

PRIMARY GRADES PRESENT READING ASSEMBLY MAY 9

In the first of the annual series of oral reading assemblies the children of the primary grades of the J. H. Ackerman Training school embodied the idea that each day may be filled with happy hours for every child. The program having for its title "Happy Hours" was presented by the children of Miss Gertrude Lang's, Miss Pauline Day's and Miss Edith Darby's rooms on Wednesday afternoon, May 9, in the E. O. N. auditorium.

Miss Lang's room believes that fairies contribute to children's happiness so they made their selections from the poems of Rose Fyleman. Miss Day's pupils are interested in Robert Louis Stevenson's interpretations of plays and activity so their selections were from his writings. The first grade children read books, prose and poetry centered around community interests, and various animals. Marjorie Snider, third grader, as Queen Happiness gave the prologue and the theme that was the program into one unit. Kathryn Finlay from the second grade was the unhappy child whom Queen Happiness introduced to the land of "Happy Hours". Before the prologue by Queen Happiness, Walter Pierce and Neva Samuelson of the fourth grade read portions of the life of R. L. Stevenson.

The curtains which opened to the music of Greig's "Morning" from the Peer Gynt Suite disclosed a very early morning scene with fairies flitting about the land of Happy Hours. From there on the program was as follows: "Flies", Doris Burleigh, second grade; "If You Meet a Fairy" (Rose Fyleman), Jacquelin Wells, second grade; "A Birdie With a Yellow Bill", Ethel Pulp, third grade; "My Shadow", Edward Thistlewaite, third grade; (Queen Happiness talked of busy hours).

First grade prose announcer, Claire Stedward, first grade; "Grandfather's Farm", Patricia Elders, first grade; "The Singing Farmer", Hazel Hurley, first grade; "An Engine's Story", Dale Furman, first grade; "Peter Rabbit", Nancy Fitzgerald, first grade; "Swinging", Jean Bowser, third grade; (Queen Happiness talked about rainy hours).

"Rain", Virginia Landers, third grade; first grade announcer, Lucien

Whealey, first grade; poems: "The Storm", "Night and Morning", "Friends", Joyce Miller, first grade; "The Pasture", Peter Russell and Bob Hyde, first grade; "Harper's Farm", Mary Jasper, Reva Dale Pulp, first grade; "The Rivals", Hildegard Rettig, first grade; "Marching", Phyllis Ridd, third grade; (Queen Happiness talked about late hours of the day).

"The Land of Story Books", Mary Catherine Landers, third grade; (Fairies come again); "A Fairy Went A-marketing", Jerry Cook, second grade; "Have You Seen The Fairies?", Kenneth Waldorf, second grade; "The Child Next Door", Gordon Roberts, second grade; "A Happy Thought", Maxine Heivey, third grade; Queen Happiness closed the program with a few words of advice to the unhappy child.

The stage setting with its flowers, a bird and a white picket fence provided a very artistic background for the program. Nylle Lewis and Mary White, student teachers, under the supervision of Miss Lang had charge of the construction work and the general arrangement on the stage.

Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat

A young woman of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too." To take off fat — take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but little — get it at Red Cross Drug Store, Moon Drug Co., Glass Drugs, Inc., L & L Drug Co., or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and HARMLESS way to lose fat — your money gladly returned.

Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely. —Adv.

BIG INCOME TAX EVASIONS LESS LIKELY

A 3-cent a pound tax on Philippine coconut oil, the revenue to be returned to the island treasury. Experts estimated the full effect of the law will not be felt until 1935. They counted on only $167,000,000 by the end of the next fiscal year on June 30, 1935.

A one-tenth of one per cent tax on the declared value of corporation capital stock and a five per cent levy on earnings above 12 1/2 per cent of that annual net, estimated to raise $95,000,000 annually for the largest single item in the act. These taxes were imposed to finance the public works program but went out automatically with repeal.

New levies on the transfer of estates after death ranged from one to 60 per cent as compared with the old range of one to 45. Credits on state inheritance taxes are not allowed on the increase.

Only railroads henceforth may file consolidated returns for themselves and subsidiaries. The privilege is abolished for other corporations.

New language will seek to insure that gasoline and oil taxes are paid by the original producer. Though not in the law, the treasury expects to raise as much as $85,000,000 by more rigid administration of depreciation allowances.

Taxes on candy and soft drinks, furs valued up to $75 and jewelry not worth more than $25 are repealed. The five cents a $100 tax on the sale of produce for future delivery is set at three cents, January 1 is set as the date for repealing the bank check tax.

AT THE LIBERTY

Frank Buck, the dean of wild animal collectors, continues bringing them back alive in "Wild Cargo," the HKO-radio camera record of his recent adventures in filling orders for rare animals. The picture opens at the Liberty tomorrow.

Buck's newest exploits plunge him into the jungles of Java, Sumatra, Ceylon, India and Malaya. As the film depicts, he has his big moments in capturing alive tigers, rhinoceros, monkeys, man-eating tigers, death-dealing pythons and cobras, flying foxes, hornbills, cassowaries, clouded leopards and an orang-utan.

Buck's "Wild Cargo" is said to embrace almost the whole glossary of zoology, and run the gamut of thrill. He uses unusual and ingenious devices to snare his prey, and faces danger at every turn. Twice he stared death in the face in the form of snakes, and almost came near never seeing himself on the screen in "Wild Cargo."

As if flinging his challenge right into the face of the man who "brings 'em back alive," several score of enormous land crabs invaded the very jungle camp of Frank Buck on the expedition. Buck and his jungle party returned to find considerable crabs making merry amidst the paraphernalia used to capture beasts, birds and reptiles.

The giant crabs have been known to attack and kill natives during their migrations from the sea to the jungle. They are tree climbers and will go up and over a tree rather than go around it. On their migrations they are said to follow a straight path, even though it may lead through native village or up a telephone pole.

Produced by the Van Beuren corporation, "Wild Cargo" was directed by Armand Denis. The film is based

Reed May Run For Old Senate Seat

KANSAS CITY, May 10 (AP) — Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri said on his arrival here today from Chicago that he had not definitely decided whether he would seek the Democratic nomination for his old seat in the United States senate.

Pressed for a definite answer, he declined to reply. Asked if there was a possibility he would be a candidate, he shrugged his shoulders and said: "All things are possible."

Christina of Sweden by Margaret Goldsmith is in demand. It is a psychological biography of the brilliant seventeenth century queen, daughter of the great Gustavus Adolphus. For other readable biographies we recommend Anne Sullivan Macy by Nelle Bradley — a splendid book telling of the faith that removed mountains from the path of Helen Keller, and Agnes Repplier's Junipero Serra, which will be enjoyed by many.

Two timely books are Mellon's Millions by O'Connor, an account of Big Business, especially of the amassing of the Mellon fortune, and Matthew Josephson's Robber Barons. Robber Barons is a study of that group of "empire builders" who arose at the time of the Civil war. Mr. Josephson shows these men as they were — relentless, shrewd and greedy.

Who Says Old by Elmer Ferris, a retired university professor, is full of homely advice on how to grow old gracefully. Mr. Ferris maintains that even after seventy one can enjoy eating, walking, reading, writing, interest in athletics, politics and religion.

Those who enjoy Alexander Woolcott over the radio will want to read While Rome Burns. Included are sketches, horror stories, personal essays and dramatic criticisms.

Spies I Knew is another thrilling book by the author of I Was a Spy. Library patrons are greatly enjoying the magazine Fortune, a gift subscription from Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp.

Library Chats

By Mabel E. Doty, Librarian

The necessity for economy in book buying still exists at the library. Which fact is a source of annoyance to the librarian as she pours regretfully over the enticing spring catalogs from the publishers. However, several attractive and worth while books have been added to the shelves and May will be a fairly good month, bookishly speaking, for those who are not entirely lured away by out-of-doors attractions.

First the Pulitzer prize awards. The library has The People's Choice by Herbert Agar, the history award. The other titles have been ordered and will be ready for circulation within a few days. The People's Choice, is in a way, a history of the United States as seen from the White House. It is a candid inquiry into the policies and personalities of our presidents and leads straight to the problem which is strutting the country today—the problem of a planned society—by sweeping away popular misconceptions and describing in their proper perspective the lives of our presidents, it gives the only background against which one can view the current situation.
