WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 6—As you read this it will be election day. Six states are repealing prohibition and New York City is repealing its mayor.

It's taken Al Smith 12 years of his life (and a defeat for nomination, a defeat for the presidency) and just about every other type of bad break that a man that is in the right could get.

So when you newspapers write your editorials tomorrow (Wednesday) telling how it all come about, kindly remember there was something under the browny derby besides a New York dialect.

And P. S.: There is "a few other things that this same gentleman has been ahead of time on." Smith's obituary should read, "He thought too fast for the mob." Yours,

Will Rogers

RED CROSS HERE MAKES PLANS FOR ROLL CALL DRIVE

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is making every effort to be prepared for roll call for the Red Cross, which begins Nov. 11, and continues until Thanksgiving. The Union County Red Cross chapter has been especially active this year in relief work and has distributed about $12,000 worth of flour and clothing to the needy of Union county. This has been a very material relief, not only to those who received the supplies, but to the county and other organizations responsible for caring for the unemployed as well. It is said. Much of this was supplied by the government, with the Red Cross as the distributing agency. However, a

BAND DECIDES TO CONTINUE; LACK OF INTEREST TALKED

At the regular rehearsal of the La Grande band held last night at the Central Church of Christ, a business session was held in which the matter of continuing the activities of the band was discussed, every member present being asked for his opinion in this regard. There has been some dissatisfaction and criticism of the band's activities reported, and every member present was asked to make a frank statement of his opinions and desires. It was the expressed sentiment of practically every member present, that the community has shown no interest in the band recently and that from a standpoint of

OTHERS JOIN U. O. FACULTY IN DEMANDS

Student Body, Oregon Dads and Mothers Also Ask Nelson to Resign.

EUGENE, Nov. 7 (AP)—The University of Oregon faculty, its student body, the Oregon Dads, the Oregon Mothers and the University of Oregon Federation were united in demanding the resignation of Roscoe C. Nelson, president of the state board of higher education, today following adoption of resolutions and receipt of telegrams from alumni officials here last night.

A petition endorsing the faculty resolution was circulated among students of the university and about 1024 signatures last night. A committee of 50 students, headed by Thomas H. Tongue, Hillsboro, president of the Associated Students, was appointed yesterday to draw up the resolution which was submitted to all living groups and independent students.

Telegrams from W. Lair Thompson, Portland, president of the Oregon Dads; Harriet M. Dible, Portland, president of the Oregon Mothers; and Earle Wellington, Portland, president of the university federation, all expressed full support to the faculty's action. Thompson's telegram stated "now harmony can be obtained by a major operation. The board should perform it immediately."

In a front page editorial this morning the Oregon Emerald, student newspaper, answered the statement of E. R. Bryson, Eugene attorney, who yesterday said the group of Eugene men mentioned by Denn Wayne Morse as assuming to speak for the townspeople and the faculty, had in fact "spoken for the business men of Eugene and many of its citizens."

MOVE TO PROTECT U. S. LUMBER MEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—To protect United States lumber producers from the competition of dumped foreign lumber, the lumber code authority today announced that minimum prices for foreign woods must equal the minimum cost-protection prices of the same domestic item at any delivery point.

Girl Tells Of Alleged Attack By Grid Player

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 7 (AP)—Sobbing and incoherent at times before the questions of United States District Attorney W. R. Smith Jr., Blanche Ralls today told the story of an alleged criminal attack upon her by Lieut. John H. Murrel, former All-American football star. The preliminary hearing for the lieutenant was before United States Commissioner P. A. Lockhart.

She said the attack occurred while Lieut. Murrel was driving her home in his car.

ANOTHER STORE HERE MAKES SALES MARK

Another proof that business is not dull in La Grande for him who goes out after it.

Fifty-three per cent more business than the sale of 1931—and 1931 was not particularly a poor business year. Such is the record of Falk's 69th anniversary sale just concluded, according to Harry McKinlay, manager of Falk's store in La Grande.

With the idea of prompt service to all customers, Mr. McKinlay opened the sale with 50 salespeople. Quotas based upon the volume of the 1931 sale were given each salesperson. In practically every case these quotas were exceeded.

Anniversary sales were held simultaneously in other stores of the Falk's institution in other cities of the Pacific northwest. The La Grande store's percentage of gain in volume of sales over 1931 was greater by a large margin than that made in any of the other stores.

"I am naturally greatly pleased with the response to our sale from La Grande and territory," says Mr. McKinlay. "We planned systematically to give the buying public in this event the maximum value for least money and it is always gratifying to receive such hearty public response and understanding of our efforts as made this sale the success that it was. The Evening Observer, in which we carried our advertising announcements exclusively, gave a splendid demonstration of its circulation and pulling power."

A four-page advertisement was used by Falk's in the Observer of last Tuesday to announce the sale. It was prepared by Chas. Stotler, advertising manager at Falk's.

THE LAST ROUND-UP

Wheat Today

The price of local cash wheat stood at about 51 cents bulk here today, according to quotations at the Pioneer Flouring Mills. Portland cash 69 1/2 cents.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP)—An advance in rye values late today was associated with increased buying through today's elections.

Wheat and other grains sympathized with rye action, and developed considerable late rallying power, helped by estimates from government sources that farmers might have an additional market for 20,000,000 bushels of corn and 55,000,000 bushels of barley when prohibition ends. Primary arrivals of wheat today were the smallest since the 1933 domestic wheat crop started to move.

Rye closed strong at the day's top level, 1 cent to 1 1/2 cents above yesterday's finish, wheat 1/2 cent off to 1/4 cent up, corn 1/4 cent down, oats at 1/2 cent decline, and provisions carrying from 10c setback to 10c advance.

"SLIM'S" RECORD IN OKLAHOMA IS BLACK

The Wallowa bank robbers have been taken care of but still the talk goes on.

Now it is learned that "Slim" Paul, the Oklahoma member of the bank robbing trio, who got a life term from Judge J. W. Knowles, was a bad actor without a doubt. Back in Oklahoma City authorities looked up his record and found it black, plenty black.

Paul was serving a life term for murder in Washington county when he escaped from McAlester penitentiary last August. In 1925 he was sentenced to 15 years from Bryan county for murder. He also served two years on a horse theft conviction.

In 1925 he was sentenced to Arkansas state penitentiary for 7 to 10 years in a burglary case, at Denton, Ark.

In the same year he was sent up from Bryan county for murder. He was charged with bank robbery at Ponca City and drew a 15 year sentence. He also was held as a suspect in a bank robbery at Oklahoma City and in 1920 received his life term for murder.

O. P. Ray, crime bureau superintendent, said Paul was known at McAlester prison as one of the most dangerous convicts held there. Records did not show how he escaped.

But no matter how tough Paul was, Cliff McGinnis went him one better when he captured Paul and James Dushane single handed.
