DR. HART BLAMES 'COMPLACENCY OF AMERICAN PEOPLE'

SPokane, Wash., Apr. 5 (AP)—Only a century and a half old, our ship of state, leaning badly, is on the rocks, all because of "civic complacency," some 3800 northwestern educators were told by a prominent Californian here.

Dr. F. W. Hart, professor of education at the University of California, was the speaker. He addressed the opening general session of the Inland Empire Education association convention.

Dr. Hart, a member of the commission which surveyed educational conditions in California, placed upon "civic complacency" the blame for backwardness in that state's school system.

"Chicago is backward and in the hands of financial domination today," he declared. "What has happened in Chicago may happen anywhere in the United States."

"Civic complacency is at the foundation of the deplorable condition in Chicago. Civic complacency exists in every state in the Union. Preliminary politicians are found from the status of liberty to the seal rocks."

Unless the citizens generally arouse themselves from their civic lethargy, Dr. Hart warned, "the situation found in Chicago today will be nation-wide. Popular government will have fallen victim of its own hand."

As causes for conditions in Chicago, Dr. Hart listed obsolescent tax machinery, a "tax racket" and a tax strike. The "tax racket," he explained, was the "sell out" of the assessment rolls by the "relected public servants and their henchmen — the predatory politicians."

The educator made three suggestions for correcting these conditions: First, creation of state foundations for promotion of justice in taxation, economy and honesty in government; second, making every home a forum for the discussion of social, political and economic issues; and, third, formation of a commission made up of laymen, educators and tax experts, charged with the duty of studying comprehensively the whole problem of taxation and of proposing a program of social legislation.

These suggested reforms, Dr. Hart said he believed, "would serve to plug the leaks in the ship of state."

"Some demand a new ship," he concluded. "For my part I believe the old ship is sound in principle and is built on the right lines, but it needs a better in the dry-dock. Its old-fashioned machinery must be ripped out, its barnacles of political graft stripped off."

The work consists of construction of four siphons on the main canal, and four siphons and weirs on the Mitchell canal laterals, as well as some smaller structures.

Notices will be filed here last week if the bidders take another step toward war.

BOCK AGAIN!

after 14 years!

Tacoma

"BEST, EAST OR WEST"

BOCK BEER

"WHAT IS BOCK BEER?" queries the public. "Whence did it come?" "Who first brewed it?" There are no exact answers, as antiquity has swallowed them. But there are myths and traditions, for example:

"Once, in the middle ages, there were two brewers in Munich and they challenged each other to a beer-drinking contest to determine the superior brew. Each drank the other's beer. They sat facing each other on a bench and tested their sobriety by trying to thread needles. Finally one contestant failed and fell from the bench. He thought a goat (in German a Bock) had hit him. So bock beer was named."

GOAT IS SYMBOL He that as it may, nearly every brewer uses the goat as the symbol of bock beer.

MADE IN WINTER Bock beer was originally made in the wintertime, for two good reasons. First: it was only possible, in the old days, to dry the malt properly in the winter months when temperature and humidity could be controlled. Second: bock beer was best suited to consumption in late winter and spring weather.

OVER 5% BY VOLUME Tacoma or Rainier Bock Beer is brewed from malt that is superbly roasted — "caramelized" — to give it a dark, rich color and a body that retains all the deliciousness of the original ingredients. Aged for three months in the world's largest ageing vats this beer provides the "smoothness" that characterizes the very finest brews. Wholesome and nutritious, you will be sure to enjoy it.
