Supt. and Mrs. H. A. Connett To Be Guests of Old Timers Club At Program and Dance Tonight

The Old Timers club of the Union Pacific will have H. A. Connett, superintendent, and Mrs. Connett as their honored guests tonight at a program and dance at the Sacajawea Inn at 8:10 o'clock. Mr. Connett arrived this morning and Mrs. Connett is expected to arrive this evening.

Jack Coleman, "the singing brakeman," writes from Pendleton that he has had his knees manicured and is ready to do the job. Mr. Coleman was the featured entertainer at the pensioners' banquet here recently and made a big hit with his Scotch songs and jokes.

Miss Eileen Manning, 17, tap and buck and wing dancer also will be presented on the program and Mr. Coleman assures the committee in charge that she "is a Bonnie lass that knows her stuff." Miss Manning will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Alex Manning. A quintet from Union, accompanied by Miss Eira Clark, will present a group of numbers, Miss Von Ciele Bruce will dance, and vocal selections will be furnished by Mrs. Myrtle Russell and Mrs. Floyd Sherwood.

Mrs. Woodie continued the study of the history of the city of Perugia and told of the situation and temper of the people. The painted fountain of the city was described by Mrs. Bennett, after which Mrs. Zurbick described the domo of the cathedral. Cathedrals are built in three parts, the domo, the baptistry and the campanile and Mrs. Zurbick discussed the former.

The pagan, Lorenzo, was described by Mrs. Kiddie, and Mrs. Cleaver presented a discussion of art in Umbria.

Stena will be the subject for study at the next meeting in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Hal Bohnenkamp.

SOVIET BUYING TO QUIET CLAIMS OF U. S. A. FIRMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP) — Administration officials today hailed privately as a constitutional victory for the national recovery legislation a close but decisive supreme court decision upholding the validity of the Minnesota mortgage moratorium law.

By a vote of 5 to 4 the high tribunal ruled in favor of the first emergency statute passed either in the state or nation, defending in broad principle the right of a state to suspend contracts in an emergency.

Official sources refuse to discuss the subject but it is understood that, if these private claims reach the negotiation stage, the soviet government will seek to avoid cash settlements and will favor instead an agreement like the one it reached with the General Electric Company in 1929.

Interest Rate High
This agreement provided that if Soviet Russia bought $25,000,000 worth of goods or services from the company over a period of six years, General Electric would consider satisfied its approximately $2,000,000 claim against Moscow for property seized in the nationalization process here.

In return, the soviet government obligated itself to pay a higher than normal interest rate on credits extended by the company. Long term financing was arranged for approximately $4,000,000 yearly for the duration of the agreement.

Up to now, soviet purchasing organizations have not availed themselves of the maximum credit to which the agreement entitled them, total purchases with the agreement only a little more than a year to run having amounted roughly to $11,000,000. This leaves some doubt as to whether Moscow will take advantage of the opportunity to wipe out that particular claim.

Huge Total at Stake
Regardless, however, of whether it buys up the full amount within the specified time, well informed circles here believe that Soviet Russia will attempt to have the General Electric agreement made the pattern for any settlement at which it may arrive with other American companies.

The total amount of private American claims are believed to be in the neighborhood of $300,000,000, with International Harvester and the Singer Sewing Machine Company among the chief claimants.

Preliminary discussions are expected to begin soon after the establishment of the new embassies in Washington and Moscow.

MISSIONARY STUDY GROUP TO MEET

The missionary study group of the Presbyterian church will hold its third session Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. Denham, 1609 Fourth street. All women who are interested in the course of study are invited to be present.
