FREEDOM IS AT STAKE

Albert Einstein's recent statement that modern life will not be worth living unless the liberty of the individual is preserved comes with especial force just at this time.

Now this assault against freedom is succeeding, not because the mass of mankind suddenly has become convinced that freedom is worthless, but because the terrific pressure of economic calamity has forced people out of the old grooves.

In Russia, in Italy, and in Germany freedom has been discarded because it has seemed that only a ruthless despotism could straighten out the tangle of modern life and keep people from starving amidst plenty.

And all of this becomes especially significant when viewed against the background of our present recovery program in the United States.

What is being attempted here is an experiment quite as far-reaching in its potentialities for mankind as the experiments of Stalin and Mussolini.

We are trying to find some way of settling the almost insoluble economic problems of the twentieth century without resorting to despotism at all; trying to straighten out the crossed wires of production and distribution on the one hand and to preserve individual liberty on the other.

It is an enormously difficult job. Three of the greatest nations of Europe already have given it up as utterly impossible.

Other nations are drifting slowly to the same conclusion. If the freedom of the common man is to be preserved in the world, the job will have to be done in the United States.

BIG JESS EAGER TO GO HIGHER IN FISTIC CIRCLES

Big Jess Phillips, La Grande's giant lumberjack who is to throw gloves into the grand opening of the Eagles great relief fund benefit championship amateur boxing tournament at the Sacajawea hotel arena Tuesday night of next week, has vaulting fistic ambitions.

Big Jess offers to fight any two men in Union county on Tuesday night's card and promises to knock them as flat as a policeman's feet. Let him tell you about it.

"Fightin' two men in one night is duck soup for me. I've fought as many as a half dozen in a single fight round and tumbled," roared Phillips following his workout last night. "And what's more," added Jess, "I guarantee to throw so many punches at any two men who fight me Tuesday night of next week that they'll look like a piece of Swiss cheese—full of holes." And Big Jess was sincere about it, too!

Phillips, who is 26 years young, aspires to become a great ringman some day. He figures his age is no barrier to a successful ring career.

"Wasn't Bob Fitzsimmons close to 40 when he won the world's title? Wasn't Tommy Gibbons in his thirties when he fought Dempsey at Shelby? And wasn't K. O. Christner more than 30 when he took up boxing?" queried Big Jess as he commented on a future ring career if he hammers his way into possession of the heavyweight championship of the La Grande tourney. Several of the other heavies are said to be "gunning" for Big Jess and are reported eager to take him on in the grand opening card of the big tourney here next week.

WOMEN WILL ATTEND BIG TOURNEY BOOTS A record number of feminine ring devotees are reported making preparation to attend the grand opening of the Eagles big relief fund amateur boxing classic at the Sacajawea arena Tuesday night of next week. Ticket sale opens early Saturday morning at the Foley hotel cigar stand.

Despite a record entry list the name of only one amateur has been placed on the "yellow list," but tourney chiefs figure he will decide to go on and compete in the tourney to keep the state clear, it became known today.

The out-of-town amateurs are fast rounding into top form for the big fights here and are preparing to swoop into La Grande bent upon punching their way to victory over the local ring prices. The La Grande amateurs, too, are rapidly nearing the peak of fighting trim and will be out to repel the attack of the invaders. Roy Cannon at Wallowa, Glen McCoy at Elgin, Mert Davis at Union, Coach Eilers and Eddie Shires at Baker all claim their huskies are set for the good fight now.

A program of 15 to 30 thrilling and exciting three-round fights will be dished up in rapid-fire order when the curtain goes up on the hostilities at the Sacajawea arena Tuesday night of next week. The first set to start at promptly 8:15 p. m. and the last tussle is to end not later than 10:30.

'CHOOSER' JESS PHILLIPS

BAKER, Ore., Nov. 14 — Eddie Shire, manager of a team of amateur boxers slated for action at La Grande's amateur tourney next week announced today he would demand a match for his 19-year-old heavyweight with Jess Phillips of La Grande on the opening night of the big meet. "My amateur heavyweight, a brick-layer, will take all the fight out of that bird, Phillips, we've been reading so much about," Eddie said. Many fans from here will attend the fights.

AT THE LIBERTY

"Name it and you can have it," said the Fox company to Will Rogers when they bought James Gould Coxzen's best seller novel "The Last Adam." Rogers named it "Dr. Bull" and proceeded to make the general doctor one of his best seven characters, truly as great and as human as his role in "State Fair."

But the picture, which is on view at the Liberty theatre, is more than a star vehicle. Through the eyes of the doctor one sees the joys and sorrows of an entire New England community. Dr. Bull has time for everything — even for courting a widow. But first he has to solve the romantic problems of some of his younger clients, one of whom happens to be the daughter of the town's capitalist.

It's a great story, and John Ford has brought it to the screen with a fine feeling for the human drama latent in every life. In doing this he has the artistic co-operation of a splendid cast of supporting actors, including Vera Allen, Marian Nixon, Howard Lally, Bertton Churchill, Louise Dresser, Andy Devine, Rochelle Hudson and Tempe Pigott.

LET YOUR RIGHTMIT FLY, BILLY!

Roy Farnham, chairman of the La Grande boxing commission (right) is looking on as Charley Runyan, veteran of many fights in the olden days including one with Tom Sharkey, wars his son, Billy, he must let his right fist fly to assure victory in the Eagles great relief fund benefit amateur boxing tourney that gets under way with a bang at the Sacajawea arena Tuesday night of next week. Billy, who has been on the shelf with a cold the last few days, claims he will be very much in action when the gong sounds for the tourney. "I may get knocked for a loop, but cold or no, cold I'm going to do my part in the tourney because it is a relief fund affair," Billy declares.

OREGON STATERS TACKLE FORDHAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Fordham Rams and the Pitt Panthers, whose schedules annually give them a large share of the task of upholding eastern football prestige in intercollegiate games, stand by again this week to repel invaders of no inconsiderable power.

Fordham, victor over Alabama but beaten by St. Mary's Gais, winds up a highly successful season against the Beavers of Oregon State. Pitt, beaten only by Minnesota and conqueror of Notre Dame and Centre from other sections, hopes to add Nebraska's undefeated and untied Cornhuskers to the list.

Saturday's game will mark the third New York appearance of an Oregon State team. The Beavers of 1928 laced New York university, 25-13. Last year they were noosed out by Fordham, 8-6.

TO COMPLETE 25 PER CENT OF 4.5 MILES

(Continued From Page One) engineer reported as follows: "Bids on the first section of 4.5 miles were opened at Portland by the U. S. bureau of public roads on Sept. 13. Geo. F. Price, of Dayton, Wash., submitted the low bid of $48,888.96, which was subsequently awarded on Oct. 10. The contractor began actual operations on Oct. 5, under the supervision of Glenn Eades, superintendent. Equipment was soon moved on the job and by Oct. 10, the project was well under way. The work has been prosecuted very diligently and efficiently with a supervisory crew of five men and a crew of skilled and unskilled labor comprising approximately 35 men. With the exception of supervisors, all the labor was taken from the approved list submitted by the national re-employment office. The contractor has a very high class of equipment, which insures the least possible loss of time due to breakdowns. Weather conditions have slowed down the work considerably the past two weeks but with existing weather, the project should be approximately 25 per cent complete this season. It is estimated that work will close about Dec. 15, for the season, depending on the weather conditions. The project will be opened next season as early as weather will permit to insure completion of this section next fall.

Bids were opened on the second section of six miles at Portland on Oct. 15. Myers & Goutier, of Seattle, Wash., were the successful bidder with a bid of $96,324.60. Very little work is contemplated on this section this season due to weather conditions. Some little clearing is being done so that an early start on the grading operations may be accomplished next season. No equipment will be moved on the project this season, however.

Puget Sound Is Near The Title In N. W. Circuit

SEATTLE, Nov. 14 (AP)—College of Puget Sound clinched at least a tie for the northwest conference grid title by handing College of Idaho a 54-12 trouncing at Tacoma Saturday in the only conference game of the weekend.

The Loggers swamped their opponents from the opening kickoff, piling up 41 points in the first three periods and holding the Idahoans scoreless. Puget Sound reserves added two more touchdowns in the final period, but allowed the visitors to ram the ball over for a like number of scores.

Pacific university remains as the only obstacle between the Loggers and undisputed possession of their second consecutive championship. A win next Saturday at Forest Grove, Ore., will put them out of reach of the other teams in the league.

Two other conference tussles were slated for the coming weekend. Albany meeting Willamette at Salem Friday, and Whitman journeying to Caldwell, Idaho, to tangle with College of Idaho Saturday.

Standings: W. L. T. Pts. Avg. C. P. S. 4 0 0 97 12; Willamette 2 1 0 28 12; Linfield 2 2 0 45 29; Pacific 2 2 0 21 36; Whitman 1 2 0 19 39; Col. of Idaho 0 1 0 12 54; Albany 0 3 0 0 40.

OREGON U. AMONG CANDIDATES FOR ROSE BOWL GAME

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP)—While the potential eastern rose tournament football game candidates continued undisturbed by defeat, a possible Pacific coast defender has popped up in the northwest in the form of Oregon.

While the green-garbed gridsters from Eugene, Ore., as the lone unbeaten member of the Pacific coast conference as well as of the western league, held the inside track today, there was some question as to the chance of their holding the position after next Saturday when they clash with Southern California at Los Angeles.

A victory for the Trojans, whose string of 27 games without defeat was broken by Stanford, would throw the situation into a jumbled mass with Southern California, Oregon, Oregon State, Stanford and California, all with one defeat against them, in the running.

The only possible change in the eastern, middle west or southern sectors was the indication from several sources that a Big Ten team had no more chance than last year in gaining the permission to participate in the January first game. That seemed to eliminate either Michigan or Purdue.

Army, a probable first choice, and Princeton, equally as enticing a grid morsel to the rose tournament association, remained unbeaten but there were barriers in the way for either team. Duke and Georgia moved along unmolested in the southland, but Georgia plays in Los Angeles Dec. 2 against Southern California which appeared to balk any chance of the Bulldogs playing in the same vicinity twice in 30 days.

Back to the middlewest, Nebraska, newly crowned Big Six champion, was looked upon with more than passing interest. The Cornhuskers undoubtedly will get even more attention should they handle Pittsburgh and Iowa successfully in the two remaining games.

OREGON SURE OF AT LEAST A TIE FOR TOP HONORS

If Oregon loses to Southern California next Saturday, the Westbet are at least sure of a tie for top honors in the Pacific coast conference. If Oregon either ties or defeats the Trojans, she is a clinch winner and probably would play in the Rose Bowl game.

Two other teams have a chance to tie Oregon in the event she loses to the Trojans. One is Stanford, which has two wins and one loss and games to play with Montana and California. Southern California, also with two wins and one loss in the conference, plays Oregon and Washington.

If Oregon loses to the Trojans, if the Trojans also defeat Washington and if Stanford downs Montana and California, the final percentages of the three would be as follows:

Team W L T Pct. Oregon 4 1 0 800; Southern Cal. 4 1 1 800; Stanford 3 2 0 800.

If California wins the remainder of its games and Oregon loses to Southern Cal., the percentages would be:

Team W L T Pct. Oregon 4 1 0 800; Southern Cal. 4 1 1 800; California 3 1 2 780; Stanford 3 2 0 800.

In other words, Oregon is sure of at least a conference tie, and if victory perches on the Westbet wings next Saturday, she will have an undisputed championship.

PARENTS OF HART AGREE TO RANSOM

Waving a big revolver a man announced to his terrified fellow passengers on a Modesto-San Francisco bus that he was "Pretty Boy" Floyd. He did nothing more than frighten the passengers, said Bus Driver M. W. Barry.

Stockton police intercepted a Sacramento coach to which the man had transferred, but found no trace of him. Officers said he probably left the stage at an intermediary stop. Floyd has frequently been reported to be in California during recent weeks.

Unless land is terraced, continuous cropping of cotton on about 36,000,000 acres in Oklahoma and Texas will result in wearing away all top soil in 30 years, the department of agriculture says.
