BEEF FOR RELIEF WILL COME FROM DAIRYS' SURPLUS

Ernest DeLong, president of the Interstate Associated Creameries, with headquarters in Portland, announced here today that he had received information that federal funds have been made available to supply each family on the relief rolls with eight pounds of beef per week, the beef to be obtained from surplus dairy cows.

In the state of Washington the dairy cows for supplying this beef are being bought in each of the counties on a basis of the proportion of dairy cows in the county to the total in the state. The director of agriculture, Walter J. Robinson, of Olympia, is working both through the co-operative creameries and the county relief committees in selecting the cows for slaughter, paying in all cases $2.00 per hundred live weight, fob farm.

In Oregon the plan approved by Max Gehlhar, director of agriculture, is to turn the matter over to the two beef packing firms that have B. A. I. inspection on the basis of 65 per cent to one firm, and 35 per cent to the other. Contracts for this work were finally lined up Thursday Jan. 11.

An appeal was made on Jan. 5, both to the director of agriculture and to an influential member of the Oregon relief committee, to have the producers of Oregon represented in some such way in Washington.

"In spite of our offer to assist and get producer representation and participation directly in the 16 Oregon counties where we operate the contract was permitted to go through with the beef packers as the sole judge of cows they will buy. We are assured that the buyers will at least inspect all cattle our members wish to sell at from $1.75 to $2.00 per hundredweight fob farm, in whatever part of Oregon they may be located," Mr. DeLong said.

"If you have any unprofitable dairy cows you would like to sell at these prices you should go to the manager of your co-operative creamery or the county agent, who will assist you in the matter.

"So far as the federal government is concerned, every effort has been made to see that dairy producer interests were protected by requiring first that the beef for the unemployed be dairy cows, and second, by insisting that the plan followed in each state have the approval of the state director of agriculture. Therefore, if producers are not fairly treated in Oregon, you should look to the director of agriculture for the reason.

"It is also planned to place a processing tax on dairy products, and we wish to point out that it is desirable for you to write your congressmen and senators, pointing out the necessity of controlling imported fats and all oleo before asking dairymen to reduce the efficiency of their operations," Mr. DeLong concluded.

specific districts, reporting to the administrator. It will be their task to arrange for establishing liquor stores in such places as may be recommended by the administrator and the commission.

The three also will investigate and recommend appointments of agents to handle commission liquor where stores will not be installed. They will check on applicants for positions in their districts, to find the most available men.

Inquiries here today revealed that Mr. Runte travelled for the Neustadter Bros. clothing firm for many years in Eastern Oregon, Washington and Idaho. He was a candidate for the office as administrator locally. It was believed that Mr. Runte also has a Portland address as well as one in La Grande.

Pulitzer Is Named NRA Administrator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)— Ralph Pulitzer, member of the newspaper publishing family, today was named a deputy administrator of NRA to have charge of the newspaper and allied codes when they are approved.

A deer apparently born with only three legs yet fat and able to travel with considerable speed was found near Goleta, Cal.

SO THEY WROTE PIERCE'S NAME IN AFTERWARDS

Imagine publicity for some measure sponsored by some congressman coming off the press without mentioning said congressman's name? But now it is learned that a batch of publicity for the Pierce relief control bill, sponsored by Walter M. Pierce, congressman for Eastern Oregon, nearly went out without having its sponsor's name mentioned!

Here's the story: Mrs. Margaret Sanger is busy arranging a national convention to support the Walter M. Pierce birth control bill. There will be a meeting in the house judiciary committee on this anti-baby measure of the congressman from Oregon.

Reputed father of the bill to curtail the baby crop, Representative Pierce was the forgotten man in the press notice released by Mrs. Sanger. A three-page mimeographed announcement was issued enumerating all of the speakers at the convention and at the banquet. After the publicity was prepared someone discovered that the Democratic national committee-man for Oregon had been ignored—completely left off the program.

In this dilemma someone had to take the sheaf of mimeographed sheets and, with pen and ink, interpolate the name of Pierce, thus disclosing to one and all that the father of the bill had been overlooked and his name inserted as an afterthought.

Associated with Representative Pierce in the movement for fewer infants are Amalia Barhart, Fanny Hurst, Miss Anne Morgan, Miss Lillian D. Wald, Miss Mary Woolley and Kermit Roosevelt, whose father denounced race suicide.

Fights for Seat In Congress

Her seat in Congress from the Sixth Louisiana district contested by Jared Sanders, Jr., who also claims it, Mrs. Bolivar Kemp, Huey Long candidate, is shown as she pleaded her case before the House Elections Committee in Washington. Mrs. Kemp was declared elected after receiving 5,000 votes in an election without a primary, while Sanders was selected in an unofficial "citizens' election."

THE GLUTTED HOME MARKET

HOG production in the United States has increased at about the same rate as our population, but the quantity of hog products available for home consumption has increased materially because of a severe decline in our exports since the World War. The American people recently have been eating around 14 percent more pork and lard than they did in the pre-war period, and they are now eating a higher percent of the total production of hogs than 20 years ago. However, this excess of hog products in the home market has depressed hog prices. The recent increased consumption is a reflection of the comparatively low prices at which the pork had to move, rather than of any substantial pickup in consumer requirements or preference for hog products. A more moderate hog production would eliminate the excess of the home market and would result in a higher price per hundred weight and a larger total return from the whole hog crop. This the core-hog plan of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration seeks to bring about by adjusting production to present-day needs.

MARGARET KEITH INSANE, OPINION OF PSYCHIATRIST

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (AP)— A second opinion that Margaret Keith was insane also brought a statement today from a psychiatrist, Dr. A. D. Houghton, that the long accepted belief in the community of the brain from infectious diseases was incorrect.
Dr. Houghton was called as a witness for relative-convicts to the will of the wealthy Palos Verdes reclusive, daughter of the late David Keith, multi-millionaire Utah mining man, who contend her mind was up-sond when she willed the bulk of her $1,500,000 estate to a nephew, Albert C. Allen Jr., Oregon architect.
Reviewing the behavior of Miss

Keith with as her reluctance to be seen by human beings, sleeping in the hallways of a 30-room mansion and hiring and firing 900 gardeners in four years, Dr. Houghton said he believed she suffered from paranoia and schizophrenia.
