

Housewives To Get Magazines From Safeway

Housewives who visit local Safeway stores this Friday with department with a copy of a new sparkling national weekly magazine tucked in among their purchases, according to plans made by H. M. Howard, district manager of Safeway stores in Union, Wallowa and Baker counties. Every copy of "The Family Circle," the name of the magazine, has been exclusively purchased by Safeway and will be distributed free of charge to customers. "The Family Circle" is anything but a "booster sheet" or house-organ. It's a smartly edited national weekly of over 1,000,000 circulation. Western readers have not generally been acquainted with the publication heretofore, as its circulation has been largely confined to eastern subscribers.

The issue of February 9th will offer, among other outstanding features, a short story, "Two Wise Men," by Richard Connell, nationally famous fiction writer; "Technique of Cooking," by Ida Bailey Allen; ideas for a Valentine party by Julia Lee Wright; "A Dinner Date With Key Francis," by Harry Evans, which promises some illuminating news; "Sons Who Dodge Their Famous Father's Footsteps," by Harriet Thorn-dyke; Robert Pilgrim's "Food For Thought," moving picture and stage reviews by Harry Evans; a section of cartoons and humor; an illustrated department for children which will introduce a new split-word contest, and a Jolly Jingles contest in which there will be prizes and winners each week. Altogether there will be three contests in the issue and the prize will total more than $100 each week. Mr. Howard said that this week, and each Friday thereafter, any person calling at a Safeway store, regardless if a purchase is made, may obtain a free copy of "The Family Circle."

Wages of 20,000 With Ford Motor Company Raised

DETROIT, Feb. 7 (AP) — The Ford Motor Co., reported Tuesday wages of 20,000 production men in the Detroit area have been increased ten per cent, representing upward adjustments that are to be extended to branch production men and will amount to a quarter of a million dollars a month.

The increases, it was explained, are in line with a conviction of Henry Ford that "every wage increase helps the country."

Ford wages in the Detroit area now range from $4 to $4.50 a day in the shops.

cess in contacting merchants who will arrange displays on the mezzanine floor. Her committee includes Miss Marie Tiggelbeck, Miss Blanche Clark, Mrs. C. A. Kopp, Miss Alta Lillie and Miss Miriam Hanna.

The ticket sale opened Saturday and is meeting with unusual success. Miss Mabel Morton, chairman of the ticket committee, urges that those wishing tickets get in touch with members of the American Association of University Women at once since the number of tickets will necessarily be limited. Miss Morton is assisted on the ticket committee by Mrs. L. Z. Terrall, of Union, Mrs. N. W. Frees and Miss Margaret Ross Callahan, of Imbler.

Entertainment features also will be presented during the style show and arrangements for the specialty numbers are being made by Miss Florence Day, chairman, Miss Mildred Pierce, Miss Jennie Peterson and Miss Jane Stange.

Miss Kathryn Sartain is chairman of the committee in charge of training the models which are being selected at the present time by the stores. Miss Catherine Osborne, Miss Marjory Horton and Miss Jean Williams are assisting Miss Sartain.

Decorations and arrangement of tables will be handled by a committee composed of Miss Thelma Whaley, Miss Eva Wear, Mrs. Fred E. Kiddie, Miss Gladys Turley and Miss Eloise Wright, for which no chairman has been named.

Miss Helen Moore, Mrs. Ralph Badgley, Miss Kate Houx, Mrs. George McDonald and Miss Pauline Day are making arrangements for the hall.

Two committees which will work in conjunction are the one in charge of Mrs. E. F. Tyler which will have charge of the food and the other headed by Miss Agnes Palmer which will direct the girls who are serving. Members of the former are Mrs. Robert Eakin, Mrs. B. L. Sleen, Miss Margaret Castains and Miss Alice Klippel. Miss Palmer's committee includes Miss Melba Hanks, Miss Eleanor Vernon and Miss Arta Lawrence.

Miss Bess Duke, chairman, Miss Edith Darby and Mrs. H. W. Fredericks form the publicity committee. A large hostess committee, of which Miss Mabel Doty is chairman, is being selected from among the remaining membership and will be announced in the near future.

can she keep at bay the soviet's attempts to advance into the Orient.

"Japan's choice is whether she will be permanently shut up in these small islands or take the road to promising development.

"We must work out our program without giving other nations a chance to thwart us."

Later, the general told the Associated Press that by expansion he did not mean territorial aggrandizement, but general development.

By "strong pressure," he said he did not mean "armed force" and added his reference was broadly in the years 1935 and 1936 rather than to November 1935 specifically.

Bride Held After Husband's Death

While police were holding Mrs. Anna May Edouard (above) in connection with the death of her husband of 13 days, who was found shot to death in their roomer near Mount Holly, N. J., it was revealed that the dead man, known as Millard Edouard, was really Milan Filipka, a native of Turkey, who once was held in Chicago for deportation. She said her husband shot himself in a fit of despondency while en route from Los Angeles to New York supposedly to collect $110,000 in cash.

'Wholesome' Films Replacing Others In Cinema World

HOLLYWOOD—The inevitable cycle of "wholesome" stories following the "new" path blazed by that story of four sisters in New England is here.

Every highly successful picture starts a movie cycle, and "Little Women" naturally has had the producers ferreting through the libraries in search of other forgotten samples of standard or classic literature that might prove equally profitable.

Already they've "discovered" several books which, if not about four sisters in a New England town, at least have enjoyed the same enduring popularity with readers and hence might be expected to make hit pictures even though Louisa M. Alcott didn't write them.

One of these is "David Copperfield," a well-liked book by a deceased English novelist named Charles Dickens, whose previous popularity with movie producers has been evidenced only by several versions of "Oliver Twist" and the recurrent "Tale of Two Cities."

Two others have been found among the works of another rather well-known Englishman named Rudyard Kipling. Ramon Novarro has been announced for "Kim" and they're looking for stars for "Captains Courageous."

There will doubtless be more, to bring joy to the hearts of school teachers seeking means to "vivify" their courses in literature.

History teachers, of course, have even richer movie aids forthcoming, with a veritable pagant of historical characters across the screen — Rothschild, Napoleon, Dullbury, Catherine the Great, Christina of Sweden, Elizabeth, Mary of Scotland, Cleopatra.

AT THE LIBERTY

Croucho Marx, as Rufus T. Firefly, Dictator of Freedonia, keeps the door open for further negotiations with the First Lady of the Land, Margaret Dumont, in "Duck Soup," Paramount's Four Marx Brothers' comedy, now playing at the Liberty Theatre.

Madder, nuttier, more colorfully than ever, the Marx Brothers swapped down on La Grande and sent humor in hysterics the customers who jammed the Liberty theatre.

This latest outburst of hilarious comedy is entitled "Duck Soup." As is customary with Marxian pictures, the title has nothing whatever to do with the film, but it is indicative of the content. Insanity is "duck soup" for the mad Marxmen, and their present opus is by far the best they ever have produced.

Story Ready To Film - But Black Crow Is Dead

By Robbin Coons
HOLLYWOOD — There's a story ready for production in Hollywood and waiting for a star.

It's about two negro boys who have learned what winter in New York is like and yearn to get back to Dixie. The pair roam the waterfront until they spy a vessel bearing the name, "Miss New Orleans."

They board it joyfully and get jobs, and it is not until the boat is under way that they discover that "Miss New Orleans" is a whaling ship headed for polar snow and ice. The plans were all made for harbor locations at San Pedro, and in a few days the cameras and sound trucks would have been down there at work. But the plans are off now. It's just a picture waiting for a star—for a couple of stars, in fact. It would have marked the return to Hollywood of the "Two Black Crows."

His Good Luck Piece
Charlie Mack, the "Black Crow" who met his death in the Arizona automobile accident the other day, was like many other actors in cherishing a pet superstition. Mack's was a lucky token he carried in his pocket, an absurd little ball made of rolled-up strands of copper wire.

He once said that it had been with him since his first appearance on the stage—that eight-a-day turn he did for Alexander Pantages up in Seattle. Electricians suddenly turned actor are quite likely to pick up stray strands of copper wire and roll them into balls as they stand in the wings awaiting their cue.

Once a movie director who knew Mack's loyalty to his token, thought he'd have some fun. Just before a scene was to start, he "picked" the actor's pocket. But Mack discovered the loss before he went on, and wouldn't continue until he had regained his treasure.

UNION FISH PLANT WORK GOING AHEAD

bought in Union county. Labor will total more than $6,000.

Arrangements were made today to run three-phase power for the operation of the 40-ton food storage plant to be erected at the hatchery, which is expected to cut the cost of food for the fish through larger feeding programs. Salmon waste from canneries will be shipped to Union in large lots, it was said.

The plans involve the building of a 24-inch pipeline in addition to the present 10-inch pipeline, which will increase the water flow four times. The task system of holding, feeding and raising of fish, insuring the best growth and absolute control of disease, is said to be the latest development. The grounds will be landscaped, the buildings arranged in order and uniformly painted, proper driveways and parking laid out by Supt. R. H. Bonney, of the hatchery, and no more trees will be removed than is absolutely necessary.

Game commission plans now are to release the smaller fish in lakes and small streams where they would be protected, and to liberate the Halibut for larger streams late in the year, when they attain a size of four to six inches. Most of the late liberations will be after the fishing season closes, it is believed.

Mr. Crockett today expressed on behalf of the game commission, that body's appreciation of the co-operation of the Union county C. W. A. committee for its general attitude toward the project, its helpfulness in every way, its designating of a superior type of C. W. A. men for the work and, for its efficiency in every respect.
