CONVICTS BETTER KEEP UP SCHOOL WORK—OR ELSE!

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — He doesn't have to wear a dunce cap, but otherwise the recalcitrant prisoner-student in the Kentucky penitentiary is subjected to about the same punishment meted out in the little red schoolhouse of grandfather's day.

Failure to "get up" his lessons brings the penalty of standing before the class with his face to the wall.

There is nothing compulsory about attending the prison school, but once a convict enrolls, he must do his "home work" and come to class with lessons prepared just like any child in grammar school.

U. S. CHAMBER IN SOME CRITICISM OF F. R. PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP) — The chamber of commerce of the United States laid down a moderate policy for the coming year Friday in 28 resolutions criticizing parts, but not the whole, of the Roosevelt program.

Henry I. Harriman, whose attitude toward the administration has been friendly, was reelected president.

The chamber reiterated in resolutions its policy for modification of the securities act, urged further modification of the stock exchange legislation, warned against too great a reliance on persons in official position, and recommended that greater powers be given NRA code authorities.

The resolutions, while calling for changes in several particulars and laying down general policies against too great governmental control, did not, in any major item, denounce the recovery program.

HILGARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Vanderpool, mother of Mrs. Claude Bartmess, has returned from a month's visit in Portland with another daughter.

Mrs. Mabel Scott and daughters are moving back to their home in Hilgard after spending the winter in La Grande.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Weimer were pleasantly surprised Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. George Decker, of Murtaugh, Ida., drove in to visit them. They were on their way to Portland, Tillamook and different points in Washington.

Mrs. Gladis Lilly, of La Grande, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sailing. Mr. Sailing is ill at present and confined to his bed.

John Gray has taken up his labors on the section again after being very busy putting in his crop the past two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Montieth and daughter, Betty, returned from a trip to Portland Monday morning. Mrs. Montieth is operator at Duncan and Mr. Montieth is in Hilgard.

Chris Mitchell and Mike Kling have accepted jobs at Maxwell, Ore., and left Wednesday to start to work.

Cash Prizes In Crow Shoot Are Explained Today

The cash prizes in the crow, magpie and hawk shoot sponsored by the La Grande Gun club and which ends at noon July 1, are divided as follows:

First $15, second $13, third 11, fourth $10, fifth $8, sixth $7, seventh $6, eight $5, ninth $4, tenth $3 and eleventh $2.

These prizes are in the division where eggs of all three birds and feet of crows and magpies count—two feet counting the same as one egg. In another division, only hawks' feet are counted—with first prize a pair of golden pheasants, and second, third, fourth and fifth prizes in cash.

All eggs and feet are to be turned in to Floyd Lanning at Buell's barber shop, gun club officers announce.

WORD OF DEATH RECEIVED HERE

Word has been received here through the denominational press of the death last month of John Lewis, son of the late Bishop M. S. Lewis, of the Methodist church, at Baltimore, where he was a member of the faculty of the Baltimore City college. Mr. Lewis was for several years in educational missionary work in China and was forced to return home when both he and Mrs. Lewis contracted the dreadful amoeba dysentery. La Grande people are interested for two reasons, first that Mr. Lewis was a brother of Dr. Idabelle Lewis Main, of Shanghai and Mrs. A. L. Seeman, of Seattle, both well known here, and second, that his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, is the author of the book "Young Fu," awarded the Newberry prize, which has been so very popular here, particularly in the several grade schools, where reviews have been given, as well as dramatization and other manners of presentation.

LA GRANDE NINE READY FOR TILT WITH PONDOSANS

After a week of hard drill concentrated on working a new man in at second base to take the place of Del Jones, who left town last week, the La Grande town baseball team is ready for its contest with Pondosa tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the high school field.

The starting infield will be: Nelson, 1st; Nichols, 2nd; Evans, ss; and Sullivan, 3rd. Sullivan has been working very hard this week at third base in an attempt to switch from his natural first base form and is looking much better. Nichols is filling the gap at second base very nicely. Hyde is also available for second sack duty and at third if necessary.

Batteries will be Courtney, who shut Halfway down with only six hits last Sunday, and Don Wilson catching.

The rural sections will be occupied by Hal Cochran in right, Hall in center, and hard-hitting Clive Moore in left.

The high school diamond is very much improved over last week.

DEALERS MEET IN LA GRANDE

E. D. Gray, zone manager for the Willard Storage Battery Co. of California, and A. M. Oldershaw, of the Automotive Electric Co. of Spokane, have been here assisting Curtis W. Sizz, manager of the Automotive Electric Co. of La Grande, in holding a Willard dealer meeting for this territory. Both Gray and Oldershaw were optimistic over the fact that business is getting better as evidenced by increases in the local company's business of a third above a year ago. Willard's new masked battery was presented at this meeting—the latest creation of the company, and said to be the only battery of its kind built for the market. They also were told of other new developments in Willard batteries.

Seventy-five members of the Oxford School Dads club in Oakland, Cal., volunteered their services free of charge to make any necessary alterations at the school to comply with building safety regulations.

WHERE DOES THE SALAD BELONG IN SERVING DINNER?

Where does the salad belong in the dinner?

Books on table etiquette will tell you. But etiquette, you will find, knows nothing about geography. Even in the far western states which, for years, have championed the salad as the first course, opinions are at a divergence.

Recently, members of the staff of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' bureau, which is sponsoring its course in "Kitcheneering" here on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, May, 9, 10 and 11, were interviewed as to their individual preferences. At the conclusion of the interview, the voting stood twelve in favor of opening the meal with the salad to nine favoring salads served with the main course, and with but one of the Safeway home economists holding out for a salad to be served following the main course and then only in case of a fruit salad to replace dessert.

According to Julia Lee Wright, director of the homemakers' bureau and one of the West's leading authorities on table etiquette, many interesting reasons were given for individual preferences.

One of the bureau's home economists stated, for example, that she preferred a salad served first in order to "whet th- appetite," while another observed that, in her opinion, it is better to serve the salad as a part of the main course since, to serve it first "dulls the appetite."

According to Mrs. Wright, a consensus, if one could be reached, would indicate that for formal affairs it is preferable to serve the salad as the opening course while for simple family dinners it is easier and therefore more desirable, to serve it with the main course.

"Whenever you choose to serve it, however," says Mrs. Wright, "whether you follow etiquette books or your personal desires, the salad has become a highly important part of the daily diet, and one that is subject perhaps to more variations than any other part of the dinner with the possible exception of desserts. As a result, the Safeway Stores Homemakers' bureau features salad in its course in 'Kitcheneering' with due attention to its importance. Visitors, and we hope there will be many, to this three-day cooking school will find, we believe a number of delightfully different salads demonstrated, and each one surprisingly easy to make."

Mrs. Marian Rogers Spencer, who will act as Mrs. Wright's personal representative in conducting "Kitcheneering" locally, seconds Mrs. Wright's invitation, and urges that every local housewife who can possibly reach the Sacajawea ballroom for the three days of the cooking school do so. Doors will be open at 1 o'clock, and courses will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

KNOWLES DECIDES MORTGAGE CASE

The long pending litigation between the mortgage holder on the La Grande hotel and Fred Spaeth, La Grande contractor, who made numerous installations in the hotel, including a stoker, independently of the general contractor, has been decided by Judge J. W. Knowles in favor of the plaintiff. The judge eliminated an item for installing portions of sidewalk as not lienable.

The lien of the plaintiff was thereby placed ahead of mortgage, even though the mortgage was placed before the work was done by Mr. Spaeth.

Cochran and Eberhard, La Grande attorneys, represented Mr. Spaeth and Portland and Spokane attorneys represented the defendant, W. C. Bechtel and the Spokane Savings and Loan association.

The written opinion was made by Judge Knowles late yesterday.

About Stamps

By Elza Martin, Well Known Stamp Authority

The new Mothers Day stamps are now on sale at the local post office. These purple stamps are very pretty and are one of the most attractive stamps to be issued by the government in recent years. The Mothers Day stamps are not only popular with collectors, but are receiving more attention from the public, than other recent commemorative issues. This stamp was issued in honor of your mother, be sure and use Mothers Day stamps on your package and letter to your mother on May 13, Mothers day.

• • •

Recently I ordered several mint blocks of commemorative stamps, to fill up some blank spaces in my album. I placed my order with one of the largest dealers in the United States, who carries a large stock of stamps. My order was partially filled at advanced prices and many blocks that I ordered were out of stock. If the collector of today cannot readily buy these stamps, I just wonder what the collector of the future will pay to get them.

• • •

Collectors should not delay any longer in completing their sets of Bicentennials, as the ½, 1½, 6 and 10-cent stamps have been removed from the list of stamps on hand at the Philatelic agency. It is quite probable others will be removed shortly as some of the issues still in stock were the smaller issues of the Bicentennial set.

The Red Cross commemorative postage stamp was issued to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the American Red Cross. The stamp is printed in two colors black and red, and is the same size as the regular issue. The stamp is inclosed in a border formed by a heavy black outer and lighter inner line slightly indented along the center on all four sides. Across the top of the stamp appears the words "United States Postage" in two lines. The central design of the stamp is printed in black and is the figure of a Red Cross nurse, kneeling before the globe with outstretched hands reproduced from the 1930 poster entitled "The Great Mother." In the upper left part of the stamp is the Greek cross, the emblem of the organization printed in red. Arranged vertically, on either side of the stamp, are the dates in black Gothic figures "1881" and at the left and "1931" at the right. In both lower corners within white-bordered ovals with black background appears the white numeral "2". Across the bottom of the stamp in a straight line between the ovals containing the denomination numeral is the word "cents" in white Roman letters. The Red Cross commemorative stamp was placed on sale May 21, 1931, at the post office in Washington, D. C., national headquarters of the American Red Cross, and at Dansville, N. Y., where the first local chapter was established. This issue was 99,074,600 stamps.
