

COUGARS TRACK CHAMPIONS; THREE RECORDS BROKEN

EUGENE, Ore., June 4 (AP)—Thanks to a well-balanced team with a great individual star, Washington State college today holds its second consecutive northern division conference track and field meet championship.

The scores were: Washington State 44 5-12; University of Oregon 42 7-12; University of Washington 40; Oregon State college 32 5-12; Montana 9 5-6 and Idaho 5 4.

Oregon won five firsts and tied for another, while Washington State took only four firsts but placed in 11 of the 15 events.

George Theodoratos, the giant W. S. C. football player, set a new conference record of 52 feet 1/4 inch in the shotput, bettering the mark of 49 feet 7 1/4 inches set by Dunker of Washington State in 1933.

Bobby Parke of Oregon whizzed a shiny spear 220 feet 7 1/4 inches for a new record in the javelin. Demaris of Oregon set the old record of 205 feet 5 inches last year.

Nothing "weebly" about the feet of Shoemaker. The other record shattering webfoot. He turned in perhaps the fastest 100-yard dash ever run in the state, 9.6 seconds.

Nowland, of Oregon, and Stoop, of Oregon State, tied with three others for first place in the high jump. Both Nowland and Stoop are from La Grande.

Win Golf Titles

PORTLAND, June 4 (AP)—A new queen was crowned and the ruling king received new allegiance in Oregon's golf kingdom over the weekend. Mrs. B. E. B. of the Columbia Club of Portland won the Oregon women's golf tournament Saturday by defeating Mrs. George Jones of the Multnomah club 3 and 2 in the 36-hole final, while Johnny Robbins, of Alderwood course, Portland, retained his title by a decisive 12 to 10 victory over Lester Nichols of Lake Oswego, in their 36-hole play-off.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould

Between train rides recently I encountered the slim, quizzical young man who has taken charge of athletics at Notre Dame—Elmer Layden.

Anybody who thinks Elmer went back to South Bend simply to rally the gridiron forces has the wrong idea. Layden is handling the whole show and covering a lot of territory in the process. He led the track squad to Philadelphia for the Penn relay, then went off to look after the baseball team. But he was willing to talk a big about football, since I insisted upon it.

"Spring practice went off with a lot of enthusiasm but we still are uncertain in the backfield and we miss those tackles, especially Ed Krause," said Layden. "Krause is that cannot be replaced on short notice. Krause could be off form and still play the best tackle in the country. I don't mind telling you I'd like to have a quarterback of Carideo's type in there. But who would?"

Tough For Old Mizou

Speaking of Carideo reminds us that Confidential Agent No. 7 reports the ex-Notre Dame All-American quarterback and his ex-Purdue co-worker, Elmer (Red) Sleight, are decidedly "on the spot" as coaches of football at the University of Missouri. Carideo, as head coach and Sleight, as the coach, were signed two years ago when Missouri football was at low ebb. The administration put up a fine field house, named after its athletic director, C. L. Brewer, an old-time Wisconsin star, and arranged a winter program to bring schoolboy athletes to Columbia for visits calculated to fire their enthusiasm to become Tiger fledglings.

The boys came, all right, but after looking over the excellent plant and fine educational inducements, they went elsewhere to pursue their athletic specialties. In short, to the institutions which were doing the more practical missionary work of putting jobs "on the line."

DUCKS AND OAKS SPLIT SERIES AT FOUR WINS EACH

By The Associated Press

Frank Demaree cracked out a double and home run in each game of yesterday's twin bill with Hollywood to lead the Angels to a double win, 6-5, 2-1, and give them a clean sweep of the 8-game series. A near tie Saturday in which most of the Angels grappled or traded punches with the Stars did not slow up the champions' pennant march.

The Missions' hometown series with San Francisco ended all even, the second-place Reds winning their fourth victory of the week in yesterday's opener, 10-6. The Seals took the nightcap 3-2.

Oakland and Portland divided their series, the Beavers taking Saturday's double header, 2-0 and 10-3, and the Oaks' Sunday bargain bill, 4-0, 5-4, to finish with four wins apiece.

Wee Willie Ludolph registered his second shutout of the week in winning the opener for the Oaks.

Seattle captured both halves of yesterday's double header with Sacramento, 5-4, 2-1, to finish the series all square with the Seals, who nosed out a 7-6 victory Saturday night.

retiring the side. With the score standing 2 to 1 in the third both teams played hard up ball, turning in a double play each, and Hall, La Grande center fielder, threw out Freshman at the plate. Freshman, after Shinn had poked a hot single between second and short.

In the eighth frame the La Grande club faltered when Nichols at second booted two, and Courtney booted one, resulting in two runs which put the game on ice for the Baker squad. La Grande scored one in the ninth.

D. Wilson, La Grande left fielder, took batting honors for the day, clouting three singles and a double, and drawing a walk out of five times at bat. Evans and Shinn, both in the La Grande infield, Driebach at second, and Shinn at third, turned in stellar performances for the Baker squad.

Next Sunday the La Grande team travels to meet Ponderosa for the third game of the second half of the Blue Mountain league split season.

A second game between Baker and La Grande, to be played here in La Grande, will be announced in the near future as soon as a definite date is set.

SCIENCE TO SEEK INDIAN RELICS AT BONNEVILLE

By J. S. Nutter
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

BONNEVILLE, Ore., (AP)—While the federal government is excavating here for a $31,000,000 power and navigation dam across the Columbia river, scientists are scanning each scoop of rubble for traces of pre-historic civilization.

Business interests visualize an industrial empire founded on prospective cheap hydro-electric power from the dam, about 35 miles upriver from Portland, Ore. Timber and grain interests of the inland Empire—the rich area drained by the Columbia river—contemplate lowered freight rates through improved navigation.

But scientists hope to uncover relics, forming building blocks with which to reconstruct in an academic sense, the pre-historic empire that once flourished there.

One of the most intriguing prospects for the scientists is the necessary excavation of Indian burial mounds on Bradford Island in the middle of the river. Whether the mounds are of recent years or possibly thousands of years ago, it is hoped to determine.

On their epoch-making trek across the continent to the Pacific northwest, Lewis and Clark the government's commissioned explorers visited Bradford Island. In their painstaking detail, the Indians are described in detail, but the mounds are unmentioned.

It is believed that the Indians no burials on the island since then. Such bones as may be unearthed will be studied, but probably will not be placed in museums. The Cascade tribe on the Yakima Indian reservation in Washington has petitioned that the remains be transferred to another burial spot up the river.

Bradford, an old Indian fishing ground for Indians, has been one of the northwest's richest sources of Indian relics. The Smithsonian Institution, the University of Washington, University of Oregon and Oregon State college all wish to scrutinize and preserve the discoveries for anthropological studies.

Workmen have been asked to turn over to archaeologists from those institutions all the bones, stones and artifacts unearthed.

The dam itself will have the highest single lift lock in the world. At low water ships will be lifted 66 feet to a narrow lake, formed to back water 44 miles upstream for a 30-foot channel to The Dalles, Ore.

At most places the backwater lake will not be very wide. The Columbia narrows to a gorge and at high water attains a velocity of 25 miles an hour where it splits to swirl past Bradford Island. No flimsy structure would hold the tremendous pressure.

Power will be developed by 10 turbines, each capable of producing 67,000 horse power. Only two will be built at the outset. At present about 1000 men are doing preliminary work at the dam and damsite. Peak employment will run around 3,000. Major C. F. Williams, United States district engineer in charge, estimated.

The largest contract let was for more than $8,000,000, awarded this week for construction of the huge spillway. Excavation work to cost about $1,250,000 was contracted earlier.

The spillway dam will be on the Washington side of the river with the power and navigation dam on the Oregon side. A levee across Bradford Island will connect the two.

The railways and the Columbia River highway must be relocated above the level of the lake. Relocation of the Union Pacific railroad on the Oregon side now under way will cost around $4,000,000.

Moving the highway on the Oregon side and the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway on the Washington side are comparatively small jobs.

Bids on the powerhouse substructure and lock masonry, to cost around $3,000,000, will be opened July 1. Employees who will operate the completed dam will be quartered in 20 modern, commodious houses of English style which soon will be completed.

CRY OF "GAG RULE" HEARD IN CONGRESS

man Buchanan (D. Tex.) of the appropriations committee said congress had appropriated at this session $570,000,000 in excess of the president's original budget estimates, saying this was due to "unforeseen" propositions including drought relief.

Representative Taber (R. N. Y.) said that while the bill provides $1,700,000,000 in direct cash outlay, "indirectly it carries as high as $4,000,000,000 in addition to $1,000,000,000 more out of the Reconstruction corporation and a billion to a billion and a half out of PWA."

The house also passed the administration bill for federal regulation of commodity exchanges. The bill was sent to the senate without a record vote.

President Roosevelt and congressional leaders determined today to withhold decision on an adjournment until the administration program is pushed to a conclusion. The Capitol Hill chieftains expressed the opinion to the president that adjournment could be reached within ten days. The president told them he wanted the tariff, silver, housing and Wagner labor board bills passed.

At the White House it was said later that Mr. Roosevelt is keeping the door open on the program and no limit has been fixed upon the legislation he will insist upon.

The president was informed today by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania that the steel companies are striking in preparation for the threatened strike of workers, and Phillip Mainwaring boardhead, first secretary of the British embassy, delivered the closely guarded British note on war debt payments today to William Phillips, undersecretary of state.

No Hocus-Pocus About What The Stars Live On

HOLLYWOOD—D-allusion is carried to extremes in filmland nowadays.

In other times movie stars—celestial creatures from never-never land—might have been pictured as subsisting on caviar, ambrosia and hummingbird nectar. In the olden days, movie Olympians held the notion that stars were different from other people was fostered.

Something of that era was revived in filmland's numerous quick-reducing diets of two or three years ago. Stars nibbled at lettuce leaves, or sipped at fruit juices, or occasionally allowed themselves a tiny lamb chop. What they ate in private might have been another story, but in public they adhered rigidly to dietetic panaceas.

What They Eat
Today, even though many stars observe dietary precautions of one sort or another, there is no hocus-pocus about it. The stars eat—and there's no mystery about what they eat. Restaurant managers in the studios will tell the world, the eager world, what its screen favorites prefer from the kitchen.

One of them, Mrs. Hazel Moore, supervises the serving of hundreds of meals daily, to office employees, laborers and executives as well as stars. Here's what she reveals about stars' food favorites:

The men, as a rule, eat from the table d'hôte luncheon, the women favor salads, sandwiches, and similar lighter fare. Surprisingly little beer is served.

She Likes Chop Suey
Miriam Hopkins craves chop suey whenever it's on the menu. Gary Cooper likes mountain trout. Dorothy Dell's lunch—seldom if ever varied—is a glass of pineapple juice.

Bing Crosby's favorite dessert is white cake covered with chocolate icing. George Raft—that sleek erstwhile gangland tycoon—calls for prunes, milk and coconut cream pie.

Jack Oakie takes roast beef, with all the trimmings, one day, and the next may have just a "cuppa caffeine." Sylvia Sydney's special salad is whole avocado, French dressing.

And by far the best-sellers on the menu are hash, stew, fish, and pot roasts!

An extract of derris root is being used in sprays to kill house flies. A preliminary survey indicates acreage planted to watermelons in the southern part of Georgia will be increased 30 to 40 per cent this season.

AT THE LIBERTY

"Vivi Villa!" which opened Sunday at the Liberty theatre with Wallace Beery starred, takes its place among the truly great pictures of all time.

A fictional version of the life and loves of Pancho Villa, the great Mexican war lord who was the world's outstanding figure in the decade preceding the World war, it combines spectacle and human elements in a manner reminiscent of that great classic of all time, "The Birth of a Nation." It is in much the same vein.

It presents Pancho Villa in love, his feminine foibles being Play Way and Katherine De Mille. Highlights of this romantic aspect of the picture include Beery's attempt to win the love of Miss Wray by force—a scene in which he beats her with a cattle whip. It is one of the most powerful scenes ever filmed.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:

"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
