PARKER GIRL MEETS SAME FATE TODAY

The trap was sprung by Frank Hamer, a former Texas ranger, B. M. Gault, a highway patrolman, and Ted Hinton and Bob Alcorn, Dallas county sheriffs. Hamer was recently commissioned as a highway patrolman for the special purpose of getting his man—and, in this case, his gunwomen. Hamer had learned of the highways frequented by the pair and had been watching for weeks.

The bandits' trail was picked up this morning by Hamer and three Texas ranger associates in Bossier Parish, where Barrow was reported to have relatives residing. They followed the bandit car to Bienville Parish where the rangers were joined by Sheriff Henderson Jordan and a staff of deputies.

The officers got ahead of the bandit car and lay in wait until Barrow ran his car into the ambush.

With the posse, heavily armed, hiding in brush along the paved highway, Barrow's car broke over the horizon racing at 85 miles an hour. As the car approached, an officer yelled "halt."

Barrow and the woman answered by reaching for their weapons and they were met by a fusillade from a dozen guns.

Barrow and his companion had led officers in a wild chase over half a dozen states. Frequently they were cornered but eluded their pursuers or shot it out. They replenished their fund by robbing banks and business houses.

Barrow was regarded as one of the nation's most dangerous killers, shooting at the bat of an eye and fleeing in fast automobiles.

Bonnie Parker was charged by officers with participation in most of Barrow's later crimes. Officers said she was as quick on the trigger as her associate and was just as elusive.
