Mrs. Colon R. Eberhard Presents Program at Chapter I, P. E. O. Meeting at Taylor Home

Mrs. Colon R. Eberhard furnished the program, a review of "Other Women," a group of character sketches by Katherine Brush...

Ackerman P. T. A. Observes Book Week

Books were very much in evidence Thursday night when many parents, teachers and friends of the J. H. Ackerman Training school gathered in the Normal school auditorium to observe Book week and hold a meeting of the P. T. A.

At a brief business session, presided over by Mrs. Guy Miller, president, a resolution concerning the improvement of movies for children was accepted and is to be sent to Gen. Hugh Johnson in accordance with a state wide movement to make provisions in the code for the production of more educational films.

The silver cup won for the third time by the city council for the largest increase in membership in the state was displayed.

The program which followed, arranged by Miss Edith Darby, had for its setting an attractive display of books of every description and size bearing familiar titles of children's favorite stories.

Mae Elizabeth Cooper, accompanied at the piano by Mary Eliza Angell, played two violin selections, "Sousou" by Erida, and "Traumerl" by Schumann.

Some of the children presented a delightful skit "Fun With Books" with Jean Inlow as Mrs. White, the mother and Robert Kiddle as Billy White, her son, the leading roles.

While Billy dreamed, the following children appeared before him as visions characterizing the different books: From Miss Lang's room; Kathryn Finlay, Jerry Cook, Verne Murray, John Bean, and Kenneth Waldroff; Miss Day's room, Helen Jean Moon and Mary Catherine Lander; Miss Darby's room, Joyce Miller, Donald Hertzog, Jeanne Tellell, Jammie McPherson; Miss Carstar's room, Robert Kiddle, Celestine Cook, Marcia Miller, Lloyd Cady; Miss McCarter's room, Charles Hurley and William Warner; Miss Wear's room, Jean Inlow, Elinor Ashman, Marjorie Williamson, Mary Jean Bohnenkamp, Jean Stoddard and Kath Patten.

Miss Mildred Hawksworth gave an interesting talk designed to help parents with the selection of books for children. She had many books exhibited to illustrate and distributed lists of the best books for the different ages.

Mrs. Otis Palmer Entertains Club

Three tables were arranged for bridge Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Otis Palmer entertained the Poppy Club. Mrs. Charles Graham was presented with the prize for high score and Mrs. C. L. Thompson, consolation.

Mrs. Herbert Davies was a guest. Mrs. Walter Palmer was named as the next hostess on Dec. 1.

Standard Bearers Elect Officers

Lenore Headley was elected president of the Standard Bearers when they met for dinner at 5:30 p. m. Thursday at the home of Louise Leighton. Helen Hertzog was chosen as vice president; Helen Hughes, secretary; Genevieve Mattoon, treasurer; and Louise Leighton, program secretary.

Miss Hertzog will entertain at the next meeting on Dec. 6.

Wheat flour is probably more widely distributed than any other American product, being exported to practically every country.

Wallowa Stars Are Invited To Farewell Party

WALLOWA (Special) - An invitation was extended Jessica chapter O. E. S. by Wallowa Valley chapter, Enterprise, for a social gathering Tuesday evening. Those attending report a good program and a splendid time.

LEGISLATURE WILL TACKLE BIG PROGRAM

Legislation must be ironed out with the Knox plan of state liquor stores as the basis. This problem alone will take days, with as many as 50 different ideas on control in the offering.

A certain amount of unemployment relief will be solved with liquor revenue if approved by the legislature, but there will be other tax plans proposed as well as remedial legislation introduced to take care of relief.

Under this classification can come forms of luxury taxes and the suggested capital levy, as have previously been announced.

Under the heading of emergency relief will also be included several drawn plans for the collection of delinquent tax penalties, and the liquidation or refinancing of bonded indebtedness of political subdivisions now overburdened with payments of interest and principal.

Emergency banking measures, likewise being drafted, might come under this division, as well as an act to compel the World War veterans' state aid commission to accept home loan bonds for mortgage payments.

Counties in the state are seeking relief from two measures, one charging counties for care of insane patients; the other the old age pension bill of 1933.

The third matter for which the session was called is for school relief, and once into the matter of education many bills are sure to be proposed.

The recent upheaval in the state board of higher education and the institutions has stirred up the old fire on this highly explosive question, but efforts will be made to keep it out of the legislature.

Miss Day Gives Union Program

UNION (Special) - At the regular meeting of the Woman's club Thursday Miss Florence Day, director of dramatics at the Normal school, gave an interesting resume of the American drama during the past century. She traced the development of the theatre through the different periods and spoke briefly of the most important playwrights together with their productions. Other numbers on the program were a tap dance by Beverly Gipson and a doll dance by Donna Dee Gipson. A quartet composed of Fawn Geertsen, Leona Spray, Jane Smith and Mrs. Gerald Tobin accompanied by Miss Eira Clark at the piano, sang three selections. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mesdames Miskell Gale, Mable Gale, Minnie Benson and Alice Knight.

HAVE REUNION - Lostine - A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Caudle near Lostine Sunday. A bountiful dinner was enjoyed by Mr. Keilber, the father, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crain, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melbath and children of Milton, Kenneth Keilber, of Wallowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Caudle and daughter, Beeline, of Lostine. Kenneth Keilber went on the operating table at the Wallowa hospital Wednesday for chronic appendicitis.

MARGARET ADAMS LAID TO REST IN UNION CEMETERY

UNION (Special) - Mrs. Margaret Adams died Thursday evening at her home here from some heart ailment, after helping nurse her husband, Charles Adams, through a serious attack of pneumonia. Funeral services were held today at the Cook undertaking parlors, with Rev. R. C. Lee conducting the service.

Mrs. Adams was born in Dumfries, Scotland, Sept. 10, 1868, came with her parents to this country in 1890, and to Union county in 1894. She was married here the same year.

She is survived by her widowed husband and one daughter, Mrs. Mabel Miller, of Dufur, three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Adams, of Union, Mrs. Mary McCallum, of Nampa, and Mrs. Nate Troeper, of Washington, and three brothers, William and John Kirk, of Union, and James Kirk, of Washington.

Tin Whistles Not Afraid of Amateur Golfing Champion

PINEBURST, N. C. (AP) - George T. Dunlap Jr., the third national amateur golf champion to be a member of the Tin Whistles, ancient golfing club, never has won a tournament held by that organization in 15 attempts.

Of the other two champion members, Bobby Jones, too, has been unsuccessful, while W. C. Fownes Jr. has taken only three prizes over a stretch of 15 years.

The reason for the failure of these champions to do better is a system of handicapping which is perhaps more exact than any other in existence.

The Tin Whistles have one man, a club secretary, who does nothing but record all the scores made in competition and he adjusts handicaps accordingly. The scores of all major tournaments since 1904, when the club was founded, are available.

Thus, if a player wins a tourney, his handicap is lowered for the next event, while if he plays in a certain number of events without success, his handicap is raised. Dunlap, who was rated at scratch when he was admitted to membership three years ago, now is handicapped at three.

With such an exact system of handicapping in effect, the Tin Whistles fear no golfer. Some of them may not be able to break 90 all the time, but what do they care so long as they can trim the national amateur golf champion regularly?

John McKinnis has arrived home from a trip to Portland and Salem. He accompanied his brother, Kenneth McKinley of Wallowa to the Willamette valley.

The Neighborhood club met in the Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon. The 17 women present, working on a quilt and the business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. M. Crow. World Welcomes The Recognition of Russia

Most prominently mentioned unofficially in connection with the appointment of the first soviet ambassador to Washington were Valerian Ivanovich Meshlaik, first vice chairman of the state planning commission, and G. I. Sokolnikoff, member of the commissariat of foreign affairs.

At the foreign office no official there would comment. Ambassador William C. Bullitt will have no difficulty in locating appropriate quarters here in which to house the U. S. embassy and the consulate. It was understood the soviet government already had taken measures to provide the necessary office and living space for the staff of American representatives and Bullitt will be given his choice of at least two substantial buildings, both of which belonged to pre-revolutionary millionaires.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18 (AP) - President Roosevelt today hailed Russian recognition as a world aid and to the people of Georgia he expressed scorn on the "doubting Thomases" on his gold-control monetary program.

Before a throng assembled at the spacious municipal stadium, Mr. Roosevelt put forward his Russian and monetary programs and received the applause of the sun-warmed citizens.

Washington High Ties Commerce 6-6

PORTLAND, Nov. 18 (AP) - Washington High moved another step toward the 1933 Portland interscholastic football championship last night when they held the fast coming Commerce High to a 6-6 tie in one of the season's wildest games. With but one more contest to play, Washington was conceded to have but slight chance of losing the coveted honor.
