

La Grande and Mac-Hi Elevens Meet Saturday

TIGER SQUAD IS CRIPPLED BUT IN FAIR CONDITION

In fair condition despite several injuries, the La Grande High school football eleven was taking it easy this afternoon at the windup of a week's preparation for a game here tomorrow at 3 o'clock with Milton-Freewater.

With the two teams believed to be about on par, a real struggle is expected by local fans.

Coach Ira Wood announced his starting lineup for tomorrow as follows:

Gehring, center; Alvey or Blackman and Halley, guards; Peterson and Young, tackles; Irwin and V. Bean, ends; Reynolds, quarterback; Abe DeBole, fullback; Hyde and Floberg, halfbacks.

Alvey has been having trouble with his back and Blackman may start in his place. Ralph DeBole is suffering from a broken finger and whether he will play at all remains an uncertainty.

Peterson's nose was injured during the week and Hogenson, starting tackle, suffered a broken nose but may play some.

E. Johnson may work part of the time for Able, who was on the sidelines part of this week.

To offset this to a certain extent, Woodie has uncovered another good passer in Don Stitt, who was playing with the Junior class team.

The shifting of Bean from the backfield to end is expected to strengthen the team both offensively and defensively.

A pep assembly was held at the High school this morning in preparation for the game which will be played on the L. H. S. gridiron.

TROJANS FAVORED TO TAKE COUGARS AT L. A. SATURDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Unbent since they fell before St. Mary's early in the season of 1931, the University of Southern California Trojans, football champions of the Pacific coast conference, face their first serious threat of 1933 when they meet the Washington State college Cougars at Los Angeles tomorrow.

This contest, rated a stiff test of the Trojans' title prospects this year, is the lone conference clash of the weekend, six other member teams will face non-conference opposition and two, the University of Montana and the University of Washington, will remain idle.

Known strength in every regular position, plus a great array of potential man-power in reserve, has established the Trojans as favorite to inaugurate their conference season with a win.

The University of California will square off against St. Mary's at Berkeley tomorrow in a traditional battle which holds the interest of San Francisco bay region fans.

Another bay region contest will bring the Santa Clara Broncos and the Stanford University Cardinals together in Stanford stadium.

In an after-dark contest at Los Angeles tonight, the U. C. L. Bruins will tackle the University of Utah in what they hope will be a breather after last week's hard tussle with Stanford.

Of the northern teams, Oregon State college, under its new coach, Len Stiner, faces the stiffest assignment in meeting the Bulldogs of Gonzaga.

The game will furnish a yardstick to measure conference strength, for the Bulldogs have been beaten by the University of Oregon and the University of Washington already this year.

Completing the program for conference teams, Oregon will face Columbia, and the University of Idaho will take the field against Whitman college, in a pair of games rated as "easy" for the circuit members.

J. J. Handsaker Speaks For Maintaining Peace

meeting is scheduled to take place. Interviewed by an Observer reporter this morning, Mr. Handsaker said: "Added to the constant evil influence of the armament makers are the rise of the Hitler movement in Germany, the Japanese expedition into Manchuria, America's $236,000,000 naval building program which Japan interprets as a threat and which she is answering with a $100,000,000 program, all of these make the problem of the reduction of armaments difficult."

"On the other hand the growing demand of a poverty stricken world for reduction of its annual armament bill of more than four thousand million dollars is a strong factor in favor of success, Sir Arthur Henderson spent the summer in consulting European governments and begins the conference hopeful of success. Like Secretary of State Hull, Norman H. Davis, Lord Robert Cecil and other great leaders, Henderson hopes for a great outpouring of public sentiment in support of the conference."

Mr. Handsaker has visited La Grande before in the interests of war prevention, and invariably finds appreciative audiences for his addresses. "The prosperity of Eastern Oregon is dependent upon the prosperity of other nations, since the price we get for our prunes, apples, hogs, etc., depends upon whether the foreign markets are buying them or not," stated Mr. Handsaker in speaking at the Normal school Thursday.

He went on to point out specific instances both here in the northwest and elsewhere in the country where surpluses would have been easily disposed of in foreign markets had our political relations with these countries been what they should.

He emphasized the fact that all the nations of the world are becoming increasingly interdependent upon one another.

Mr. Handsaker is of the opinion that the future of our civilization depends upon the international relations of all the countries of the world. And these international relations are dependent upon one of two policies adopted by all nations:

(1) the "closed flat" policy which demands the building of high tariff walls, and of larger armies and navies for protection; (2) the policy of reducing armies and navies, of stabilizing currencies, and of reducing tariffs with other nations.

These two policies are mutually destructive. If we adhere to the first, the future will bring us a war which will completely destroy this civilization. On the other hand, if the second policy is adopted our civilization will flourish and develop to be greater than anyone is able to imagine.

Nicholas Murray Butler has recently said, "The fundamental fact of our civilization is that we are living in an age of interdependence of nations. Until men get this in their minds, they can do nothing to solve the problems of today."

Mr. Handsaker believes that it is the big task of all educators of this generation to impress this upon the children in the schools. He showed and explained a number of maps which have been worked out by school systems, private organizations, etc., showing the dependence of various industries upon the nations of the world for the elements which go into their products.

The closing feature of the assembly consisted of two violin solos played by Miss May Elizabeth Cooper, a freshman. Before playing the selections, however, she related how her father had made her violin.

ter, Konstantin von Neurath, at Geneva which seemed to need answers. The position of Britain, France and the United States has been that there should be no rearmament of Germany.

France has been described as ready to reduce her standing armies at the beginning of the so-called trial period, but not her armaments. That disarmament had reached a critical phase was indicated by a further German statement to reporters that Germany had told England and Italy she wanted to know definitely to what extent other nations were ready to reduce armies and armaments, beginning now.

H. R. HANNA SHOOT'S FIRST DEER THURSDAY

H. R. Hanna stepped out of his role of court reporter yesterday into one of nimrod—and today was bringing back his buck.

Incidentally, it was Mr. Hanna's first deer, and he naturally is somewhat elated. Particularly since he was hunting with Circuit Judge J. W. Knowles, who has shot his share of deer in former years.

The buck was killed in the mountains back of the Knowles ranch but it was impossible to get it out last night, so he returned to the hills today to "bring home the venison."

Piggly Wiggly Here Does Not Have Brown Derby Beer

In an advertisement of Brown Derby Beer, appearing in last evening's edition of the Observer, it was stated that this product might be secured at all Safeway, Piggly Wiggly and McMarr stores. This was the original copy as it came from the manufacturer and inserted by them in this newspaper as in other papers in the interests of retailers handling their beer.

In this local instance, however, the Piggly Wiggly store is an independent concern and not a part of the Safeway organization as some places, and the Piggly Wiggly store in La Grande does not handle Brown Derby beer or any other beer or beverage of like nature. The name of Piggly Wiggly store in the advertisement should have been deleted from the advertisement in La Grande.

Brown Derby beer is handled in La Grande only at the Safeway stores.
