

E. O. N. LAUNCHED ON WINNING YEAR FANS HERE HOPE

With each passing week, the opinion in Eastern Oregon becomes more pronounced that the Blue and Gold football machine at the E. O. N. this year is about the best Coach Bob Quinn has assembled here in the school's comparatively short history.

The first year the team was organized, it won the Oregon Normal school championship by turning back Larry Wolfe's much publicized mouth-mouth eleven 17 to 7. Also, it won from College of Idaho 19 to 6 and defeated a Whitman eleven (although Borleske withheld two or three of his best men) 20 to 12.

Then for the next few years, the Mountaineers had only mediocre success, taking quite a few beatings and losing quite a few victories.

Last year the Mountaineers walked on Albion Normal, defeated Lewiston 12 to 0, lost to Columbia university, College of Idaho and Southern Oregon Normal, and won from Spokane university. The team didn't look so bad.

Hopes Running High

This year, however, hopes are running high.

Right now, the Mountaineers stand at the top of the percentage column of non-conference teams in Oregon, with two victories and no defeats. Whitworth college lost here 35 to 0, and Lewiston went down in defeat last week 38 to 0.

The Mountaineers play a return game with Lewiston at Lewiston next week, after a fortnight's rest and preparation, and then take on the first major competition of the year—Baker's College of Idaho eleven in La Grande on Saturday, Oct. 28. It will be the E. O. N. home-coming game.

Friday, Nov. 3, the Blue and Gold travels to Albion to play Albion Normal school and on Friday, Nov. 10, meets Whitman college in Walla Walla.

Saturday, Nov. 18, Quinn and his squad go to Astoria to tackle the strong Bom team coached by Howard Hobson. So far, the E. O. N. outfit has never gained better than a tie with Astoria, and right now, it looks as if the game against Southern Oregon will be the toughest on the 1933 schedule.

The conviction is growing here that the Mountaineers have a good chance to turn back most of their opponents this season, and finish the schedule with better than a 50-50 break in games won and lost. Time will tell.

Carlos C. Kimmell, of Harrisburg, Ore., son of Little C. Kimmell and the late James D. Kimmell, was fatally injured Saturday morning about 9:30 o'clock while helping cut silage on the Clarence Evans ranch near Harrisburg. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (AP) — Bounding along the football highway in what followers confidently believe will be a non-stop dash to both coast and national honors for a second successive year, Southern California's Trojans meet St. Mary's Gaels next Saturday in one of two outstanding games on the far western schedule.

The Trojan forces ran up the unexpectedly high score of 33-0 last Saturday in winning from the powerful Washington State Cougars.

Whereas the big St. Mary's team was the victim of an upset, beaten by California's Bears, 14-13.

Oregon meets Washington while St. Mary's and Southern California are battling in the southern sector, Oregon and Washington will meet in one of the traditional tilts of the north.

On the comparative basis of a game each played with Gonzaga, the two conference teams shaped up on fairly even terms.

Another conference game will pit Washington State against Montana. Washington State is expected to be an easy winner over Montana.

Non-conference games will bring Oregon State to the University of San Francisco's home field while the Olympic club, oldest football rival of California, will meet the Bears in the annual contest at Berkeley. Oregon State played a scoreless tie with Gonzaga last week while San Francisco listed an open date after losing to St. Mary's 7-0, October 1.

Stanford's Indians, who upset predictions last Saturday by defeating Santa Clara, 7-0, were en route to Chicago where they will meet Northwestern this weekend.
