M.E. Membership Roll Call To Be Held on Sunday

Special Event Planned For Morning Church Service - Other Programs Are Announced.

Programs for Sunday services in the churches in the La Grande community include the following:

First Methodist Episcopal Church (Corner Spring and Fourth)
The Sunday church school, which begins at 9:45, starts the day off in a fine way. Five departmental programs, beside the division of records and finance, are striving for helpful worthwhile services of worship for each age group. Every pupil is urged to be there on time. At about 10:05 these five groups divide into 20 or more classes with a teacher for each. They have prepared an interesting and instructive lesson. All not elsewhere enrolled are welcome.

As the 11 o'clock morning worship service, a special event will be the "Membership Roll Call" by families. It is desired that every member who possibly can, be there and help make this service a success. We are now in the midst of our "Spiritual Recovery" endeavor," said Rev. W. H. Hertzog. "Last Sunday was observed as 'Family Day' with very commendable results." This week is Roll Call and the pastor will speak on the subject "They Were All Together." There will be an anthem by the large chorus choir and a special vocal number following the offertory. Paul Knutiz is music director and Mrs. Ruth Jackson presides at the organ console.

At the evening service at 7:30 there will be the song service at the beginning featuring the congregational singing of old familiar hymns. The special feature of the evening will be a duet by the Misses Beverly and Barbara Guye. The pastor will speak on the subject "The Old Time Religion." This service will be lively, interesting, brief and helpful to all who will enter into the spirit of it, he said.

The Epworth Leaguers meet in their respective places at 6:30 and are providing fine services for all the young folk that come.

Presbyterian Church (Sixth and Washington)
"The church is a growing institution. Last year the membership had a gain of three times the nation's increase in population. During this time the huge sum of $100,000,000 was spent for labor in the building of churches. The church affects more human lives than any other organization. Its influence is steadily growing," said Rev. J. George Wale, in extending the invitation to come to church next Sunday, and announcing the sermon topic for the 11:00 o'clock hour, "What Do We Live For?" A group of Boy Scouts will be guests for the service and will be assigned a reserved section. The boys will be accompanied by Harvey Carter, who is doing much to develop the growth and effectiveness of this organization in our city. The choir will sing the anthem, and Donald Pouch, baritone, will sing the offertory solo, "Evening Star," by Tannhauser.

It will be profitable to attend the Sunday school at 9:45 Sunday morning and young people will find a delightful fellowship at the meeting of the Young Peoples Forum, in the old manse at 5:00 o'clock, and high school students and others will enjoy the 6:30 o'clock Christian Endeavor hour. Miss Beatrice Young will give a book review.

Central Church of Christ (Pennywell Avenue)
The Central Church of Christ will conduct a special "Loyalty Day" service Sunday in which an effort is being made to enlist the entire church. Church attendance is being emphasized among the members of this church and all who do not attend elsewhere are cordially invited to attend these services. The morning worship service at eleven o'clock will consist of the communion service, an anthem by the choir and the morning sermon. The pastor, Rev. Paul De F. Mortimore, has announced that he will use for his morning topic, "A Woman of the Street."

The Bible school meets at 9:45 a. m. with fully graded classes for all ages. Miss Dorothy Benita is superintendent of this school.

Singing society of the Christian Endeavor meets at 6:15 in the church annex. This is the group of older young people and the discussions and studies are quite interesting. The high school group meets in the basement at 6:30, with Mrs. Nellie Harrison in charge.

The popular Sunday evening service begins at 7:30 p. m. with a prelude concert by the orchestra. A special feature for children attracts large numbers of the juniors to this service. The sermon for Sunday night will be "How Can I Know That I Am a Christian?"

This church is known as the church of a "hearty welcome."

First Church of Christ, Scientist (First and Washington)
Sunday school begins at 9:45 and the morning service at 11 o'clock at this church. Wednesday evening meetings are at 8 o'clock. The reading room in the West Jacobson building is open from 1 to 4:30 p. m. daily.

The subject of the Sunday service will be "Truth."

The golden text is: "He that hearkens to my voice, for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deut. 32:4).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let none of you imagine evil in your heart against his neighbor; and love no false oath:

for all these are things that I hate, saith the Lord (Zech. 8:17). The lesson-sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Teaching or practicing in the name of Truth, but contrary to its spirit or rules, is most dangerous quackery. Any dishonesty in your theory and practice betrays a gross ignorance of the method of the Christ-cure. One must abide in the words of truth, or he cannot demonstrate the divine Principle" (p. 456).

St. Peter's Episcopal Church (Corner Fourth and 2)
Regular services will be held at this church, beginning with holy communion at 8 a. m., then followed by Sunday school at 9:45 o'clock and morning prayer with sermon at 11 o'clock. The musical program, following the offertory, selected solo; postlude "Victory" by Nallard.

It is the purpose and the endeavor to make these services as helpful to the folk of the community as is possible. The basic truths of all the Evangelical denominations are presented and modern experiences of life are interpreted in the light and relation to these truths. The helpfulness of these services is increased in proportion to the community cooperation.

Sermonette

Edited by Harriet R. MacDonald

It shall be well with them that fear God.—Ec. 8:12.

"On the first of January, let us highly resolve that this year we will try as we never before have tried in all our lives to fit our feet to the foot-prints of Jesus Christ, to walk as nearly as our day and location will permit in the path that He followed." (Gene Stratton-Porter).

I brought Good Deeds, though as yet but seeds; let the New Year make them blossom into Deeds.

I brought Joy to brighten many happy days; let the New Year's Angel turn it into Peace.

If I gave you sickness, if I brought you Care; let him make one Patient and the other Prayer.

If I brought you Plenty, all wealth's bounteous charms; Shall not the new Angel turn them into Alms?

If I brought Temptation, let Sin die away; into boundless Pity for all hearts that stray.

May you hold this Angel dearer than the last— Lo, I bless his Path, while he crowns my Past.

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM
Mat. 5: 1-48

We read in this inspired account how Jesus went up on a mount above the thronging multitudes and spoke the grand beatitudes.

There seated on the grassy ground, with His disciples gathered round, He taught the standards, grand and high, Of Heaven's Kingdom then so nigh.

The Savior's rule for blessedness: Was not earth's riches to possess; But from all evil to depart, And have real purity of heart.

He said their goodness must surpass That of the Pharisee class, Or they could never have access Into God's realm of righteousness.

He taught the "Golden Rule" sublime A remedy for every crime—"To others you should always do As you would have them do to you."

He also taught the law of love, All other standards far above; "Love all mankind, both friends and foes, And pray for all who may oppose."

Divine perfection is the goal That Jesus set for every soul; So may we constantly aspire God's perfect likeness to acquire.

'STABILIZATION' AND 'SOUND MONEY' TERMS EXPLAINED

By Willford I. King
Professor of Economics, N. Y. U. (Written for the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—An interesting phase of the present controversy between the opponents and the advocates of the president's monetary policy is the struggle to capture or retain control of the two terms—"stabilization" and "sound money."

The latter phrase was appropriated by the McKinley cohorts as long ago as 1895, and ever since that date, it has, in the public mind, been associated with the maintenance of our currency on a gold base. To the gold standardites, the retention of this phrase is important, for its use casts a stigma upon all other currency systems by clearly implying that they are unsound.

Advocates of the "commodity dollar" contend, however, that a monetary standard which has resulted in the unjust transfer of scores of billions of wealth, and which has been largely responsible for wrecking the nation, and turning millions of men out of their jobs has no legitimate claim to the phrase "sound money."

They assert that the only type of currency which can legitimately be referred to as "sound" is that which President Roosevelt proposes to establish—namely, one which, year after year, will retain approximately the same purchasing power in terms of commodities in general.

Until recently, the friends of managed currency have had almost unadmitted possession of the words "stable," "stabilize," and "stabilization." The "stable dollar" has been understood to mean one having its value so regulated as to keep the price level constant.

Now, however, when the gold standard advocates demand that the president "stabilize" the dollar, they are urging him to depart from his avowed policy of keeping the purchasing power of the dollar constant and to substitute instead the old policy of defining the dollar as a fixed weight of gold. The president's supporters retort that, to apply the term "stable" to a dollar which halved in value between 1915 and 1920 and which has since more than doubled in value, is clearly an attempt to deceive the public.
