EVERY ITEM that goes into the manufacture of U. & I. Sugar is American. The raw product is grown on farms of the Northwest. The labor that converts it into sugar is American. The coal, the coke, the limerock, the water — used in the process of refining, are purchased as close as possible to the factories. These factories, located in the western states, are immense properties paying heavy taxes to the benefit of American people.

Production and distribution of U. & I. Sugar helps to keep running the railroads which serve your community. It removes vast acreage of highly productive lands from competition with crops of this vicinity. It helps the farmer and the taxpayer of this and every community to more easily bear the present day burdens of expenses. A western product for western people — 100 per cent American in all its activities.
