President Inlow Addresses Social Science Classes

President Inlow of the Normal school addressed the social science students of La Grande high school at a special assembly held in the Normal school auditorium Friday, February 9th at 2 p. m.

J. H. Blunt, social science department head of the high school, introduced the speaker.

President Inlow spoke about the teaching profession in particular. He advised that a choice of vocation be made judicially if possible, for the individual must adapt himself to the requirements of his vocation. The world does not wait for a person, it moves right along.

If you dislike teaching don't go into the teaching profession. To be a success you must be interested in people and understand children. You must enjoy being with children and be willing to treat them patiently.

The teaching profession offers several important fields in which an aspirant may specialize. If a person is going into the teaching profession he should select a field in which he is most interested.

The chief measure of success in any profession is how much can we better society; not how much can we make.

The reward of the teaching profession is seeing the students you have taught make a success.

—Hugh Bunten.

All of the shorthand students are practicing this week on their Order of Gregg Artists test. This is a test that is given every year to all the students. Those writing the best shorthand become members of the Order of Gregg Artists.

Because of poor conditions last year, the test was not given, so this year both divisions are taking it. There are a total of one hundred and fifteen students who will take the test. The papers will be sent in next week, but no reports will be obtained until sometime in March. Then all students sending in satisfactory papers will be given a certificate and the others will receive their corrected papers.

Doctor Petzoldt Addresses Hi School Student Body

At a special assembly of the High school student body, Monday afternoon, Feb. 5, at 1:50 o'clock, Dr. Petzoldt, a Baptist missionary to the Crow Indians, delivered an inspiring address.

Dr. Petzoldt was introduced by Dr. F. W. Starring, the new executive secretary of the state Baptist convention in the state of Oregon.

Dr. Petzoldt spoke of the Red Man as being the true American, that the Red Man was the original owner of the country that we now so proudly call the United States of America. Told of the early American colonists and the hospitality that the Indians showed toward them. Emphasized the fact that the Americans are indebted to the Indian for almost everything they have in the way of food and medicines.

Dr. Petzoldt then spoke in turn about the humiliating injustices that the Americans have wrought against the Indian; a grand way to pay him off for the hospitality that he showed to our forefathers. He then spoke of four pictures in the White House at Washington—they are:

1. Indian friendliness toward the Pilgrims of Plymouth.
2. Pocahantas saves Captain John Smith's life.
3. Penn's bargain with the Indians.
4. A battle scene in which the White men were killing the Indians.

An old Indian was shown these pictures, and this is what he said — Indian feeds White Man—Indian saves White Man's life—Indian sells White Man land — White Man kills Indian.

In closing his address Dr. Petzoldt emphasized this fact—the most serious problem confronting the American public today is the racial problem, and that it is the moral obligation of the young people of this land to join in the solving of this problem.

Are you looking for work, my man?"

Tom Z.: "Not necessarily—but I'd like a job."
