement that will cause us to wonder why in these days we ever came so close to losing faith not only in our country but in ourselves."

AT THE LIBERTY

The long-awaited Fox film production of Noel Coward's "Cavalcade" makes its local bow today at the Liberty theatre.

"Cavalcade" ran for a solid year at the famous Drury Lane theatre in London as a play, and attracted more attention than any drama produced in England in a generation. "Cavalcade" is a story of how world events affect the home and the family. It is the story of the Marry-ota, a middle class family consisting of Jane and Robert, the mother and father; their two sons, Edward and Joe; their servants, Bridges, the butler, Ellen, his wife, and Fanny, their daughter.

It covers the period from 1900 to the present day, and the absorbing story is etched against a vivid background of historical happenings during that time.

Numerous spectacular episodes add to the dramatic power of "Cavalcade," and include a number of historic events leading up to a kaleidoscopic resume of the chaotic condition of present day life.

Frank Lloyd, who directed, spent more than six months in preparation with a large technical staff before filming one scene, and every detail is authentic in every particular. He scoured the world for the most suitable players for the various roles, gathering an all-star cast which includes Diana Wynyard, Clive Brook, Beryl Mercer, Herbert Mundin, Una O'Connor, Irene Browne, Frank Lawton and Merle Tottenham.

"LONG DISTANCE" COASTER MAKES JOURNEY UNNOTICED MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Danny McAtee, 12, a bold young adventurer, went from here to Dyersburg, Tenn., a distance of approximately 80 miles, in his little red coaster wagon.

No one knew of the trip until he arrived at his grandparents' home, 24 hours after his departure from Memphis, asking for fried chicken and "all the trimmin's."

He said he coasted most of the way.

BOYS CHOIR TO BE REORGANIZED

The boys choir of the Episcopal church is being reorganized for the winter, and a first meeting has been scheduled for this evening at 7:30 in the church chapel. This choir started last year with a membership of five, increased to 20, and did some excellent work. Mrs. Clarence Kopp is director and Mrs. Nellie Nell, for many years organist at St. Peter's church, is accompanist.

The finest music in the hymnal is used in a simple setting, which proves very effective. In addition, instruction in the history of composers of sacred music is given.

Any boy of grade school age is welcome, but the membership will remain open only during September. Meetings are held on Thursdays from 4 to 5 p. m. at the chapel and a monthly social hour also is held.
