"OLD DOBBIN" IN REAL COMEBACK OVER THE WEST

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D. (AP) — A "comeback for Old Dobbin under the Blue Eagle," foreseen by horse dealers of the agricultural west, is reflected in accelerated activity around horse-flash markets in these parts.

Rangeland water holes long abandoned are crowded again with myriad flashing hoofs, coral "traps" unused for years are being repaired, dealers and wild horse wranglers are finding themselves once more in the saddle.

Demand Moves Up
For the first time since the World war the demand for horses seems definitely upward, men at the sources of supply say.

Pierce Directs Sharp Attack at Governor

year on a "stand by Roosevelt" slogan.

2. Asserted that he was "the only congressman from the northwest who stood 100 per cent with Franklin D. Roosevelt on every issue he espoused in the last session of congress."

3. Told the boys he was Democratic national committeeman until 1933, which was by way of saying that he was not going to discontinue his dual role of congressman-committeeman as so many of his party fellows have suggested.

4. Asserted his joy that Bonneville dam is to be built, but said full use of the Columbia river will never be obtained until Umatilla rapids project is constructed and ocean-going steamers can ascend to The Dalles.

5. Urged the reduction of interest, redistribution of wealth, enactment of additional capital levies, abolition of tax exempt bonds and suggested increased inheritance and gift taxes.

His crack at Governor Meier was delivered in his discussion of Columbia river development and was voiced in these words: "Only so recently as our last election we witnessed an Oregon governor, elected on a people's power program, urging the voters to re-elect Mr. Hoover — the president who vetoed Muscle Shoals! Had Hoover been re-elected, what chance would Grand Coulee, Bonneville or Umatilla have had to pass his waiting vote?"

In almost the same breath he let loose another crack that some of his listeners interpreted as aimed at Senator McNary. "To whom does the real credit for the Columbia river program belong?" he asked. "Does it belong to the courageous leaders who through long years fought the battles and educated the nation to such ideals, or to the specious Republican opportunists now climbing aboard the band wagon and noisily riding the front seat close to the horses' tails?" Mr. Pierce, however, made no mention of Mr. McNary at any time in his talk. He was outspoken in charging that some of the "Hurray for Bonneville" crowd was absolutely against the publicly owned electric projects which he advocated as governor of Oregon.

He lashed back at those who have charged him with endangering success of the Bonneville project by pushing other projects or other action, by saying: "I want to set all double aside and say unequivocally that I am for the Bonneville dam, and have always been for the improvement of the river."

He urged that the 72-foot Bonneville dam be made "complete" by providing locks large enough so ocean-going vessels might load inland Empire products at The Dalles. Railroad rates are so high that such river transportation is necessary, he said. But, he warned, "Remember that Umatilla Rapids is the first real

DEADLY TYPHOON HITS PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 3 (AP) — The second deadly typhoon to sweep the Visayas group of the Philippine Archipelago within a week moved northwest across the China sea today, leaving dead variously estimated at between 20 and 30 and heavy property damage.

Accompanied by a torrential down-pour, the wind reaching a velocity of a hundred miles an hour destroyed hundreds of the natives' picturesque grass huts, wrecked numerous other buildings and many small boats.

AUTOS 'BEASTLY' TO BRITISH PEER
DERBY, England (AP) — The Duke of Devonshire, it may be taken, does not like motor-cars.

At a horse show here, he described them as "foul, stinking things" that made life hideous, ruined the roads and increased taxes.

"We formerly traveled as gentlemen, and not as crashing cads," he said.

When in London the duke, who is 68, hires a horse-drawn hansom cab. He is the father-in-law of the former Adele Astaire, the American dancer who married Lord Charles Cavendish.

COMMISSION BEGINS ELK STUDY HERE

local people, including some who recently signed affidavits to the effect that many elk were left in the mountains by hunters who took only the teeth and in some cases the heads.

Tonight he was to meet with a committee from the Elks lodge, which protested to the game commission earlier this week, accompanying the protest with affidavits.

Indications continued that the total legal elk kill would easily pass the 500 mark. The total for three counties, at the last count, was 481. One hundred and ten had been reported killed at Pendleton yesterday and at noon today, 196 had been reported to County Clerk C. K. McCormick of Union county. No report had been heard from Baker county as yet.

PENDLETON, Nov. 3 (AP) — Umatilla county hunters declare the game laws were well observed, and that little game spoiled during the open season on elk, according to Ernest L. Crockett of the state game commission, who was here yesterday investigating reports of wanton waste of game.
