State-Owned Radio Station Most Popular

That the state-owned radio station, KOAC, is now the first ranking station in the United States in point of time devoted to educational and non-commercial programs, and in scope of the educational field covered, is shown in the annual report of the station for 1932-33 recently submitted by W. L. Kadderly, manager of the station.

Analysis of the time devoted to various classes of programs given in the report shows that 35 per cent of the time was devoted to educational broadcasts. Music took up 40.5 per cent of the time, athletic contests accounted for 1 per cent, religious broadcasts 1 1/2 per cent, and other miscellaneous programs such as debates, convocations and dramatics 2 per cent.

The extent to which KOAC is recognized nationally as a factor in radio education is shown in the report in accounts of the visit to Oregon of Eugene J. Coltrane, special representative of the National Committee on Education by radio. He said the station is unique as a non-commercial station having unlimited time and a most desirable frequency, and predicted that it will become increasingly important as a factor in educational extension in this state.

The Romans had a phrase for it....

"CRAVEAT EMPTOR," meaning "Let the buyer beware." This wasn't used as a bit of balm to ease the ancient conscience; nor, yet was it placarded in the booths and stalls of the market-place. It was a piece of every-day knowledge, born of dear-bought experience.

A shopkeeper knew little about the source of his merchandise. His tunic he bought from a trader, who said it came from Byzantium. So he sold it as the latest Byzantium style. The trader told him the dye was pure Tyrian—it wouldn't fade. So he sold it as Tyrian dyed. But the buyer knew the responsibility was his own. If he guessed wrongly, or his judgment was poor, it was his hard luck.

Today, fortunately, there are safer guides than the blanket-warning to "let your eyes be your market."

These guides are the newspaper advertisements. In this newspaper, they are a daily catalog of the best values in town — signed by responsible firms. If the goods are not all that is claimed for them, their sponsors would need to "beware." For no business can thrive on a one-time sale, or on dissatisfied customers.

A signed advertisement is, in a way, like a promissory note. The advertiser has made a statement, and affixed his signature as a sign of good faith.

So, read the advertisements before you start out on a buying-trip. Make this a daily habit, and see how much you save . . . in time, in temper, in money, in shoe-leather.
