SIX PRINCESSES IN ROYAL COURT

Jean is queen!

In a race hotly contested until the very end, Jean Baum, of Union, last night won over Mildred Standley, La Grande, and Marjorie Hyatt, Baker, her nearest rivals, the title of queen of the 26th Eastern Oregon livestock show. Although Miss Baum took the lead soon after the final count was started at midnight, it was not until nearly 2 o'clock this morning that the result of the contest was certain.

The queen-elect collected a total of 4895 votes, with Miss Hyatt and Miss Standley in a close race for second place with 3330 and 3210 votes respectively. Jane Smith, Union, amassed 2835 votes, Lillian Lillard, North Forest 2380, Frieda Brown, Union 2030, and Vestal Mitchell 225.

Blue eyed, blonde and demure, Queen Jean is five feet four inches tall, and graduated from the Union High school in 1933. With her in the royal court will be six princesses, the six other candidates in the contest just ended, and all will be attended by a bevy of tiny girls dressed in pastel organdie.

More Rain Falls On West Coast; Fruitmen Worried

SHOWERS FORECAST Possibility of more rainfall for Eastern Oregon tonight and Wednesday existed today with the government forecast calling for "showers in Eastern Oregon to night and Wednesday; little change in temperature." The sky was partly cloudy this morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5 (AP)—Forecast officials, city water engineers and livestock owners of the Pacific coast looked gratefully today to leaden skies that had brought unexpected June relief, while fruit growers watched fearfully the clouds that may mean great damage to their crops.

Unseasonal showers that swept in from the ocean yesterday to drench the coast were hailed as of great benefit to grazing land for fire protection by Deputy California Forester W. B. Rider.

However, continuing rainfall today may damage the berry, hay, barley and fruit crops, observers said.

"Every day of this weather, with rain and high humidity, is saving

CATCHING RECOVERS FROM SPIDER'S BITE

Bitten by a black widow spider while on a fishing trip last Thursday, Charles Catching is as well as ever today but has a record "sleep" to look back on. Here's the story: Thursday morning, William Siegrist and Johnny Adams were fishing near Lostine. Catching's knee came in contact with a rail and he said he felt a sharp pain, as if a silver of wood had pierced his skin. He took off his boot, but could find nothing, so went about his fishing. Later that day they came home and Catching began to feel drowsy, and went to bed about 6 p. m. That's the last he knew until Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when he woke up after 22 hours sleep. He still felt a bit drowsy, a sort of a faint stupor, which remained with him over the weekend, although Monday he said

O'Donnell Turned Out "All Americans"

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. June 4 — A sad wife this morning from Vice President O'Hara tells me of the death of a good friend, Father O'Donnell of the great Notre Dame university. What a fine, plain, human man. What Hoekne did with 'em when they got those football suits on this man did with 'em while they was off the field and turned out many "all-Americans" in the game of life.

Some good news in the papers however. It rained in the middle west. Farmers are learning that the relief they get from the sky beats what they get from Washington. Yours,

Will Rogers.

LOCAL DAIRY MEN APPROVE STATE PLAN

In Favor of Inspection Proposal For Northeastern Oregon; New Standard Explained.

An explanation of the four per cent butterfat standard for milk, and a proposition to assign a state inspector to Northeastern Oregon if municipalities and dairymen favor such a plan were presented to the La Grande Dairymen's association at a meeting at the city hall last night by J. D. Mickle, state food and dairy commissioner, and J. D. Harlan, of the state milk control board.

NEW ENGINE FOR FIRE TRUCK TO ARRIVE TONIGHT

The new engine ordered to modernize the city's big pumper fire truck will arrive in La Grande this evening, according to Chief C. T. Lindsay, who is wiring today to Portland for a factory expert who will supervise the installation and tests of the new equipment.

It probably will take about a week to complete the task of installing the engine and running it through a series of tests, and then La Grande again will have first class fire protection.

EVENSONG TO BEGIN AT 7:15 WEDNESDAY

Colorful Pageantry At Normal School Part of Commencement Week Exercises.

The most colorful and most popular event of commencement week at the Eastern Oregon Normal school, particularly to the townspeople, is "Evensong" which is scheduled to be held Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock on the grand stairway at the north entrance of the campus.

The program will include a procession of seniors and other students who will take places on the stairway and then several choruses will be sung by the students. The next feature will be a recital by the queen and the prime minister and then the members of the senior class will pass by her throne and their torches of knowledge will be lighted from her torch. Finally, the seniors march down the steps and out into the world.

Annually, the girl students appear in colorful costumes, and the setting sun adds additional enchantment and color to this outdoor pageantry. Several thousands have witnessed the Evensong program every year since it was first held, and weather permitting, another great crowd will be gathered tomorrow evening.

The street in front of the stairway will be roped off and seats will be provided, sufficient to take care of several hundreds.

Have You A Little Barouche In Your Home?

The semi-centennial U. P. celebration committee is scouring the country for several things, it was learned today. They need these things—mostly vehicles of another day—for the celebration pageant, also a few of them to be used in the pioneer parade scheduled for July 19. Anyone knowing of the last known address of anyone owning any of the following is asked to communicate immediately with the chamber of commerce office:

A barouche, a trap, a sulky, a three-seated hack, a phaeton, a spanking new top buggy, a surrey.

She was escorted to the stand by a committee of Ashland pioneer women, and introduced by Irving E. Vining.

The program here will be under full swing tomorrow with the opening of the rodeo in the afternoon, and the historical pageant "Oyer-Ungon" in the evening. The pageant has a cast of 500 and was written by Prof. Angus Bowmer, of the Southern Oregon Normal school faculty.

Thursday afternoon, Governor Julius L. Meier is scheduled to deliver an address from the steps of the pioneer courthouse at Jacksonville, a cradle of much Oregon history. Thursday morning a pioneer parade featuring prairie schooners, old stage coaches, and horses will be held.

Aged Shamanist Abbot Buried In India

SIMLA, India, June 5 (AP)—Religious pilgrims reported today that the aged Shamanist abbot of a temple near Bareilly has been buried alive at his own request. The abbot, who was reputed to be 157 years old, believed his life would be over, and that to live on would be an affront to the dieties. Pilgrims reported he lay down in a grave and that faithful followers, after performing ancient ceremonies, covered him with earth.

Wheat Today

No local or export quotations today because of the longshoremen's strike. Portland cash 78c. CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Big late gains in prices swept the wheat market up today to nearly the extreme allowable limit. Official reports indicated that although moisture had been received over considerable areas the drought as a whole had by no means been broken. Announcement that the United States government would acquire 12,000,000 bushels of corn for relief purposes did much to make prices buoyant. Wheat closed strong, 3 1/2-4 1/2c above yesterday's finish. July $1.00 1/2-3/4, corn 2 1/2-2 3/4c up, oats 2 1/2-3c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

SEATTLE, June 5 (AP)—Possibility of ports between the Columbia river and the Canadian border will make a separate settlement to break the longshoremen's strike in that area was seen today, as longshore delegates from Tacoma, Portland and other cities came to a strike committee meeting here.

Joseph P. Egan, International Longshoremen's association president, was en route here by plane from San Francisco, having said by telephone last night that he was bringing a definite proposal which he hoped would pave the way to reopening northwest ports.

Sen. C. C. Dill telegraphed the chamber of commerce here that President Roosevelt does not feel he can intervene in the strike and prefers to leave the problem in the hands of the San Francisco federal mediation board.

BRITISH EXPLAIN REFUSAL TO PAY

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today that Great Britain—which announced yesterday she would pay nothing on her forthcoming war debt installment—would have paid at least a "token" June 15 but for the fact that president Roosevelt could not guarantee that Great Britain would not be classed as a defaulter. Chamberlain said that the United States government, in a note of Dec. 7, 1932, welcomed a suggestion for a close examination of the whole subject between the two countries.

The British government, he said, would have been prepared to make a further payment June 15 without prejudice to its right to again present the case for readjustment on the assumption that it would again receive the president's declaration that he did not consider it in default.

"But," continued the chancellor, "in consequence of recent legislation passed in the United States, such a declaration is no longer possible so

64 PAJAMA-CLAD UNIVERSITY MEN IN RIOT JAILED

PHILADELPHIA, June 5 (AP)—Sixty-four students of the University of Pennsylvania, most of them clad in pajamas, were arrested early today as police brought another riotous "row-bottom" demonstration to an end.

Wholesale jailing of the leading celebrators was resorted to by the police, said as the only means of bringing order from the havoc caused by the students on city streets and in business places.

The "row-bottom" — reputedly named for the sound sleeping student whose nocturnal room-mate had to shout under his window to be let in during the early hours — began with water fights on the campus.

Soon the students were traveling noisily from block to block, hailing street cars and buses, hurling milk bottles at the passengers, upsetting ashtrays and shoving their contents about the streets.

Fire hydrants were opened and several streets were flooded. Fraternity house windows were shattered by flying missiles. Tables and chairs were overturned in a grill room and a hotel lobby.

In a hotel, the students swung from a big glass chandelier until it crashed to the floor.

COLUMBIA BASIN ROT HITS IDAHO WHEAT

LEWISTON, Idaho, June 5 (AP)—Columbia basin rot of wheat is laying low thousands of acres of wheat in what is believed to be the most sudden and widespread disaster to grain farmers in the central Idaho region in recent years, growers said yesterday. So serious has become the situation in fields that 19 days ago were considered bumper crop certainties that the University of Idaho has asked that federal agricultural experts be sent here to study the disease and a condition which threatens land in Nez Perce, Lewis and Idaho counties. Field expeditions into numerous areas today confirmed previous reports. The disease, resembling dry rot, followed in the wake of unusually favorable growing conditions and a mild winter. PENDLETON, Ore., June 5 (AP)—State agricultural authorities said here today there has been no report of root rot in the Umatilla county wheat fields, although some trouble had been reported from this crop disease in past years, but never on an extensive scale, such as is reported in the Idaho region this year.
