Miss Fonda Hanks Complimented At Buffet Supper and Surprise Shower at the Stange Home

Miss Fonda Hanks, bride-elect of Elwood Hatt, was honored at a buffet supper and surprise shower last night at the home of Miss Jane Stange. Miss Stange and Miss Gilda Ashby were hostesses, assisted by Mrs. A. J. Stange and Mrs. H. N. Ashby. Supper was served from the dining room and the table was beautiful with a low centerpiece of fall flowers in which coral and green were the predominant colors. The guests were seated at small tables that were decorated with lighted tapers. Coral and green also were carried out in the gifts which Miss Hanks received. Six tables were arranged for conversation bridge and the prizes were awarded to Miss Agnes Palmer, first, and Miss Leah Bramwell, fourth. Miss Hanks and Mr. Hatt will be married on Oct. 18 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hanks.

Winkler's Wife Registers Rage

Anger is registered by Mrs. Gus Winkler, above, wife of the Chicago gangster, as she marches back to her cell after being acquitted, with her husband, in connection with the Federal Reserve mall robbery and killing of a policeman in Chicago.

Chapter I, P. E. O. Is Entertained

Chapter I, P. E. O., was entertained at a luncheon at which Mrs. H. A. Zurbriek and Mrs. Hal Bohnenkamp were hostesses at the home of the former yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. "Lord Jim," by Joseph Conrad, was presented in review by Mrs. Fritz J. Lotties during the afternoon. "Lord Jim" is perhaps Conrad's most popular book, although it is not his best, according to the critics. Mrs. Lotties reviewed it very interestingly. Mrs. Bohnenkamp, president, was in charge of the business session which preceded the program. Mrs. George Currey and Mrs. J. W. Kowles were named as the hostesses for the next meeting which will be held on Oct. 20 at the home of the former.

No-Hostess Card Party Enjoyed

There were six tables for pinocle Friday evening when members of the Order of the Moose held a no-hostess card party at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Jack Githens. First prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mary Hofmann and Charles Spivey while the consolation awards went to Mildred Hofmann and Curtis Sine. Refreshments were served. The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening, October 10, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Women's Clubs To Meet on Oct. 17

The Fifth District federation of Women's Clubs will meet in Enterprise on Oct. 1 and all members of the Neighborhood club who plan to go are asked to notify Miss Blanche Clark, 464-W. Miss Clark is corresponding secretary and urges that those who attend notify her not later than next Wednesday since it is necessary for her to complete her correspondence with the hostess club. The regular meeting of the Neighborhood club on Oct. 17 has been postponed until Oct. 24.

Will Entertain D.A.R. Next Week

Mrs. H. G. Avery will entertain the Daughters of the American Revolution at her home on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Epworth League Enjoys Evening

An enjoyable evening was spent by 88 members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church Friday night at the church. A clever skit was presented by Miss Adelaide Zweifel, as a college co-ed, Jack McClay, Walter Dahl, Billy Gunn and Albert Wattenburg, her suitors. Hamburgers and cocoa were served.

Figures Are Important In New Styles

By Rita Ferries
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)
PARIS (AP)—Figures are affairs of importance in the new winter mode.

A slender silhouette molded to the curves of bust and hips is fashion's edict for formal daytime or evening clothes, making a good figure and an erect carriage of prime importance to chic.

Shoulders Sometimes Accented
New notes appear in the winter mode launched by the world's greatest designers. Shoulders, while less squared than last year and almost never padded, sometimes are accented by fins, epaulettes and fur trims. Hips, though still slender, bid for attention with flared basque effects and patch pockets.

Skirts are fairly long, ranging from eight to 13 inches from the ground for daytime wear and being long length for the evening mode which displays many trains. Waistlines are natural or princess, necklines are universally high.

The fabrics which build this winter's clothes recall the elegance of pre-war courts.

Rich wools with golden threads or paillettes shimmering in their weaves, payasa and Lyons velvets, crepes so deeply crinkled they resemble tree bark, the moires and heavily ribbed ottomans of grandmother's day are all seen. Bordeaux red, bright Peeping red, dark, bright and olive greens, browns shading from tobacco to caramel; red and blue violets, grey, navy and sapphire blue are the outstanding colors. Black is also prominent.

Formal Coats Luxurious
Formal coats, designed on a slender silhouette, are luxurious in tone. Rich fabrics fashion their designs, lavish fur trims complete their chic. Collars, whether large or small, are almost universally high. Formal models generally fit the figure gently while sports coats hang on a more straightened line.

Daytime frocks, designed on slender lines with high necklines and simple sleeves, generally match the coat, although lighter frocks appear for later afternoon wear.

"Olsen's Night Out" Gives Actors Chances
By Hobbin Coons

The film stars El Brendel, and it is nearing completion now as Brendel's contract with Fox is expiring. It is decidedly an opportunity for the comedian with the Swedish dialect—"First picture," he says. "I've really had a part in for more than a year."

If the picture makes money, there may be a new contract awaiting his return from vaudeville.

Catlett's Chance
Walter Catlett is in, too. Catlett had a contract once, but somehow his stage reputation and hits in various films have not put him over in Hollywood as well as might have been expected. In this one he has a major role, maybe the one that will turn the trick.

Susan Fleming, after a brief contract with Paramount, had not been seen much lately. From January to June she was ill in the hospital. In the Brendel film she has a part. The boy who played Janet Gaynor's sweetheart in "Daddy Long Legs" is back, too. John Arledge took a five months' ocean voyage when he left Hollywood, and he gets his chance again with Brendel.

And there's Malcolm St. Clair, directing. St. Clair is well known, but he hasn't had an assignment for a year and a half until "Olsen's Night Out."

When the picture goes out to theaters, there'll be more than just celluloid in those tin cans. There'll be the work of a group of people who are, in a way, all in the same boat. Its success or failure will mean a lot to all of them.

A NEW CAREER PERHAPS
But to none will it mean more, probably, than to Jessie Pringle. To this aged character actress the PAJAMAS or pajamas, you'll have to admit that these are pretty nifty, in crepe, taffeta, velvet, linen or dimity. Easily made and designed in six sizes—14, 16, 18 and 20 (with corresponding bust measures of 33½, 35, 36½ and 38) and in 40 and 42 bust. Size 18 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch material if cut on the bias, or 4 yards if cut lengthwise of the material. The sash of ribbon requires 2½ yards. To secure a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y., together with 15 cents in coin. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, your name, full address, your size, the number of this pattern (No. 108), and mention the name of this newspaper.

FISTS READY

When the crowds in the stands begin their chant, "Fite! Fite! Fite!" Charley Bishop, 218-pound tackle of the University of Oregon, takes it literally, judging from the above photo. Charley has his dukes cocked for a football game or a fight.

picture represents the beginning of a new career. It wasn't long ago that Jessie Pringle had a place on Broadway. She supported the late Frank Bacon throughout the run of "Lightnin'" and she was prominent in stock also. When she retired from the stage, she thought it was to a life of comfort and ease.

But investments failed, and not long ago she began making the rounds of the studios—unsuccessfully. She wrote letters to old stage friends now in films, and got a day's extra work, Ralph Morgan, who was in "Lightnin'" spotted her. He told the casting director—and now she, too, is with Brendel.

days, to horses seeking to "kick over the traces" and said these would have to be "lassooed" and "put in a corral."

He urged a quick settlement of labor's jurisdictional problems to prevent a slowing up of the general program and then added: "x x x on the part of employers there are some who shudder at anything new. There are some who think in terms of dollars and cents instead of in terms of human lives; there are some who themselves would prefer government by a privileged class instead of by majority rule."

"But it is clear that the sum of the recalcitrants on both sides cuts a very small figure in the total of employers and employes alike, who are going along whole-heartedly in the war against depression."

O'HARA AND MACK TO MEET IN LOCAL RING TONIGHT

MANY BIG GAMES ON TODAY'S GRID SCHEDULE IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—The thundering herds of college football tramped 200 gridirons today in the first big crush of the season. For competition, football fans looked to Southern California and Washington State, St. Mary's and California, Santa Clara and Stanford in the far west; Notre Dame and Kansas, Minnesota and Indiana, Nebraska and Texas, Michigan and Michigan State, Wisconsin and Maryland in the mid-west; Tulane and Georgia, Georgia Tech and Kentucky, North Carolina and Vanderbilt in the south; Texas Christian and Arkansas in the southwest, and Temple and Carnegie Tech and Pitt and West Virginia in the east.

Those loomed as the hardest-fought engagements of the day for most other major schools either started or continued with the "warm-up" campaign designed to put them in shape for more important games later in the season.

The south once more was the leading factor in inter-sectional warfare, sending Mercer, Richmond and Virginia Military into the north to face Navy, Cornell and Army respectively; and Virginia into the mid-west to play Ohio State, South Carolina, meanwhile, remained at home to battle the Villanova.

The east watched with not a little interest the maiden efforts of Princeton, Yale and Harvard against Amherst, Maine and Bates, respectively, and the seasonal debuts of such other major schools as New York university, Brown, Colgate, Syracuse and Columbia, all of whom faced apparent set-ups.

In the mid-west Purdue's Boiler-makers started off against Ohio university, strong Buckeye conference aggregation, and Chicago expected to start off Clark Shaughnessy's coaching regime with a victory over Cornell of Iowa.

U. C. L. A. turned on the power in the last quarter and beat Utah, champions of the Rocky Mountain conference, 21-0. Denver and Colorado Aggies played a scoreless tie and Brigham Young defeated Colorado Teachers, 6-9, in Rocky Mountain conference games.

MRS. BRAZIELLE HURT IN WRECK

COVE (Special)—Mrs. Albert Brazzelle received pain but comparatively slight injuries, and the Brazzelle Studebaker sedan was badly damaged Friday evening in an accident near the Rundell place on the edge of Cove. While Mrs. Brazzelle, and Mrs. Ray Eysa were taking Malvin Rundell to his home, a tire was blown out, when the brakes were suddenly applied and the car in skidding, ran into a telephone pole. The pole was broken off in addition to the above damages.

TRADITION GIVEN WALLOP AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—College tradition has been given a mighty wallop, so far as Indiana university is concerned, by the state's division of public health. Jordan river, flowing through the campus and around which nearly all Indiana tradition is founded, is not a river but a drainage ditch, "a stagnated series of polluted pools," and with its crumbling stone retaining walls ought to be covered over forever, the division has declared. It is in Jordan river that upper classmen have ducked the freshmen, it was after Jordan river that the university named its old athletic field. It was to Jordan river that campus authors dedicated plays, books, songs, pageants and musical shows.

The Hollywood Cricket club defeated four San Francisco teams in one weekend with Desmond Roberts making a record of 163 runs against one opposing team.

Ten-year-old Fred Mitchell of Rio Vista, Cal., shot and killed the first deer he had ever seen.
