TIGER HI-LIGHTS

High School P. T. A.
Thursday, 8 p. m.

VOLUME 1 Tuesday, May 22, 1934 Edited And Published By Students of La Grande High School Issued Every Tuesday NUMBER 32

Lyle Kiddle Was President of Class of 1914

Many of the graduating class of 1914 are still residing in La Grande. That class had a total of twenty-six students. Lyle Kiddle, who is now connected with the La Grande Milling company, was president of the class. John Schofield was vice-president and Marie Bolton secretary and treasurer. Of the twenty-six students, fifteen are still living in or near La Grande. Lyle Kiddle has established himself at Bohnenkamp's Furniture company. Mildred Bush is now Mrs. Standley Mills and is still residing in La Grande. Teresa Castle has become Mrs. Harvey Patten. Earl Courtney is living on a small farm in May Park. Victor Eckley has grown to be a very conspicuous politician as well as a partner in Trotter's, Inc. "Vic" has recently taken over the office of postmaster in La Grande. Arthur Golden is successfully farming on a farm located in the valley. Florence Happersett is now the wife of Mr. Ray Williams, school clerk of district number one. Homer Leffel may be found at J. C. Penney company where he is successfully managing that establishment. Leslie McPherson, one of the studious seniors of 1914, has established himself in the dental profession with his office located in the La Grande National bank building. Hazel Richardson is now Mrs. Lawrence Graham; Miriam Smith, Mrs. Dick Bettig; Bessy Stoddard, Mrs. Lee Boswick, and Elizabeth Weils, Mrs. Roland Thomas. Mrs. Thomas lives at Starkcy, Oregon. Miss Sarah Williamson has remained single and is now principal of Willow school.

WE APPRECIATE LOCAL SUPPORT GIVEN HI-LIGHTS

Eight months ago today we undertook to publish our first high school paper. It would have been impossible for us to do so without the aid of the La Grande merchants who chose to advertise in our section. We fully realize that they did this in order to support our newspaper and we wish to thank them for helping to make our newspaper a success. We hope that you, merchants, townspeople and students alike, have enjoyed reading our newspaper as much as we have enjoyed contributing to it, and we hope that our newspaper will grow bigger and better in future years. THE STAFF.

Through The Keyhole

Many of you may be wondering what made the sign in the skit flicker so prettily. The mystery is solved. We saw Ray Kelly rubbing horse liniment on his arm. Pulling a restcoat must be hard work.

Margaret Dixon also forgot her coat but she made it home and back in four minutes flat and she didn't borrow a bicycle.

Don Porch still remembers his alma mater. It was he who painted the very artistic signs used in the skit.

Bob Robertson has learned through experience that a person shouldn't touch a hot foot light with a wet hand. He tried it once during rehearsal and it blew up and went boom.

What could have been wrong with Bob Brack the morning of the track meet. He looked like the break-up of a hard winter.

Things We've Heard And Seen
The cast of the skit complaining about shoes that were too small.
Vic Bean's new shoes (mostly seen).
Ron Weeks sporting a permanent wave.

A few of the faculty of 1914 are living in La Grande. Mr. E. A. McEchran, a manual training teacher in 1914, is still in La Grande High school's faculty. He is now teaching mechanical drawing, gas engine and steel work. Miss Janet Hershey, now Mrs. Norman Pries, taught English in 1914. She has a daughter, Mary, in high school. Miss Minnie Holmstrom who taught mathematics and science, is living in the valley. Stella Hunter, who married Wilbur Zurbrick, taught German. She has a daughter, Margaret, in high school at the present time.

Several of the members of the "Order of Gregg Artists" hold eminent positions in La Grande business offices. Annetta Johnson occupies a position in Cochran and Eberhard's law office. Fern Geddes works in the telephone office here in La Grande. Irma Geddes has a position with the Eastern Oregon Light and Power company. "Pete" Larson is an employe of the First National bank.

The cast of the senior play, "All-of-a-Sudden, Peggy" was headed by Florence Happersett who took the part of "Peggy". Lyle Kiddle, Mildred Bush, and Arthur Huff. Of the basketball squad, Walter Bean and Earl Courtney are familiar persons here in La Grande.

The senior picnic, one of the social events of 1914, was held at Meagan lake. The Junior-Senior banquet was held in the L. H. S. gymnasium. John Girdler was superintendent of schools and Charles Olson, principal.

DR. ALLEN WILL ADDRESS GRADUATES

Sunday marks the beginning of the commencement program for the seniors. Baccalaureate will begin at 8 o'clock Sunday and an interesting program has been prepared for it. The commencement exercises are the following Tuesday. The outstanding speaker in this program will be Dr. Eric Allen.

STAGE USED FOR LAST TIME

The stage floor made up of 15 sections is laid on 26 horses sloping to the front, making the actors visible at all times. The curtains are hung on wires stretched permanently on pipes and braces. The front curtain is fastened to wire so that by pulling one rope the curtain will divide and open equally.

The footlights which were borrowed from Mr. Buell were fastened and braced to the front of the stage. They were fixed so that the blue, red and white lights could be dimmed without interference to the others. The border lights which are overhead are fixed the same as the footlights. They are hung directly in the center of the stage, one in the front and one near the back. The spot light run from the back is attached up to an overhead light and is operated from two tables placed on top of one another.

The stage is placed in and removed by Mr. Dixon's manual training classes.

GLENN VICTOR RETURNS TO GRADUATE

MARRIEDANDGLADOFF IS YOUNG COUPLES' CLUB

BLUE MOUND, Kas. (AP) — Twelve Blue Mound couples have organized the "Marriedandgladoff" club.

None of the members — and here is the place for cynics to insert a couple of commas and a "however" — has been married very long.

Male members of the club include a school teacher, general store employe, newspaper editor, lumber yard owner, truck driver, farmer and veterinarian.

Longfellow Fishes With Rod Presented to Him by L. H. S.

A letter has been received from Mr. Longfellow, superintendent of the Oregon City public schools. The letter is as follows: Please convey to my friends of the La Grande High school student body my reiterated thanks and appreciation for the beautiful and effective salmon fishing outfit presented to me a year ago. After repeated fishing excursions upon the Willamette river, a measure of success crowned my efforts on April 28.

On that date, Mr. L. A. King, principal of the Oregon City Junior High school, and I fished in the Willamette river just below the falls at Oregon City. Mr. King hooked a 26 lb. Chinook salmon soon after we anchored our boat in the current. Gentleman and general host that he is, he immediately handed his rod to me, insisting that I land his fish, since he had previously caught several, and I, none. With a reasonable show of reluctance, I accepted the rod and struggled with that fish for about 45 minutes before we could get it near enough to the boat to land it. Subsequently, we returned to our anchor line and resumed fishing. My tackle had hardly reached the bottom of the river, when there was a vicious tug at the line, the reel sang, the line ran out about a hundred feet, and the daddy of all the salmon leaped into the air on the end of my line. The fish was so large and my rod and tackle so sportingly light that it was necessary for us to leave our anchor and float down the river back and forth across the current wherever that fish decided to go. An hour and fifteen minutes later, after we had covered about half a mile of river, the fish was finally landed in the boat—landed on the La Grande High school salmon rod and tackle. That fish weighed 32 1/2 lbs. and was 46 inches long. The season was a grand success, thanks to my friends in the La Grande High school student body.

TUESDAY WE GRADUATE

After four years' of more or less leisure, (usually more) the seniors have begun to work. Vague phrases can be heard floating around in the air. Walking down the hall one can hear snatches such as "haven't handed that in"; "worked 't 12 last night"; "hey got your —"; "can't get that done"; "jota hooley"; "haven't any time"; "that's crazy"; "doesn't do us any good".

Strange facial expressions have been adopted by many of the prospective graduates. One can only guess at the meaning of these oddities, but they appear to be a mixture of suspense, fear, relief, and toothache, or perhaps a touch of the sun. One wonders if the strange appearance of these students can be covered or even modified by the long gray robes, and the square cardboard with the tassels.

Tuesday, May 22, the day of (you name it), and then, perhaps a quick eye may discover who of the class has a wallpaper diploma and who has the coveted sheepskin.

MR. BLUNT ASKED TO SERVE ON COMMITTEE

Mr. J. H. Blunt has served very successfully on the national committee of the Paris Peace Pact in American High schools and has received a very complimentary letter from the director, Arthur Watkins, about the work that has been done and asking Mr. Blunt to serve as a member for the coming year. It is hoped better work can be done regarding peace work in all high schools than this year and Mr. Blunt has signified his intention and willingness to act as national committeeman from this state.

JUNIOR PLAY REPORTS NOW IN

Results from the junior play held last week show that approximately one hundred and forty-five dollars was taken in. About twenty-five dollars came from the matinee. Although all the reports have not been turned in as yet, very little more is expected.

PLAY CAST SWIM AT COVE

Last Saturday the cast of the junior play, "Lilies of the Field," had a picnic at Cove. The cars left about three o'clock in the afternoon, and swimming was enjoyed before the picnic lunch was served. Three cars went. Those included were the members of the cast and the people who helped with the management.

Coming Events

May 22—High school exhibit.
May 24—P. T. A. meeting.
May 26—Junior-Senior banquet.
May 27—Baccalaureate.
May 29—Commencement.

DEBATE WORK CLOSES FOR YEAR

Roy Freshman and Carl Baum appreciate the attendance record of those who took an active part in debate work this last semester. They were also sorry that school activities interfered with their class work, because it was due to these causes that most of the registered debaters were unable to attend the class.

The last meeting of the Debate club was given over to topics of ethical value as follows:

Imagination—Roy Freshman; Taking of the Indian Lands—Irene Geiger, conversation—Francis Singleton; The Orangutan of Africa in America—Ellen Torrance; the Nellville tale of the Ohio—Donald Jasper; Vocation by Choice—Hugh Buntin; What a Mother is to Me—Carl Baum.

Next year's debate work will depend entirely upon the signatures which Roy Freshman is receiving from the next year's Sophs, Juniors and Seniors.

Carl Baum has been doing a little canvassing of the incoming Freshmen for signatures for the class next year. You who are interested please sign with either Roy or Carl for next year's club.

We also thank Mr. Blunt for his great part in the work. —Carl Baum.

GIRLS' TRACK ENDS YEAR

Since this is the last issue of the Tiger-Hi Lights this year and the girls athletics have not yet come to an end, I shall try to summarize and tell what shall obviously come to pass by the end of school.

It looks as if the Freshmen will step into the limelight and receive first place in baseball. Another startling bit of news concerns the Juniors; they are favored to win the track meet next Friday.

Track concludes the activities of the year, but at present there is tumbling and baseball accompanying it. On Thursday the tumbling and dancing classes plan to present a demonstration of their work in assembly.

Many girls will have enough points to win a letter and there will be a possible addition of 25 or more girls in the Letter Girls club. The initiation of the new members and the installation of officers will be held at the Letter Girls club picnic at Cove.

The new officers are as follows: President, La Wanda Cantrell; vice-president, Kathleen Peare; secretary-treasurer, Marjorie Gray; sergeant-at-arms, Fay Walker.

High school basketball teams in Montana were divided into A and B classes for the first time this year.
