

Over The Valley Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Berry, who have been living in the Mt. Glen district, have moved to the Spockhart ranch near Alice.

Returns To School—Miss Ellen Bull has returned to Wallawa Co. where she has resumed her teaching duties in one of the rural schools. Miss Bull has completely recovered from her recent illness, an attack of pneumonia.

Makes Visit Here—Glenn Ledbetter, who has been high school teacher and athletic coach at Salmon, Ida., for three years, spent a short time in the valley this week visiting with his father, W. R. Ledbetter, and brother, Near A. Ledbetter. Glenn has been granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the school year and will enter the University of Oregon at the beginning of the spring term next week, for further work on his master's degree, which he plans to receive at the end of the summer term at Eugene.

From The East—Mrs. Eli Tracy, of Elgin, has been enjoying a visit with her brother, Herbert Allen, who recently came from Red Bank, New Jersey.

Is Improving—Her friends in this valley are very glad to know that Mrs. Ava Woodell Paul, of Portland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Woodell, and a former successful valley teacher, is improving from a recent operation. Ava was taken with acute appendicitis at the time her mother was in Portland a few weeks ago.

Moving Sheep—A news report from Union states that for the past two weeks bands of sheep have been moving to summer pastures as the lambing season draws to a close. Shepherds generally report a successful lambing season, with ewes in excellent shape and a larger percentage of twins than usual. Range pastures are from four to six weeks further advanced than in normal years and sheep are being moved out correspondingly early. Grass is fine now but the hills are already quite dry and rains will be necessary to keep the summer feeding up to normal. Some sheepmen have turned their sheep onto wheat fields which have made too rapid growth and might be injured by frost. Croeland brothers and John Peterson have moved their bands to the North Powder section; Will Vogel will move his sheep to the High Valley range the middle of this week and S. E. Miller has moved part of his sheep to the Lyons hill range. The latter still has about three weeks of lambing. Forrest Scroggin and D. E. Richards will finish their lambing seasons in a few days.

Get-Together Club—Mrs. Elliott Austin, of La Grande, entertained the Get-Together club of Ladd Canyon, at its last meeting, Mrs. Ladd Canyon, at last meeting, called the meeting to order in the absence of both president and vice president. Following some contests Mrs. Dean Cunniff's name was drawn to receive the embroidered tea-towels. Then Mrs. Austin served a dainty lunch.

Group Meets—The annual meeting of the Otoyka group of Camp Fire Girls, of Island City, was held Tuesday with Margaret and Susan Davis in charge of the program. The president, Miss Betty Dolan, was unable to be present on account of illness. The Camp Fire song was learned. Plans were made for the first counsel fire which is to be held Saturday evening, March 31, at Betty Dolan's. Margaret and Susan showed their hobby books at the meeting this week.

St. Patrick's Social—A most successful St. Patrick's community social was sponsored by the Fruitdale P. T. A. last Friday evening with about 150 people present. The program was arranged by the adults of the community and was

In the form of a radio program. Miss Ruth Smalley acted as the announcer from station PTA. These were the numbers on the program: Old time music by the "Mighty Orchestra." Shamrock Mahoney (Ruth Smalley) sang "Shokey Shoo" accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Blokland. Irish Washerwoman (Mrs. Remington, Mrs. Simonson, Mrs. March, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Woods) sang "Old Spinning Wheel" and "When It's Night-time in Nevada," accompanied by Mildred Butcher. Reading, Red and His Gang at the Picture Show, Mrs. Lena Harmon. Vocal duet, Mildred Butcher and Ernest Busch. Instrumental and vocal numbers, Pinky (Richard Duckett) Blackie (Lloyd Doss) and Whitley (Jack Bates). Irish cops quartet, Jerry Galbreath, Richard Duckett, Ernest Busch, Tom Carpenter, accompanied by Mildred Butcher. Skit, Aunt Betsy and the Stock. Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Harmon. Harmonica music, Jerry Galbreath, accompanied on the guitar by Richard Duckett. Solo, Mrs. Arlene Skeen, accompanied by Tom Skeen. Skit, Fat and Mike, Mrs. Garnet Ruckman and Miss Ruth Smalley. After the program the P. T. A. served refreshments. Everyone seemed well pleased with the success of the social.

PAY TRIBUTE TUESDAY TO J. B. HORNER

A tribute to the memory of the late J. B. Horner, "Walk With Me, Lad," by Anne Shannon Monroe, Oregon's noted writer, is to be presented over the radio station KOAC (550), Oregon State College's broadcasting station Tuesday evening at 8:45. The tribute will be given by Maude Pratt Smith. The late J. B. Horner, one of the most widely known pioneers, and perhaps the best authority on Oregon's pioneer history, was a Grande Ronde boy and youth and kept in touch with the valley and its people through very frequent visits here through all his life. He was a relative of the DeLong connection here. People of this vicinity who listen in to the program are asked to report to the station regarding the program, its reception etc.

AT THE LIBERTY

New Hollywood has made "Wild Boys of the Road," the story of the 500,000 young Americans who are wandering loose over the country's roads today. The picture, which is being released by First National, opens at the Liberty theatre Tuesday. "Wild Boys of the Road" is not all stark drama. Youth of the ages of the wandering boys and girls in America today is too irrepressible for that. Comedy and the exuberance of the very young vie with the naked realities of the situation—a situation that at the present time has called forth a congressional investigation. So numerous have these wandering boys become over the country it is impossible for state and city government to either house, feed, or clothe them. Facts of this momentous national problem were unearthed by Danny Ahearn, youthful author of "Wild Boys of the Road," who chanced on his story when he talked with several of the homeless youngsters in New York's Central Park, and who subsequently lived for six months among them in their "jungles" and "sewer pipe cities" over the country gathering material. A talented cast of young actors and actresses have been assembled for "Wild Boys of the Road." Dorothy Corman and Ann Hovey, both formerly of the chorus of "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933" have the two leading feminine roles. Frankie Darro, Edwin Phillips and Sterling Holloway play the leading male roles. In addition, scores of actual "Wild Boys of the Road" are used in the scenes depicting the life of the boys in an improvised city made entirely of sewer pipes. William Wellman directed.

Kellogg Adopts 6-Hour Working Day Permanently

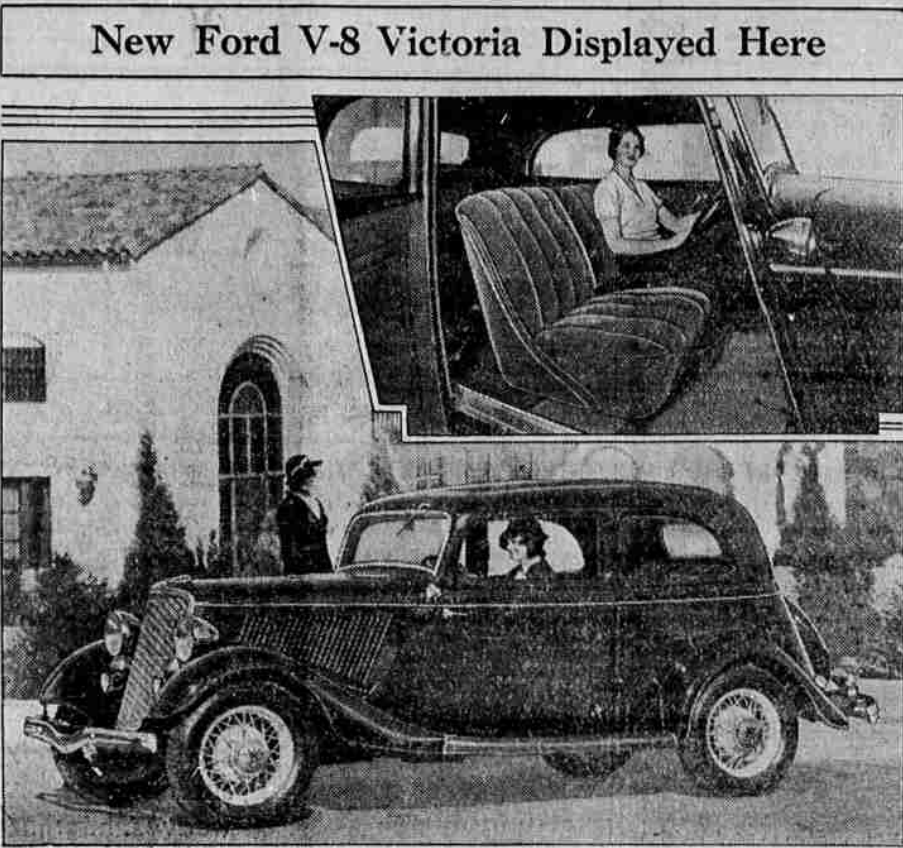

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., March 26 (AP)—W. K. Kellogg, president of the Kellogg company, manufacturing cereals, today announced permanent adoption of the six-hour working day after three years of operation, together with what he described as the highest wage scale ever paid to the company's employees. The minimum hourly rate of 50 cents is being increased to 67 cents, he said, along with a proportionate increase in other basic rates. Bonuses, he said, will make it possible for workers to increase this rate to 81 cents hourly.

Many "Repeaters" In Accident Lists

(Continued From Page One) part to the greater number of miles traveled yearly. However, as an offset to the general chauffeurs' record is the fact that many fleets of trucks and buses, through careful supervision and regulation of their drivers, go through long periods of time without any accident records appearing against their employes. One Oregon company in two million miles of fleet operation has not had a single chargeable accident, indicating the results obtained from concentrated safety work.

EAGLE-EYED HUSBAND CHILDRESS, Tex. (AP)

Several hours after his wife had lost a valuable diamond, Floyd Mashburn retraced the route she had followed through Childress in a motorcar, spotted the gem from the machine and retrieved it.

The newest and smartest of the Ford V-8 body types, the Victoria, with its smart lines reflecting the latest continental mode; (insert), a glimpse of the new divided front seat, which provides ample room for three persons.

The Ford V-8 Victoria is on display in the showrooms of Ford dealers throughout the United States. Aside from its attractive streamline contours, the new Victoria has two unique features. One is a divided three-passenger front seat and the other a large luggage compartment at the rear of the car. The new body type has de luxe appointments throughout. The interior is unusually spacious.

The new front seat is especially comfortable and has the most desired features both of the full width front seat of the Fordor sedan and the individual front seats of the Tudor model. The front passenger seat may be tipped forward to provide access to the rear. Baggage or other articles may be carried in the luggage compartment with the compartment door closed, or, when occasion requires, the compartment may be left open to provide added space, and be protected with a canvas cover which is provided. Among the many other body refinements in the new Victoria is the clear-vision ventilating system which is built into the body. Individual control is provided for both front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired, the window is raised to the top, and an additional half-turn of the crank slides the window back, forming a vertical opening through which stale air is drawn.

JOHN CALVIN, 18, PASSES SUNDAY

John Thomas Calvin, age 18, passed away Sunday morning after a short illness. He had been a resident of Union for the past eight years and was a senior in Union High school. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Calvin, of La Grande; two sisters, Mrs. Valdo Delaney, of Union, and Glenda Calvin, of La Grande; and by four brothers, Milton, Kenneth, Dallas and Howard, all of La Grande. He was a member of the Christian church of Eugene. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Walkers Funeral Home with Rev. Paul De F. Mortimore in charge and burial will be in Union cemetery.

He was taken to Hot Lake from Union last week suffering from ruptured appendix. An immediate operation was performed but it was too late to save his life, according to reports.

ANOTHER CALL TO FUEL HOUSE

The fire department was again called to the fuel house at the Bowman-Hicks Lumber Co. mill about 7 o'clock Sunday morning to extinguish a fire still smoldering in the sawdust. After two hours of work the truck was recalled. No additional damage of consequence was reported. A first fire in the fuel house and boiler room occurred Friday night.

Judith Lane by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Judith Lane and her fiancé, Norman Dale, are returning on a train from the Big Diablo, where Judith's employer, Big Tom Bevins, has completed a survey of a mine that includes the Diablo valley and all its unpolluted settlers. Now Judith finds that Norman, who is her partner in the Houston law firm that handles the legal business of Bevins' big engineering and contracting firm, insists that she give up her position when they are married. Judith agrees to accept to Bevins, and finds that he is not surprised.

CHAPTER SIX ORDEAL STIX

TOM BEVINS went on: "You forget I've known Norman all of his life, lived in the same block with him since the day he was born. He is as generous as can be with things he likes, but he won't share anything he loves with anyone."

"I remember a woolly lamb he had when he was a little like. He loved that thing, wouldn't put it in his play box for fear my daughter Mathilda would get it. And of course that was the very thing she wanted... but this isn't getting to work is it, Judy?"

Judith shook her head. She had almost forgotten Big Tom had a daughter, she spent so much of her time away at school, or abroad. She would like to have heard more of Norman's childhood.

"About your leaving me," Bevins went on, "I had supposed you would want to be free as soon as our survey reports were completed, so I made arrangements for young Goodwin to take your place. Of course I'm selfish enough to have wanted you in the field while the dam was under construction, but then..." he shrugged his shoulders.

"We could wait until it was finished," offered Judith.

"No-no," protested Bevins quickly. "I want to see you married to the boy. I couldn't have wanted a finer lad for my own son—he stepped as though started by an idea, then went on—"sort of feeling I'll be doing Emil—favor seeing his daughter safe..." his voice dwindled off and he looked out across the intense blue of the Gulf as though he were seeing far beyond Judith's physical vision.

Judith watched him, grey eyes tender. Next to her father's memory she loved Big Tom. They spent so much time together. Unhappy at home, he would wait until his wife and daughter started one of their innumerable trips, then would visit Judith's apartment, content to mingle with her friends.

She was heartened by the thought that he might use her home, hers and Norman's, as a retreat from his loneliness.

"SUPPOSE we get after these reports," suggested Bevins, and the two bent their heads over maps and note books filled with figures.

Twilight was sweeping up from the east when Judith and Norman found time to be alone together again. Galveston, still bathed in the last rays of the sun, but showing twinkling jetty lights, lay to the starboard.

"Did I tell you I sent a wire to mother from Rio Mar?" Norman inquired as they stood on deck.

"Oh, it was a quick-breathed reply. Of course he had a mother, but she'd forgotten Mrs. J. Anthony Dale must play an important part in their life. "Hope she'll like me."
