

Elmer Layden New Coach at Notre Dame

'HUNK' ANDERSON TO BE REPLACED; HARPER IS OUT

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 8 (AP)—Elmer Layden, one of the Four Horsemen, will replace Hunk Anderson as head football coach at Notre Dame next fall as the result of a drastic shakeup of the Notre Dame athletic staff, Jess Harper will retire as director of Athletics.

Harper's successor probably will be announced within the next few weeks. The most persistent report, however, was that Layden would hold both the athletic director and coaching jobs. Layden is now coach at Duquesne but will leave his post in time to take charge of spring football in 1934.

Harper and Anderson stepped into their positions after the death of Knute Rockne in an airplane crash March 31, 1931. Harper formerly coached the Notre Dame football teams and was instrumental in making the fighting Irish nationally known. It was under Harper's coaching that Rockne learned the game and he ultimately succeeded his teacher Rockne's death. Harper was recalled for the first year after Rockne's death, Anderson was senior football coach, assisted by Jack Chevigny, who was called the "junior coach." The combination lasted only one year and Chevigny left, making Anderson head coach. Anderson did well in his first year as head coach but last season his team had a hapless campaign that was brightened only by victories over Indiana and Northwestern and the outstanding upset of the Army.

The retirement of Harper, who has wanted to return to his ranch in Kansas again, eliminated his plan to ultimately install Noble Kiser of Purdue as head football coach at Notre Dame.

15 TROJANS TO PLAY LAST GAME

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8 (AP)—Fifteen Southern California football players, who will be participating in their last game for Troy when they meet Washington here tomorrow looked to their final workout today with the hope that they might finish a great three years with a victory.

These fifteen gridsters, seven of whom on the starting lineup, have failed defeat only twice in 32 games, including the Rose Bowl engagements.

Coach Howard Jones planned only a light workout for them this afternoon. Tonight they will break bread with members of the Washington team at the annual alumni banquet and then tomorrow go out to tackle a team of huskies bent on finishing a rather unsuccessful year with a routing win over one of Troy's greatest aggregations.

Japanese Youth Beats Zabala's Marathon Mark

TOKYO (AP)—With the sons of submerged Korea taking equal ranking with their Japanese fellow-subjects of the Mikado, the Japanese empire's contingent of marathon runners during the 1933 racing season again proved to be among the strongest in the world, threatening to make an even more formidable bid for an Olympic championship in 1936 than it made in 1928 and 1932.

The climax of the season was the record smashing performance of Koro Kusunoki, hitherto unknown youth from the salt fields of Sakai, in winning the marathon event in the annual national games at the Meiji Shrine stadium here, but close on the heels of this Japanese champion was a lad from Korea, and several other Koreans were in the closely bunched pack behind.

Olympic Timber

Kusunoki covered the full marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards in 2 hours, 31 minutes, 10 seconds, clipping 26 seconds from the mark set by Juan Carlos Zabala of the Argentine in winning the Olympic marathon at Los Angeles last year.

In second place was another unheralded star, Nam Ki-ryong, from Zena Nando province, Korea, whose time of 2 hours, 32 minutes, 33 seconds, stamped him one of the best distance runners in the world.

Since Korea's annexation by Japan in 1910, her sons have had few chances to back in the world limelight. In long distance running, a sport that requires almost no equipment and little coaching, her poor students appear to have found their forte.

Next Champion?

From among the hundreds of earnest, tireless youths plugging along the roads of Korea in tennis shoes and running shorts may come the next champion in the illustrious Olympic succession.

The Tokyo marathon course is a carefully measured full distance trail. It has a fair quota of hills and much of it lies through traffic-filled streets, no aid to speed. It is, however, probably a little less strenuous than the Olympic course at Los Angeles or other famous American courses.

Battle With No Referee Taboo, Commission Says

There is to be a referee in the ring when Lowell Hutchinson, flashy middleweight of Union, attempts to knock the Eastern Oregon 160-pound champion crown from the manly brow of Jimmy Chandler, of La Grande, in one of the 16 fights on the Eagles one-night tourney of champions and near champions of the Saco-Java area on Wednesday night, it became known today.

The boxing commission of La Grande stepped in yesterday and ordered a third man in the ring for the titular bout. Roy Parnam, chairman, announced. Both boxers had agreed to have the referee officiate from outside the ring. Olympic games in the boxing in the Olympic games.

Another fight was made known on the Wednesday night card when it was announced that Verlin Keffer, La Grande, would mix with Jack Cope, junior welter king of Elgin.

The Keffer-Cope bout and a fight between Dave Larson, Eastern Oregon senior, lightweight champion of La Grande, vs. Louis Harrell, Baker, brings the total number of the announced bouts to 10, with the other six to be made known in a day or two.

Big Ray Berney, powerful 235-pound tackle at E. O. N., displays class and hitting ability in his private workouts. Les Showers and Dick Russell, declared today.

The winners Wednesday night as well as becoming official Eastern Oregon amateur champions will get a free trip to Boise for the Idaho-Oregon tourney in January.

NEA SERVICE'S ALL-COAST CONFERENCE TEAM

BIGGER GATE FOR FOOTBALL GAMES THAN SINCE 1929

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK (AP)—College football finally has turned the corner in a big way, on the basis of attendance figures compiled today by the Associated Press, and regained much of the popularity as well as financial ground lost during the past three years.

The tabulation for 1933, covering all sections of the country, reveals a rising tide of turnstile activity exceeding the most optimistic expectations. It shows that 49 out of 53 colleges and universities registered substantial gains over 1932, ranging in a few instances as high as 100 per cent. Records for attendance were broken in the Big Ten, the Big Six and Rocky Mountain conferences. Last year there was a general decline of 15 per cent.

Fordham and Princeton in the east, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio State, Minnesota and Nebraska in the mid-west, Tennessee in the south, Denver in the Rocky Mountain conference, St. Mary's, Stanford and Southern California on the Pacific coast, showed the biggest increases over 1932. Their gains ranged from 33-1-3 to more than 100 per cent.

Fordham's first season under Jimmy Crowley was marked by more than double attendance. St. Mary's, which best Fordham before a capacity crowd in New York, showed the best record by jumping its attendance last year to 379,000 for nine games its home attendance.

Southern California, playing most of its games in the huge Olympic stadium, attracted more cash customers than any other team. The Trojans played ten games before 563,000 spectators, an increase of nearly 90,000 over last year's total for nine games.

Navy was in front in the east with an estimated 350,000 turnout for its complete schedule. Notre Dame topped the list again in the middle west with an aggregate of 382,000 but this is a decline from last year's figure of 441,000. Army, with a total of 322,700, was the only other team on the list to pass the 300,000 mark in aggregate attendance.

The season's biggest single game attendance, 83,808 for the Michigan-Ohio State contest at Ann Arbor, set a new high mark for the Big Ten. Other capacity or near-capacity turnouts were 90,000 for Southern California-Stanford at Los Angeles, 79,000 for Army-Notre Dame at Philadelphia and 78,000 for Army-Notre Dame at New York.

The Kansas-Nebraska game attracted 31,000, biggest crowd in the Big Six since 1928 and these two colleges established all-time records for total attendance during the season. The Huskers, in five home games, played before 111,343 customers.

2 TRAPSHOTS WILL BE HELD

Two more trapshoots have been announced for this year by the La Grande Gun club.

One, a practice shoot, will be held Sunday at Lone Tree beginning about 10 o'clock. Everyone is invited, especially new shooters, who wish to improve their accuracy.

The second shoot will be a Christmas turkey event to be held on Sunday, Dec. 17.

Benton Harbor, Michigan, seems to have a habit of producing sterling quality in football talent.

Army's All-America captain last year, Milton Summerfelt, reflected honor and distinction upon the old home town on the shore of Lake Michigan.

This season, two of the outstanding candidates for all-star honors were high school team-mates at Benton Harbor four years ago. One of them is Chuck Bernard, Michigan's great center and defensive key-man. The other is Art Bus, 211-pound tackle at Michigan State.

Bernard has been more in the spotlight, sufficiently so to just about clinch membership on everybody's 1933 All-America list, but our scout report Bus has equally outstanding ability. He has played an average of 57 minutes of football in 24 consecutive games for Michigan State. His durability has been accompanied by such consistently excellent performance that his present coach, Charles Bachman, remarks:

"He may not make All-American but I would like to see the All-American who can outplay Bus."

Under The Bushel

Speaking of football lights that shine under the proverbial small-college bushel, with contents received and duly noted:

"Bill Volok, 210-pound guard and captain of Tulsa university, a senior, is undoubtedly one of the southwest's greatest players in years. He is versatile, playing guard, end, fullback and halfback under certain conditions. If Volok decides to play pro football you will see that mentioning him as All-American is not just local pride."

Jack Knapper, halfback on the Central university (Kansas) football team, has played his third year as an outstanding back. His record for the season, summarized, shows he averaged 100 yards gain by scrimmage per game, despite injuries which kept him on the bench nearly all of the first game and three halves of other games; averaged 40 yards in punts; successful in 50 passes with about 27 incomplete, featured with defensive work as safety man and as blocker.

"This St. Thomas (Pa.) college team is really a grand outfit, the best we've ever produced and incidentally we've a kid who for my money is better than our Ray Stecker. Tibby Bannell, Johnny Garvey and other notables we've sent forward. He's a triple threat called 'Dinty' Waleski, a deadly kicker and a ball-carrier with few equals. Put him on a top-notch club and everybody in the country would be singing his praises. Which is the penalty the small-timers must pay."

Fine Feather

Colonel Dan McGugin, the noted football coach and after-dinner speaker, indulged in a rare flight of oratory after Tennessee's part-Cherokee halfback, Beattie Feathers, ran wild through the colonel's Vanderbilt Commodores. Quoth McGugin:

"I am more or less inclined to rate him with Willie Heston, the player whom I once placed on a pedestal and vowed never to allow anyone to enter the same sanctuary."

FIELDING RECORD MADE BY BOSTON BRAVES IN 1933

NEW YORK (AP)—Although the Boston Braves set up a new club fielding record for the National League during the 1933 season, they captured only one of the nine individual titles.

The Braves wound up with a field mark of .978, the official averages reveal, two points higher than the old record the same club had hung up in 1932.

Burly Frank Hogan was the only Brave, however, to win individual honors. He wound up with an average of .977 to lead the catchers. The club won three of these berths, Manager Charley Grimm leading the first baseman at .960, Elwood English the third sacker at .973, and Lon Warnecke the pitchers at 1.000. Twenty fingers turned in perfect records but Warnecke accepted the most chances, 80.

Billy Herman, second baseman of the Cubs, set up two new records during the season, making 456 putouts against the mark of 459 Bill Sweeney of Boston set in 1912, and making 11 putouts in a single game. Jimmy Wilson, St. Louis Cardinals catcher, now a member of the Phillies, hung up another record when he was credited with 18 putouts in the game in which Dizzy Dean, Cardinal pitcher, struck out 17 Cubs. The old record of 17 putouts was held by Hank Deberry, Dazzy Vance's old battery-mate at Brooklyn, in 1928.

Herman not only set up his two records but also had the most chances among second basemen with 1923, figured in the most double plays, 114, and committed the most errors, 45.

Baxter Jordan of Boston had the most chances among first basemen while Don Hurst of the Phillies figured in the most double plays, 132, made the most assists, 114, and the most errors, 23.

Among the third basemen, Pie Traynor of Pittsburgh had the most chances, 803 and made the most errors, 27, while Joe Stripp of Brooklyn and Johnny Vergez of New York were involved in the most double plays, 17.

Dick Bartell's 919 total chances led the shortstops and the Philadelphiaian also led in double plays with 100 while Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of Pittsburgh was charged with the most errors, 48.

Among the outfielders, Chick Fullis of the Phillies had the most chances, 435; Chuck Klein, also of the Phillies, the most assists, 21, Joe Moore of New York the most double plays, six, and George Watkins of the Cardinals, the most errors, 15.

Gus Egan of the Giants led the catchers in total chances with 682, in double plays, 15, in errors, 19, and in passed balls, 12.

Carl Hubbell had the greatest number of chances among the pitchers.

Negro Slain; Then Mad Mob Takes Him

to his gull or innocence, the negro died as the car bearing him sped toward Victor, six miles east of Beaumont.

The body was taken to Silsbee, another small town in the vicinity, by Sheriff Miles Jordan of Hardin county. On learning of these developments, the mob, slowly increasing in size, trailed the sheriff to Silsbee, took the body from him, tied it behind an automobile with chains, and dragged it for 35 minutes through the negro section of Kountze.

Members of the frenzied mob of approximately 300 cut out the negro's heart and other organs before casting it to the flames.

There was talk of raiding the Hardin county jail here and inflicting similar treatment upon two other negroes under arrest, suspected of having aided Gregory to evade officers shortly after Mrs. Brockman was killed. But the mob dispersed after burning the body.

Mrs. Josephine Lowther, who died recently at Ridgeland, S. C., was the mother of 11 children, the grandmother of 85 and the great-grandmother of 23.

SEVEN PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 8 (AP)—Seven persons were burned to death here shortly after 1:30 a. m. today when fire destroyed the home in which they were sleeping.

The dead are: Mrs. Genevieve Hibblen, 31, and her four children, Genevieve, 8; Catherine, 6; Jerome, 5; and Ernest, 2; and Mrs. Erlene Orr, 19, and her daughter, Constance, 18 months.

The fire apparently started from an overheated stove.
