Churches Give Programs For Coming Sunday

Interesting Sermons And Musical Programs Arranged by Houses of Worship in La Grande

Church programs in La Grande and adjacent communities for Sunday include the following:

Zion English Lutheran Church (M Avenue near Fourth)
At the morning worship, 11 a. m., the common service of the United Lutheran church in America will be used again. Music for the new service is available for the members of the congregation. The choir, accompanied by Lily Belle Angell, and under the direction of Mary Eliza Angell, will sing an introit and offertory. All are invited to worship at this service.

At 9:45 a. m., the Sunday school meets for worship and the study of Bible lessons from the Christian life course. A silhouette of Rev. John Morehead, D. D., formerly director of Lutheran world service, will be displayed during the opening service, and Imogene Schilling will tell of the life and work of Dr. Morehead. All children who do not attend Sunday school will be welcomed and placed in a class for their age.

Henry Jensen leads the Luther league meeting Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The topic for discussion is "Men of the Church and Mission Work." This will be an interesting and instructive session to which young people are especially invited. Any men who wish to find out what the men of the church are doing in missionary work, may also attend.

Hoplit Church (Spring and Sixth)
Sunday services at the Baptist church consist of a Bible school hour beginning at 9:45; a morning preaching and worship service beginning at 11; and a unified evening service beginning at 7, and closing promptly at 8:30 or sooner.

There was quite an increase of attendance in the Bible school last Sunday, but there is room for more, and a suitable class for each one. The beginners like their new quarters very much.

The subject for the coming Sunday morning preaching service will be "Pragmatic Tests."

Sunday evening, the young people will conduct their part of the program as usual and the pastor will continue his discussion of the problem of sin and God's method of solving it. All are cordially invited to attend any or all these services.

First Methodist Episcopal Church (Fourth and Spring)
The reorganized church Sunday school will initiate the new plans next Sunday morning, recognizing seven distinct departments. M. L. Whitney is the general superintendent and desires that all those in charge of departments be there in ample time that the program may begin promptly at 9:45. The co-operation of every home having children in the school and of every pupil being on time will be appreciated.

The morning worship is at 11 o'clock, when the pastor will speak on the subject, "Playing at Life." The chorus choir will sing the anthem, directed by Paul Knautz, with Mrs. Ruth Jackson at the organ. The evening vespers service is at 8 o'clock and the pastor will speak on the subject, "The Conflict of the New and the Old." This is the third address in the series on this subject. Young People's league at 8 p. m. and High School league at 9:30.

Central Church of Christ (Pennsylvania Avenue)
The services at the Central Church of Christ continue to attract large audiences, both morning and evening. The evening service is especially well attended with the auxiliary rooms of the auditorium in use every Sunday evening recently. The

The subject of the Sunday service will be "Probation After Death." The text is "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yes, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them" (Rev. 14: 13).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death" (1 Cor. 15:26).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We know that all will be changed in the twinkling of an eye, when the last trump shall sound; but this last call of wisdom cannot come till mortals have already yielded to each lesser call in the growth of Christian character. As death findeth mortal man, so shall he be after death, until probation and growth shall effect the needed change" (p. 291).

St. Peter's Church (Episcopal)
Holy communion is at 8 a. m., followed by church school at 9:45 o'clock. Morning prayer with sermon begins at 11 o'clock. Mrs. H. N. Ashby will preside at the console. Presbyterian Church (Sixth and Washington)
"A nonworking religion is worthless and merits the scorn of the world. Religion is meant to work as a tree is meant to bring forth fruit. If it produces Christlike character and conduct, if it makes us brave and true in the face of difficulty, if the spirit of forgiveness triumphs over resentment and love conquers hate—then it is working," says the minister, Rev. J. George Walz, who invites all to worship with this congregation and hear the message on "Three Worlds." The chorus choir will sing the morning anthem under the direction of Andrew Loney Jr. Miss Phyllis Clark, alto, will sing the offertory solo.

Young People's evening social hour at 8 o'clock, in the rooms of the old manse, and all young folks not attending a religious program elsewhere at this hour are invited. A cordial invitation to students of the Normal school. At 9:30 p. m. the regular C. E. program for those who would attend and enjoy an hour of discussion of the vital problems of life. This meeting held in church parlor.

Sunday school hour at 9:45 Sunday morning, classes inviting all ages. Helpful discussion of those problems that confront us in Christian living.

Church of the Nazarene (Spruce Street at X Ave.)
9:45 Sunday school, Orville Weber, superintendent.
This Sunday the superintendent will tell to the school a true story that happened in the north land and how a team of dogs saved a young person's life.

Throughout the isle they preached the word
In synagogues of Jews;
The Roman ruler also heard,
And he believed the news.

To Asia Minor then they sailed
Glad tidings to declare;
And though by Satan oft assailed,
They preached to thousands there.

Some signs and wonders there were wrought
Upon the sick and lame,
And many souls salvation sought
Through faith in Jesus' name.

When they returned to Antioch,
A good report they brought,
Aye! told to that assembled flock
What wonders God had wrought.

To Return Tonight—
Mrs. Ella Doty is expected to return tonight from Michigan where she has been visiting with her sons at Saginaw, Lansing and Grand Ledge.

Three brothers are playing football for Oregon State College, Corvallis, Ore. They are Harold, Woody and Dick Joslin.

Sermonette

Harriet R. MacDonald

"Search the scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life."—St. John 5:39.

With twelve millions or more out of work and talk of legislation to establish a 30 or 36-hour week as a standard of employment for all, we are faced very squarely with the question, "What use are we going to make of our increased leisure time?"

But there is an answer. It is to be found in the development of those senses of value and those measures of satisfaction that are to be found in the realm of the mind and the heart. These are utterly and forever beyond the reach of money and material. Only in the Holy Bible are these values set forth in their true worth and it is only by following the Bible that one may be able to translate the new leisure into "joy un-speakable and full of glory."

The wonders of God's handiwork in nature await the leisurely journeys of those who will have time to explore them. Whether it be the "flower in the crannied wall" or the majestic Matterhorn, its mysteries of beauty reflect the glory of the Creator, and fill the soul of the observer with the consciousness of His divine presence.

Even today if you will take your Bible in hand and read and follow you will be on your way in a garden of paradise where your increasing leisure time will take you even farther on a "path that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."—From "The Bible" in New York.
