Trotzky Ordered To Leave France

months without their knowing it, raided the villa Sunday.

A nationwide clamor of protest for Trotzky's expulsion developed immediately after the public learned of his mysterious Barbizon hideaway.

Sarrat declined to say whether Trotzky would be permitted to return to Corsica or whether he would be compelled to quit French territory entirely. If the latter course is taken, it was presumed Trotzky—a "man without a country"—would return to his former Turkish exile which he left ostensibly because of boredom and poor health.

FIVE MEMBERS OF COMPANY E ARE PROMOTED

Several changes in rank were announced during drill of Company E, 180th Infantry last night at the armory. Clifton Bradshaw, private first class, was promoted to corporal, and Privates Alan Eames, James Leslie, Herbert Miller and J. C. Williams were appointed privates first class.

New enlistments included Don Gaden and Myron Ledgerwood, both E. O. N. students, and an honorable discharge was given Private First Class Dwayne A. Turner.

TICKET SALE IS ENCOURAGING

Tickets are selling rapidly for the presentation tomorrow evening of the "Great Plummer Branch of Promise Suit" which will be given in the basement of the Methodist church. There are still a few tickets available, however, according to the committee in charge, and may be secured at the public library or from members of the cast.

Mrs. Lena Puller and Harvey Carter will appear in several vocal solos, in addition to the play.
