TRADING IN EGGS IS MORE ACTIVE

PORTLAND, Jan. 8 (AP) — Trading in the egg market was more active and generally at lower prices. While local co-ops were reported holding for 21c dozen for extras, all others indicated a 20c top for that grade.

In spots the market for butter looked higher here as a result of greatly increased consuming movement of late. Today production, while more than reasonable, was not holding up so well.

Indicating the futility of trying to establish proper quotations on the Portland produce exchange based upon supply and demand is reflected in the weekly review of the cheese trade. The late decline in price on the local exchange was utterly out of line with what was happening in practically all other parts of the country, the survey shows.
