(Continued from Page One) ago, Baker with the help of some very fortunate "breaks" took a wobbly 7 to 3 victory over the La Grande squad, and without any question the La Grande team has been strengthened in no small degree since the former game. Scouts sent to La Grande to watch the local team perform against the Illinois Emigrants Memorial Day returned to Baker with news that didn't make the Bakerites break into very many smiles. They saw a strong offensive and defensive La Grande nine put to rout a fairly strong C.C.C. aggregation by a score of 27 to 4 in eight frames. The La Grande squad has been training under Gih Stokes every day this week, and it is expected that the entire squad will be in top-notch form for Sunday's game with the exception of Hal Cochran, regular center-fielder, who will be out of the game because of an injured hand. It is expected that Chas. Stotler, will be assigned to centerfield duties. Stotler is a seasoned player with considerable experience at centerfield. He played with the Boise, Idaho-Oregon league nine, for several seasons at that position.

Knee Action Liars!

By R. W. Martland, Jr. When four wheel brakes were introduced some years ago an obstinate automobile manufacturer persistently ridiculed the idea that four wheel brakes were desirable. This short sighted manufacturer spent thousands of dollars in newspapers and magazines advertising the fact that his company would not adopt the equipment until it was "perfected." In due course of time the manufacturer "perfected" a four wheel brake. It lasted exactly a year and was the most miserable makeshift ever devised for an automobile. Meanwhile a small coterie of unscrupulous dealers, guided by none too scrupulous factory representatives, fabricated stories of serious accidents which were happening to cars equipped with four wheel brakes of more conventional design. Naturally, Abraham Lincoln's famous adage about fooling some of the people some of the time came into play; with the result that the obstinate manufacturer, despite the convincing facts" of his propaganda, experienced inglorious defeat at the hands of the American public. Recurrence of this type of despicable propaganda is now taking place in connection with knee action front wheel suspension. Insidious rumors concerning failure of knee action mechanisms are now going the rounds on every automobile row. No car equipped with this 1934 feature is exempt from the calumny that is broadcast by tongues which drip with competitive venom. What are the facts? The editorial staff of this publication has investigated innumerable accidents alleged to have been caused by failure of knee action parts. Careful checks have been made with eye-witnesses, highway patrolmen and garages to learn the true facts. To date there is not one scintilla of evidence to substantiate the allegation that any type of knee action design, or the steering mechanism connected with this design, has even remotely contributed to an accident. The whole source of these mythical catastrophes seems to spring from misguided salesmen (possibly they are downright malicious) whose cars are not equipped with knee action. The pinch of competition, so deadly to weak men, seems to stir up a bile that can only vent itself by knocking a competitor. Every indication points to the conclusion that knee action rumors are byproducts of soreheadedness, bull headedness and out and out liars. Ask 1934 Chevrolet owners about CHEVROLET fully enclosed knee action. No publication in the field is held in higher regard than Roadco Automotive Review. The above editorial, which appeared in the March, 1934, issue of that publication, is so constructively in keeping with today's urge for better business methods that it is deserving of the widest publicity.
