O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together.—Psalms 34:3.

LAGGING IN SOCIAL PROGRESS

If the social sciences only could catch up with medical science, this ought to be a pretty fair sort of world before very long. Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, a medical man who sees visions and dreams dreams in the laboratory where he examines the riddles of life and death, told the recent congress of the American College of Surgeons that the human race will be a much finer and healthier outfit inside of a century.

Doctors then will prevent disease rather than cure it; indeed, the doctor who has to treat a disease will have to confess that he has failed in his duty of preventing its inception. Such plagues as diphtheria, typhoid, smallpox, malaria, and typhus will be eliminated; tuberculosis, diabetes and most diseases of the heart will be mastered; cancer and the social diseases will be reduced sharply, and childbirth will be made safe.

And yet Dr. Crile does not believe that this healthy race of 2033 A. D. will be a very happy one. The race, he believes, will be menaced increasingly by the development of technology. The pace of day-to-day living will continue to increase, so that there will be more disorders of the mind and the nervous system than ever before.

This bit of prophecy seems to indicate that we have mastered just about every science except the simple and homely one of conducting every-day affairs so that human beings can be happy instead of unhappy. We can conquer the toughest problems the physical world has to offer us, but we can't seem to solve the simplest riddles of human nature.

We ride in airplanes and automobiles instead of the springless ox-carts of primitive man, we tunnel under mountains and dam up rivers and cure disease and weigh the stars and send our voices across the seas. But when it comes to the business of getting along with one another, and giving every human being a decent break in life, we don't seem to be very much wiser than the citizens of Augustan Rome.

The great untouched field before us today is the field of human relations. The great problem is the one of putting our triumphs in the physical sciences to work so that they can provide the greatest good for the greatest number.

TODAY IN BRIEF, IN AND AROUND OREGON

AS CHRONICLED BY THE DAILY LEASED WIRE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

QUESTION BOND PLAN

PORTLAND, Nov. 2 (AP)—The advisability of pledging about $10,000,000 worth of state highway bonds at a 4 1/2 per cent interest to cover the $15,000,000 public works allotment which has been proposed for Oregon highways, is being seriously questioned by a number of Oregon legislators, according to an article in the Journal here today.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

LAKEVIEW, Ore., Nov. 2 (AP)—After shooting his divorced wife to death with two charges from a shotgun, J. O. Bacon, about 50, killed himself with a blast from the same weapon at his ranch 10 miles west of here late yesterday.

The Bacons were recently divorced and had been living in separate houses. Mrs. Bacon was said by friends to have several times expressed fear of her life. They are survived by a son and a daughter in high school here.

BIDS SUBMITTED ON DAM

PORTLAND, Nov. 2 (AP)—A bid of $608,500, slightly more than half the government estimate, was the lowest submitted by three contractors here late yesterday for excavation for the foundation and channel of the Bonneville power-navigation dam on the Columbia river.

The low bid was submitted by the General Construction Company of Seattle. The government estimate for the project was $1,018,000.

COMPROMISE PLAN CANCELLED

SALEM, Nov. 2 (AP)—The compromise agreement for contract truck haulers under the bus and truck law was cancelled late yesterday by State Utilities Commissioner C. M. Thomas. Thomas said that the Mandamus suit filed by 35 truck lines to compel complete enforcement of the motor transportation act would not be opposed.

PAT FOLEY

The death of Pat Foley, popular local hotel man, came as a shock to this community, despite the fact that it had been known for a week that he was desperately ill. Everyone had been hoping that the magnificent physique and iron constitution with which Foley was endowed, would enable him to successfully combat the deadly malarial that had laid him low.

Pat Foley made a valiant fight, but death was not to be denied. He succumbed to spotted fever Saturday at 11 p. m.

Indication of the high regard in which Mr. Foley was held here may be seen in the proclamation closing all stores today during the funeral, and resolutions of condolence passed by local civic organizations in which the deceased took an active part. This sorrow is shared by everyone in The Dalles who knew Mr. Foley.

Less than three weeks ago Mr. Foley was a member of a party of deer hunters, who camped in the Suplee district for several days. Always a vigorous, out-door man, Mr. Foley enjoyed the outing immensely and did not realize that he had been bitten by a tick. It was not until several days after he returned home that the dread spotted fever developed.

The Chronicle desires to extend its condolences to the bereaved family of Mr. Foley, and join with the community in sincere sorrow that such an outstanding citizen should meet such an untimely and tragic end.—Reprint of editorial comment in The Dalles Chronicle.

AT THE LIBERTY

Spencer Tracy and Fay Wray have roles of romance and adventure in the new Fox screen play, "Shanghai Madness."

"Shanghai Madness," the new Fox film production, with Spencer Tracy in the stellar role, comes to the Liberty theatre on Friday to remain for an engagement of two days. It is a romance of white people against an ever-changing background of modern China.

The story revolves around the exploits of an American naval officer who, through the intrigue and subtlety that are characteristic of Shanghai, becomes involved in an affair that forces him to resign his command. He becomes a wanderer.

The young man finally does get a job on a gun-running ship. As the craft passes a medical mission down the river, a distress signal is seen and the gun-runner begins an attack. In the midst of the attack, the officer sees a girl he had rescued from the mob now a victim of attacking communists. He leads the battle and rescues the mission and its occupants.

Spencer Tracy, in the leading role of the young naval officer, has one of the most important parts of his career. Fay Wray has the leading feminine role opposite him, and the supporting cast includes Ralph Morgan, Eugene Palette, Herbert Mundin, Reginald Mason, Arthur Hoyt, Albert Conti, Maude Eburne and William von Brincken.

INVESTIGATION PLANNED BY GAME BOARD

published in yesterday's Observer, another affidavit made by Walter E. Young said that he saw a spike elk crippled and nearly dead while hunting in the West Beaver country. "I also personally met a party from some place in the Willamette valley who went in about the head of West Beaver near Porcupine ranger station on Oct. 18. They had five elk and three deer on Oct. 25. All they packed to their car up to the evening of Oct. 25 were the three deer. All that was taken from the elk were the teeth and it would have been impossible to pack the elk out after that time as they could not have been otherwise than spoiled. There were seven men in the party."

A HEN THAT CROWS! MAYBE IT'S HER AGE

HARRODSBURG, Ky. (AP)—Any chicken that reaches the age of 10 years has something to crow about.

That probably explains why a 16-year-old hen owned by Miss Katie Van Arsdale has ceased egg-laying and struts about crowing like a rooster. Its tendency to vocalize sometimes brings forth 31 "crows" without a stop.

Don't Trifle With Coughs

Don't let them get a strange hold. Fight germs quickly. Creomulsion combines the 7 best helps known to modern science. Powerful but harmless. Pleasant to take. No narcotics. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. —Adv.
